Raincoast Chronicles 1:

New Serial Titles, 1989 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949 Upcoast Summers Beth Hill, Francis Barrow, 1985 Francis and Amy Barrow spent the summers between 1933 and 1941 exploring the west coast in their little boat searching for and recording First Nations rock art and yarnning with the homesteaders in remote bays and inlets Captain Alex MacLean Don MacGillivray, 2008-11-01 Alex MacLean was the inspiration for the title character in Jack London's bestselling novel The Sea Wolf Originally from Cape Breton MacLean sailed to the Pacific side of North America when he was twenty one and worked there for thirty five years as a sailor and sealer His achievements and escapades while in the Victoria fleet in the 1880s laid the foundation for his status as a folk hero But this biography reveals more than the construction of a legend Don MacGillivray opens a window onto the sealing dispute brought the United States and Britain to the brink of war with Canadian sealing interests frequently enmeshed in espionage scientific debate diplomatic negotiations and vexing questions of maritime and environmental law Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index, 1975 Tales From the West Coast Adrienne Mason, 2003 From record breaking tea clippers to rum runners and sea monsters life on the west coast has never been dull Rich in seafaring legend and adventure these stories will take you on a voyage of discovery into the past Keeping it Living Douglas Deur, Nancy J. Turner, 2005 The European explorers who first visited the Northwest Coast of North America assumed that the entire region was virtually untouched wilderness whose occupants used the land only minimally hunting and gathering shoots roots and berries that were peripheral to a diet and culture focused on salmon Colonizers who followed the explorers used these claims to justify the displacement of Native groups from their lands Scholars now understand however that Northwest Coast peoples were actively cultivating plants well before their first contact with Europeans This book is the first comprehensive overview of how Northwest Coast Native Americans managed the landscape and cared for the plant communities on which they depended Bringing together some of the world's most prominent specialists on Northwest Coast cultures Keeping It Living tells the story of traditional plant cultivation practices found from the Oregon coast to Southeast Alaska It explores tobacco gardens among the Haida and Tlingit managed camas plots among the Coast Salish of Puget Sound and the Strait of Georgia estuarine root gardens along the central coast of British Columbia wapato maintenance on the Columbia and Fraser Rivers and tended berry plots up and down the entire coast With contributions from ethnobotanists archaeologists anthropologists geographers ecologists and Native American scholars and elders Keeping It Living documents practices many unknown to European peoples that involve manipulating plants as well as their environments in ways that enhanced culturally preferred plants and plant communities It describes how indigenous peoples of this region used and cared for over 300 different species of plants from the lofty red cedar to diminutive plants of backwater bogs God's Little Ships Michael L. Hadley, 1995 The men and women of the Columbia Coast Mission ships legendary figures in the history of the BC coast are brought vividly to life in this readable well researched volume From 1904 to the mid 1970s the mission sent out ships in all kinds of weather delivering medical care and non sectarian spiritual support to logging camps Native villages and white settlements in 20 000 square miles of rugged coastline John Antle who founded the mission was a devout and practical Christian who measured his success in services to BC s outposts rather than material wealth or number of converts Immortalized in Margaret Craven s I Heard the Owl Call My Name and in the hearts and memories of families all over the coast the mission was a glad bold organization that could be as rough cut and unconventional as the individuals it served

Converging Empires Andrea Geiger,2022-03-15 Making a vital contribution to our understanding of North American borderlands history through its examination of the northernmost stretches of the U S Canada border Andrea Geiger highlights the role that the North Pacific borderlands played in the construction of race and citizenship on both sides of the international border from 1867 when the United States acquired Russia s interests in Alaska through the end of World War II Imperial national provincial territorial reserve and municipal borders worked together to create a dynamic legal landscape that both Indigenous and non Indigenous people negotiated in myriad ways as they traversed these borderlands Adventurers prospectors laborers and settlers from Europe Canada the United States Latin America and Asia made and remade themselves as they crossed from one jurisdiction to another Within this broader framework Geiger pays particular attention to the ways in which Japanese migrants and the Indigenous people who had made this borderlands region their home for millennia Tlingit Haida and Tsimshian among others negotiated the web of intersecting boundaries that emerged over time charting the ways in which they infused these reconfigured national provincial and territorial spaces with new meanings

