Models Of Value Eighteenth Century Political Economy And The Novel:

Chance and the Eighteenth-Century Novel Jesse Molesworth, 2010-07-08 A study of the relationship between realism probability and chance in eighteenth century fiction

Models of Value James Thompson, 1996 In this account political economy and the novel clearly arise as solutions to a crisis in the notion of value Exploring the ways in which these different genres responded to the crisis political economy by reconceptualizing wealth as capital and the novel by refiguring intrinsic or human worth in the form of courtship narratives Thompson rereads several literary works including Defoe's Roxana Fielding's Tom Jones and Burney's Cecilia along with influential contemporary economic texts Models of Value also traces the discursive consequences of this bifurcation of value and reveals how history and theory participate in the very novelistic and economic processes they describe In doing so the book bridges the opposition between the interests of marxism and feminism and the distinctions which newly made in the eighteenth century continue to inform our discourse today

Political Economy and the Novel Sarah Comyn, 2018-10-04 Political Economy and the Novel A Literary History of Homo Economicus provides a transhistorical account of homo economicus economic man demonstrating this figure's significance to economic theory and the Anglo American novel over a 250 year period Beginning with Adam Smith's seminal texts Theory of Moral Sentiments and The Wealth of Nations and Henry Fielding's A History of Tom Jones this book combines the methodologies of new historicism and new economic criticism to investigate the evolution of the homo economicus model as it traverses through Ricardian economics and Jane Austen's Sanditon J S Mill and Charles Dickens engagement with mid Victorian dualities Keynesianism and Mrs Dalloway's exploration of post war consumer impulses the a moralistic discourses of Friedrich von Hayek and Ayn Rand's Atlas Shrugged and finally the virtual crises of the twenty first century financial market and DonDeLillo's Cosmopolis Through its sustained comparative analysis of literary and economic discourses this book transforms our understanding of the genre of the novel and offers critical new understandings of literary value cultural capital and the moral foundations of political economy

Women and Gift Exchange in Eighteenth-Century Fiction

Linda Zionkowski, 2016-05-26 This book analyzes why the most influential novelists of the long eighteenth century centered their narratives on the theory and practice of gift exchange Throughout this period fundamental shifts in economic theories regarding the sources of individual and national wealth along with transformations in the practices of personal and institutional charity profoundly altered cultural understandings of the gift's rationale purpose and function Drawing on materials such as sermons conduct books works of political philosophy and tracts on social reform Zionkowski challenges the idea that capitalist discourse was the dominant influence on the development of prose fiction Instead by shifting attention to the gift system as it was imagined and enacted in the formative years of the novel the volume offers an innovative understanding of how the economy of obligation shaped writers' portrayals of class and gender identity property and community Through theoretically informed readings of Richardson's Clarissa and Sir Charles Grandison Burney's Cecilia and

The Wanderer and Austen's Mansfield Park and Emma the book foregrounds the issues of donation reciprocity indebtedness and gratitude as it investigates the conflicts between the market and moral economies and analyzes women's position at the center of these conflicts As this study reveals the exchanges that eighteenth century fiction prescribed for women confirm the continuing power and importance of gift transactions in the midst of an increasingly commercial culture The volume will be essential reading for scholars of the eighteenth century novel economic literary criticism women and gender studies and book history

The Character of Credit Margot C. Finn, 2003-08-21 Table of contents

Henry Fielding In Our Time J. A. Downie, 2020-11-09 Henry Fielding In Our Time publishes many of the papers presented at the international conference held at the University of London 19-21 April 2007 to commemorate the tercentenary of his birth Written by established scholars including the acknowledged doyen of Fielding scholars Martin C Battestin of the University of Virginia as well as younger scholars who successfully bring their recent research to bear on neglected areas of Fielding's life and works the essays offer a cross section of current approaches to Fielding and his writings from his ballad operas poetry and political journalism via Joseph Andrews Tom Jones and Amelia the novels for which he is still best known to the social pamphlets written during his years at Bow Street as magistrate for Westminster and Middlesex The collection should appeal both to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as academics and general readers interested in the eighteenth century in general and Fielding's contribution to the emergence and development of the novel form in particular

Imagining women readers, 1789-1820 Richard Ritter, 2015-11-01 Imagining women readers reassesses the cultural significance of women's reading in the period 1789-1820 From the turbulent years following the French Revolution to the fiction of Jane Austen this book charts the rise of a self-regulating reader who possesses both moral and cultural authority Rather than an unproductive leisure activity for the writers discussed in this study the act of reading is crucial to imagining forms of female participation in national life The book thus offers a unique perspective on the relationship between reading education and the construction of femininity shedding new light on the work of some of the most celebrated women writers of the period It will appeal to students and scholars interested in the history and representation of reading and in women's writing of this period more generally

Unsettled Accounts Simon J. James, 2003-12-17 Simon J. James examines how Gissing's work reveals an unhappy accommodation with money's underwriting of human existence and culture and how daily life in all its forms moral intellectual familial and erotic is transcended or made irrelevant by its commodification

Empiricist Devotions Courtney Weiss Smith, 2016-04-05 Featuring a moment in late seventeenth and early eighteenth century England before the disciplinary divisions that we inherit today were established Empiricist Devotions recovers a kind of empiricist thinking in which the techniques and emphases of science religion and literature combined and cooperated This brand of empiricism was committed to particularized scrutiny and epistemological modesty It was Protestant in its enabling premises and meditative practices It earnestly affirmed that figurative language provided crucial tools for interpreting the divinely written world Smith recovers this empiricism in Robert Boyle s analogies Isaac Newton s metaphors John Locke s narratives Joseph Addison s personifications Daniel Defoe s diction John Gay s periphrases and Alexander Pope s descriptive particulars She thereby demonstrates that literary language played a key role in shaping and giving voice to the concerns of eighteenth century science and religion alike Empiricist Devotions combines intellectual history with close readings of a wide variety of texts from sermons devotional journals and economic tracts to georgic poems its narratives and microscopy treatises This prizewinning book has important implications for our understanding of cultural and literary history as scholars of the period s science have not fully appreciated figurative language s central role in empiricist thought while scholars of its religion and literature have neglected the serious empiricist commitments motivating richly figurative devotional and poetic texts Winner of the Walker Cowen Memorial Prize for an Outstanding Work of Scholarship in Eighteenth Century Studies
