Marvelous Encounters Willard Bohn, 2005 The concept of poe-sie critique poetry that possesses both a poetic and a critical function has an extensive history in modern literature Written in response to another work of art be it a painting a film a poem or a piece of music the critical poem comments on the latter in various ways but refuses to abandon its poetic mission Marvelous Encounters examines surrealist poets writing in French Spanish and Catalan who experimented with this intriguing genre The first three chapters are concerned with the French surrealists who began to cultivate critical poetry toward the end of World War I Chapter 2 considers how Louis Aragon and Philippe Soupault appropriated the critical poem as they reviewed books of poetry and films starring Charlie Chaplin Chapter 3 which examines how Benjamin Peret and Paul Eluard conceived of critical poetry analyzes their response to poems by Tristan Tzara and paintings by Giorgio de Chirico and Joan Miro Chapter 4 is devoted entirely to Andre Breton

Plaited Arts from the Borneo Rainforest Bernard Sellato, 2012 One of the richest basketry traditions in the world the plaited objects produced in Borneo are created from plant materials gathered in the rainforest and worked by hand using techniques passed from generation to generation Unrivalled in their combination of beauty form and function they provide a unique window on the way of life of Borneo's inhabitants Plaited Arts from the Borneo Rainforest recognizes this plaiting tradition as the primary creative expression of the peoples of Borneo producing the most ingenious and aesthetically appealing material goods found on the island Using a contextual and interdisciplinary approach that connects botanical and technical features with economic social and ritual elements the book explores how people in Borneo rely on plaited articles whether for daily use or in the ritual sphere The sophisticated sense of design rich iconography and complex social and ceremonial efficacy of these objects are unsurpassed Elaborately patterned mats from the Ngaju people of southern Borneo for example portray the cosmos and are the most prominent decorative features of the Ngaju ceremonial cycle The sun hats of the Kenyah using a unique resist dye technique display patterns that were once taboo to all but the nobility The exquisite plaited designs of Iban seed baskets stained red with the prized dragon's blood pigment show the importance of the planting ritual for the vital and sacred rice crop The contributors to this volume are among the world's leading authorities of the arts of Borneo These twenty scholars and artisans are from ten different nations including Indonesia and Malaysia and from Borneo itself Sarawak Sabah and Kalimantan Their original work is supplemented by a selection of texts written by three pioneer authors that describe Borneo basketry before the Second World

War The volume is divided into twelve parts that cover the complex role of basketry in Borneo societies the ethnobotanical and technical aspects of basketry the distribution of plaited arts by region the past and current market for Borneo s plaited arts and style and identity The abundantly illustrated Appendix surveys the relation between the tropical environment and the material culture Illustrated with more than 1 250 color photographs newly commissioned maps rare historical photographs and detailed line drawings Plaited Arts from the Borneo Rainforest is an essential addition to the libraries of universities collectors and scholars alike Publication of this book is supported by Total E P Indonesie as part of its Corporate Social Responsibility program for preserving Indonesian cultural heritage
