Sarah Peterson, 1994 Peterson explores a change in French cooking in the mid seventeenth century from the heavily sugared saffroned and spiced cuisine of the medieval period to a new style based on salt and acid tastes In the process she reveals more fully than any previous writer the links between medieval cooking alchemy and astrology Peterson's vivid account traces this newly acquired taste in food to its roots in the wider transformation of seventeenth century culture which included the Scientific Revolution She makes the startling and persuasive argument that the shift in cooking styles was actually part of a conscious effort by humanist scholars to revive Greek and Roman learning and to chase the occult from Mastering French Cooking From Classic Techniques to Contemporary Creations REMY BAYE, 2024-06-27 This comprehensive guide to French cuisine provides an in depth look at the origins and evolution of this renowned culinary tradition From pantry staples and fresh ingredients to essential cooking techniques and tools this book covers everything you need to master French cooking The book includes detailed sections on various cooking methods such as boiling steaming searing roasting grilling braising frying poaching and smoking It also provides a thorough overview of kitchen tools stocks sauces and kitchen safety Recipes range from classic and modern French appetizers soups salads meat dishes poultry fish and seafood dishes to desserts Special sections highlight the cuisine of different regions of France and menus for special occasions Additional resources include measurement conversions cooking terms and a glossary of French Modern French Cooking Andreas Antona, 2006-10-22 Andreas Antona's fantastic debut cookery book showcases cuisine the recipes and influences of a life lived with food from his early years growing up in a food mad family in West London through years spent working for many of the finest chefs in some of the best restaurant kitchens in Britain to the present day as the chef patron of Simpsons his Michelin starred restaurant in the heart of England that has received accolades and plaudits from all over the world Foreword by Raymond Blanc La Cuisine Raymond Oliver,1969 Accounting for Taste Priscilla Parkhurst Ferguson, 2006-08-01 French cuisine is such a staple in our understanding of fine food that we forget the accidents of history that led to its creation Accounting for Taste brings these accidents to the surface illuminating the magic of French cuisine and the mystery behind its historical development Priscilla Parkhurst Ferguson explains how the food of France became French cuisine This momentous culinary journey begins with Ancien R gime cookbooks and ends with twenty first century cooking programs It takes us from Car me the inventor of modern French cuisine in the early nineteenth century to top chefs today such as Daniel Boulud and Jacques P pin Not a history of French cuisine Accounting for Taste focuses on the people places and institutions that have made this cuisine what it is today a privileged vehicle for national identity a model of cultural ascendancy and a pivotal site where practice and performance intersect With sources as various as the novels of Balzac and Proust interviews with contemporary chefs such as David Bouley and Charlie Trotter and the film Babette's Feast Ferguson maps the cultural field that structures culinary affairs in France and then exports its crucial ingredients What's more well beyond food the intricate connections between cuisine and country between local practice and national identity illuminate the concept of culture itself To Brillat Savarin's famous dictum Animals fill themselves people eat intelligent people alone know how to eat Priscilla Ferguson adds and Accounting for Taste shows how the truly intelligent also know why they eat the way they do Parkhurst Ferguson has her nose in the right place and an infectious lust for her subject that makes this trawl through the history and cultural significance of French food from French Revolution to Babette s Feast via Balzac s suppers and Proust s madeleines a satisfying meal of varied courses Ian Kelly Times UK
