Plain Paths and Dividing Lines Jessica Lauren Taylor,2023-08-11 It is one thing to draw a line in the sand but another to enforce it In this innovative new work Jessica Lauren Taylor follows the Native peoples and the newcomers who built and crossed emerging boundaries surrounding Indigenous towns and developing English plantations in the seventeenth century Chesapeake Bay In a riverine landscape defined by connection Algonquians had cultivated ties to one another and into the continent for centuries As Taylor finds their networks continued to define the watery Chesapeake landscape even as Virginia and Maryland s planters erected fences and forts policed unfree laborers and dispatched land surveyors By chronicling English and Algonquian attempts to move along paths and rivers and to enforce boundaries Taylor casts a new light on pivotal moments in Anglo Indigenous relations from the growth of the fur trade to Bacon s Rebellion Most important Taylor traces the ways in which the peoples resisting colonial encroachment and subjugation used Native networks and Indigenous knowledge of the Bay to cross newly created English boundaries She thereby illuminates alternate visions of power freedom and connection in the colonial Chesapeake

Studies of Skin Color in the Early Royal Society Cristina Malcolmson,2016-04-01 Arguing that the early Royal Society moved science toward racialization by giving skin color a new prominence as an object of experiment and observation Cristina Malcolmson provides the first book length examination of studies of skin color in the Society She also brings new light to the relationship between early modern literature science and the establishment of scientific racism in the nineteenth century Malcolmson demonstrates how unstable the idea of race remained in England at the end of the seventeenth century and yet how extensively the intertwined institutions of government colonialism the slave trade and science were collaborating to usher it into public view Malcolmson places the genre of the voyage to the moon in the context of early modern discourses about human difference and argues that Cavendish's Blazing World and Swift's Gulliver's Travels satirize the Society's emphasis on skin color
