Modern Art In English Churches:

The Image of Christ in Modern Art Richard Harries, 2016-03-03 The Image of Christ in Modern Art explores the challenges presented by the radical and rapid changes of artistic style in the 20th century to artists who wished to relate to traditional Christian imagery In the 1930s David Jones said that he and his contemporaries were acutely conscious of the break by which he meant the fragmentation and loss of a once widely shared Christian narrative and set of images In this highly illustrated book Richard Harries looks at some of the artists associated with the birth of modernism such as Epstein and Rouault as well as those with a highly distinctive understanding of religion such as Chagall and Stanley Spencer He discusses the revival of confidence associated with the rebuilding of Coventry Cathedral after World War II and the commissioning of work by artists like Henry Moore Graham Sutherland and John Piper before looking at the very testing last quarter of the 20th century He shows how here and even more in our own time fresh and important visual interpretations of Christ have been created both by well known and less well known artists In conclusion he suggests that the modern movement in art has turned out to be a friend not a foe of Christian art Through a wide and beautiful range of images and insightful text Harries explores the continuing challenge present from the beginning of Christian art as to how that which is visual can in some way indicate the transcendent Modern Art in English Churches Michael Day, 1984

Contemporary Art and the Church W. David O. Taylor, Taylor Worley, 2017-06-20 The church and the contemporary art world often find themselves in an uneasy relationship in which misunderstanding and mistrust abound Drawn from the 2015 biennial CIVA conference these reflections from theologians pastors and practicing artists imagine the possibility of a renewed and mutually fruitful relationship between contemporary art and the church Art and Worship Christopher Irvine, Anne Dawtry, 2002 More and more churches are bringing works of art into their buildings in order to enhance their worship and provide a focus for prayer and reflection Art and Worship explores the relationship between religion and the visual arts and provides advice on how to commission works of art how to place them and how to hold art exhibitions in church In Art and Worship Anne Dawtry and Christopher Irvine survey the theological agenda for art and the Church The authors also explore the need for communication between the Church and artists and for skill and sensitivity to the artistic dimension of worship Art and Worship offers practical examples in commissioning works of art and shows how worship itself is art a creative expression of our adoration and praise of God Chapter One summarizes issues concerning the place of art in the Church Chapter Two offers a brief history of art in the Church Chapters Three and Four suggest the type of conversations that artists and church people should engage in Chapter Five focuses on the relationship of art to worship Chapter Six discusses legal ramifications congregations face when renovating churches Chapters are Introduction Looking and Seeking The Theological Agenda for Art and the Church A Brief History of Art in Church Encounter and Communication in Placing Art in Churches Viewing Art The Art of Worship and Legalities Practicalities and Other Resources The

Capitalist and the Critic Charles Molesworth, 2016-03-01 A skillful and fascinating retelling of the often testy relationship between J P Morgan and Roger Fry two men who did more to establish the preeminence of the Metropolitan Museum of Art than any collector and curator before or since Shortly after the turn of the twentieth century the Metropolitan Museum of Art began an ambitious program of collection building and physical expansion that transformed it into one of the world's foremost museums an eminence that it has maintained ever since Two men of singular qualities and accomplishments played key roles in the Met's transformation J P Morgan America's leading financier and a prominent art collector and Roger Fry the headstrong English expert in art history who served as the Met's curator of painting Their complicated often contentious relationship embodies and illuminates the myriad tensions between commerce and art philanthropists and professional staff that a great museum must negotiate to define and fulfill its mission In this masterful multidisciplinary narrative Charles Molesworth offers the first in depth look at how Morgan and Fry helped to mold the cultural legacy of masterpieces of painting and the development of the encyclopedic museum Structuring the book as a joint biography Molesworth describes how Morgan used his vast wealth to bring European art to an American citizenry while Fry brought high standards of art history from the world of connoisseurs to a general public Their clashes over the purpose and functions of the Met which ultimately led to Fry's ouster reveal the forces personal and societal that helped to shape the Metropolitan Museum and other major American cultural institutions during the twentieth century

Church and Patronage in 20th Century

Britain Peter Webster, 2017-11-07 This book is the first full length treatment of Walter Hussey's work as a patron between 1943 and 1978 first for the Anglican parish church of St Matthew in Northampton and then at Chichester Cathedral He was responsible for the most significant sequence of works of art commissioned for the British churches in the twentieth century They included music by Benjamin Britten Leonard Bernstein and William Walton visual art by Henry Moore Graham Sutherland and Marc Chagall and poetry by W H Auden Placing Hussey in theological context and in a period of rapid cultural change it explores the making and reception of the commissions and the longer term influence of his work still felt today As well as contributing to the religious and cultural history of Britain and of Anglo Catholicism and the cathedrals in particular the book will be of interest to all those concerned with the relationship between theology and the arts and to historians of music and the visual arts

