Culture, Class, and Critical Theory David Gartman, 2013 Culture Class and Critical Theory develops a theory of culture that explains how ideas create and legitimate class inequalities in modern society This theory is developed through a critique and comparison of the powerful ideas on culture offered by Pierre Bourdieu and the Frankfurt School thinkers especially Theodor Adorno These ideas are illuminated and criticized through the development of two empirical cases on which Gartman has published extensively automobile design and architecture Bourdieu and the Frankfurt School postulate opposite theories of the cultural legitimation of class inequalities Bourdieu argues that the culture of modern society is a class culture a ranked diversity of beliefs and tastes corresponding to different classes The cultural beliefs and practices of the dominant class are arbitrarily defined as superior thus legitimating its greater share of social resources By contrast the thinkers of the Frankfurt School conceive of modern culture as a mass culture a leveled homogeneity in which the ideas and tastes shared by all classes disguises real class inequalities This creates the illusion of an egalitarian democracy that prevents inequalities from being contested Through an empirical assessment of the theories against the cases Gartman reveals that both are correct but for different parts of modern culture These parts combine to provide a strong legitimation of class inequalities

New Media, Cultural Studies, and Critical Theory after Postmodernism R. Samuels, 2009-12-07 This book argues that we have moved into a new cultural period automodernity which represents a social psychological and technological reaction to postmodernity In fact by showing how individual autonomy is now being generated through technological and cultural automation Samuels posits that we must rethink modernity and postmodernity

Headstrong and Unorthodox Pioneers for a Critical Theory of Consumption Michael-Burkhard Piorkowsky, Karl Kollmann, 2023-08-28 This volume offers contributions on the fundamentals of current consumption theory and consumption research which have developed almost entirely from originally unorthodox approaches against traditional micro and macroeconomic theory The inspiration came mainly from social economic behavioural research and ecological economics But the reception is very patchy and the history is largely forgotten With reference to the work of earlier authors new arguments are offered to the current discussion about delimitations and paradoxes in consumption and the still narrowly understood consumer role It is as much about rework in sharpening the understanding of consumption and consumers in their lifeworlds as it is about indications of fruitfulness for the analysis of open questions It is about arguments for a paradigmatic reorientation of consumer research and policy The contributions address in particular ambivalences options and future modes in consumption in the search for individual satisfaction and ecological sustainability This book is a translation of an original German edition The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL.com A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation
