Global Maritime Military Strategy, 1980-2023 Keitaro Ushirogata, 2025-03-17 This open access book is an ambitious study about how to use comparative methods to analyze contemporary military strategy in the maritime domain Based on the three strategic concepts of area denial sea control and power projection this book analyzes the intensive conventional capabilities of six major powers military strategies These include the United States the United Kingdom and Japan the so called sea powers and Russia China and India which are usually recognized as land powers Through the analysis this book aims to accomplish the following three main objectives 1 To reconsider the basic concepts of maritime military strategic studies which have not changed for almost one hundred years and to propose a new analytical framework based on the following three elements as well as verifying the appropriateness of this framework a The capability with which a country can deny military threat against its territory through the maritime domain within the geographic theater i e roughly one thousand to two thousand kilometers from its coastline area denial b The capability with which a country can obtain military superiority or disrupt an adversary's military superiority in the open ocean sea control c The capability with which a country can project military power from the maritime domain to other countries territories accomplishing military strategic objectives power projection 2 To verify the six major powers long term military strategic objectives for example whether the country aims to enhance its power in the maritime domain or to project its military power to the other countries areas beyond the maritime domain to do this by analyzing each country's force building directions In addition this book assesses each country's capability for high intensive conflict and unravels each security military strategic objectives 3 By examining the strategic objectives of major powers this book may contribute to establishing Japan's future defense strategy

Military Strategy of Great Powers Håkan Edström, Jacob Westberg, 2021-09-20 This book explores the military strategies of the five system determining great powers during the twenty first century The book's point of departure is that analyses of countries defence strategies should acknowledge that states come in various shapes and sizes and that their strategic choices are affected by their perceptions of their position in the international system and by power asymmetries between more and less resourceful states This creates a diversity in strategies that is often overlooked in theoretically oriented analyses The book examines how five major powers the United States China the United Kingdom France and Russia have adjusted their strategies to improve or maintain their relative position and to manage power asymmetries during the twenty first century It also develops and applies an analytical framework for exploring and categorising the strategies pursued by the five major powers which combines elements of structural realism with research on power transition theory and status competition The concluding chapter addresses questions related to stability and change in the present international system This book will be of interest to students of strategic studies foreign policy and International Relations