Graham Sutherland Rosalind Thuillier, 2015-05-28 A compelling biographical study of a leading twentieth century British artist Graham Sutherland Life Work and Ideas offers new insight into how he and his paintings developed In the culmination of her life's work Rosalind Thuillier builds on the reflections and recollections of a friendship spanning decades to craft a comprehensive study of Sutherland's life and works interweaving his perceptive responses to his own art taken from personal notes and correspondence with critical reviews and collectors' musings to give an authentic picture of the man whose work divided critics Drawing on Sutherland's personal archive the book includes an expansive collection of images that provide a fresh view of the artist Studies by Sutherland along with preparatory works for what would become renowned paintings are published for the first time Graham Sutherland's distinctive style and the emotions that shaped the paintings are here vividly explored Thuillier describes not only the inspiration he found in the windswept Pembrokeshire countryside but also his time as an official war artist and his friendships inside and outside the art world She expertly details the process behind the creation of works such as the controversial portrait of Churchill 1954 subsequently destroyed and his most famous work the huge Christ in Glory in the Tetramorph tapestry 1962 in Coventry Cathedral Graham Sutherland Life Work and Ideas is not merely a biography but a journey behind the scenes of the artist's career exploring the paintings relationships and influences that formed his vision as an artist and his undeniable contribution to art

Art and the Church: A Fractious Embrace Jonathan Koestle-Cate, 2016-04-20 A vibrant critical exchange between contemporary art and Christianity is being increasingly prompted by an expanding programme of art installations and commissions for ecclesiastical spaces Rather than religious art reflecting Christian ideology current practices frequently initiate projects that question the values and traditions of the host space or present objects and events that challenge its visual conventions In the light of these developments this book asks what conditions are favourable to enhancing and expanding the possibilities of church based art and how can these conditions be addressed What viable language or strategies can be formulated to understand and analyse art's role within the church Focusing on concepts drawn from anthropology comparative religion art theory theology and philosophy this book formulates a lexicon of terms built around the notion of encounter in order to review the effective uses and experience of contemporary art in churches The author concludes with the prognosis that art for the church has reached a critical and decisive phase in its history testing the assumption that contemporary art should be a taken for granted element of modern church life Art and the Church A Fractious Embrace uniquely combines conceptual analysis critical case studies and practical application in a rigorous and inventive manner dealing specifically with contemporary art of the past twenty five years and the most recent developments in the church's policies for the arts

Benvenuto Cellini and the Embodiment of the Modern Artist Andreas Beyer, 2025-05-13 A clear eyed reconsideration of a scandalous Renaissance sculptor's autobiography and art Benvenuto Cellini was a murderer thief lover of all genders rival of popes and princes as well as an ingenious artist In his legendary autobiography the Vita Cellini describes his activities vividly and in lurid detail Many of the most disturbing passages have been dismissed as fiction but in this clear eyed portrayal Andreas Beyer argues that these sensational accounts of the body sex and extreme experiences are not only entertaining but historically authentic The stories reveal the depth of Cellini's character an artist who embraced life and shattered boundaries Ultimately this book discovers the roots of modern art's fascination with the autonomous artist deep within Cellini's audacious life and work

John Rothenstein in the Interwar Years David McCann, 2023-07-12 Appointed in 1938 Sir John Rothenstein was the first director of the Tate to embrace modern art mounting a series of daring exhibitions and procuring a procession of audacious masterworks that in the words of one contemporary completely knocked the stuffiness out of that veritable institution So why since he died in 1991 has his name become a byword for reactionary conservatism The answer is that from the outset of his career Rothenstein refused to bow to the patriarchs of the avant garde In the 1920s while they were busy decrying the figurative tradition Rothenstein was championing a brilliant generation of artists whose work remained firmly rooted within it In the 1930s while they advocated a geometrical art of the utmost austerity Rothenstein used his first curatorial positions to promote a new wave of exciting young British realists Pitted against the progressives of Hampstead and Bloomsbury and inspired by the anti vanguardism of his father and Wyndham Lewis this book charts Rothenstein s earliest efforts to champion modern realistic painting in an age of abstraction Along the way it uncovers his selfless and pioneering patronage of artists as diverse as Stanley Spencer Edward Bawden Evelyn Dunbar Paul Nash Charles Mahoney and Eric Ravilious In so doing it also establishes his importance in the reassessment of twentieth century figuration going on today Elisabeth