The Archaeology of Vernacular Watercraft Amanda M. Evans,2016-04-19 This volume presents multiple idiographic archaeological studies of vernacular watercraft from North America and the Caribbean Rather than attempt to synthesize all vernacular types this volume focuses on ship construction data recovered through archaeological investigations that has been used to make inferences about culture This collection of case studies including many examples from cultural resource management and graduate student theses presents a thematic exploration of cultural adaptation as expressed through ship construction the West Jean Barman, 2017-06-22 British Columbia is regularly described in superlatives both positive and negative most spectacular scenery strangest politics greatest environmental sensitivity richest Aboriginal cultures most aggressive resource exploitation closest ties to Asia Jean Barman's The West beyond the West presents the history of the province in all its diversity and apparent contradictions This critically acclaimed work is the premiere book on British Columbian history with a narrative beginning at the point of contact between Native peoples and Europeans and continuing into the twenty first century Barman tells the story by focusing not only on the history made by leaders in government but also on the roles of women immigrants and Aboriginal peoples in the development of the province She incorporates new perspectives and expands discussions on important topics such as the province's relationship to Canada as a nation its involvement in the two world wars the perspectives of non mainstream British Columbians and its participation in recreation and sports including Olympics First published in 1991 and revised in 1996 this third edition of The West beyond the West has been supplemented by statistical tables incorporating the 2001 census two more extensive illustration sections portraying British Columbia's history in images and other new material bringing the book up to date Barman's deft scholarship is readily apparent and the book demands to be on the shelf of anyone with an interest in British Columbian or Canadian history Ocean of Destiny

The West Beyond

Arthur Lower, 2011-11-01 The modern history of the North Pacific began five hundred years ago when Europeans sailed into the ocean for the first time This discovery shaped the destinies of seven countries that now rim its Asiatic and North American shores Russia China Japan North Korea South Korea the United States and Canada Their history is an exciting epic of discovery the great expeditions of Marco Polo Drake and Magellan the quest for the spices of Cathay the early days of the fur trade the gold rush and the long treks westward across North America to first establish Canadian and American possessions on the Pacific shore Rivalry and confrontation were part of this epic From the sixteenth to the nineteenth century European powers contested for the riches of the East and the West the wealth of the ocean and territory to sate colonial ambitions Since that time full blooded conflicts developed between Asian states and between Asia and the Western powers As a major trading power in the Pacific with no tradition of territorial expansion and as a respected peacekeeper Canada is in a unique position to view the history of the Pacific impartially This survey is doubly valuable not only as the first history of the North Pacific dealing with the concurrent events in the East and West but also as a history reflecting Canada's international outlook Raincoast Chronicles H. White, 1976 Fish Hooks & Caulk Boots Florence Tickner, 1992 Growing up in a floating logging camp on the BC coast A Measure of Value Chris Yorath, C. J. Yorath, 2000 Between 1891 and 1924 D Arcy Island near Victoria B C was a prison for a society of outcasts The press called them The Unfortunates Why They had leprosy and they were Chinese Their only contact with the outside world was a supply ship that came every three months to drop off food opium and coffins Follow one unfortunate Lim Sam on his journey from China to Victoria to Nanaimo and finally to D Arcy Island where this little society cared for each other planted their gardens and dreamed of going home They lived and died unquoted and unrecorded That they lived is acknowledged only by fifteen unmarked graves on a tiny island in Haro Strait It is the author s hope that this book returns a measure of value to their lives Quill & Quire ,2003 Canadian Books in Print ,2001 Sessions D'étude Canadian Catholic Historical Association,1975 International Books in Print ,1991 BC Studies ,1998
