The Coming of the Frontier Press Barbara Cloud, 2008-10-22 Western expansion and journalism have had a symbiotic relationship By examining this relationship along its entire timeline this book argues that newspapers played a crucial role in pushing aside both wildlife and Native Americans to make room for the settlers who would become their readers

Vigilante Newspapers Gerald J. Baldasty, 2010-03-01 This riveting work of social history documents the role the news media played in spurring two murders revolving around Edmund Creffield a charismatic Holy Roller evangelist who arrived in Corvallis Oregon in 1903 and quickly enraged the citizenry by defiantly challenging the religious and sexual mores of the time When ardent female followers began refusing to speak to their nonbelieving husbands vigilantes tarred and feathered Creffield eventually forcing him to flee to Seattle Once there Creffield was murdered by George Mitchell the brother of one of his followers The news media in Seattle and Oregon applauded George s defense of his sister Esther s honor influencing the jury Citing temporary insanity the jury quickly acquitted George pleasing the cheering crowds and the approving media As George prepared to return to Oregon however Esther shot him point blank at Union Station and another moralizing media frenzy broke out Esther was sent to Western State Hospital and committed suicide after her release Her short life was among the most poignant of the dozens wrecked by the controversy Gerald Baldasty s examination of Seattle and Oregon media coverage shows the tenacity with which frontier media protected traditional mores particularly the notion that men are responsible for women s purity and have the right to take action if they feel another man has besmirched a woman s honor Expertly crafted in a brisk accessible style Vigilante Newspapers illustrates through the tragic tale of Edmund Creffield George Mitchell and Esther Mitchell how the news media defined social deviance using vague concepts such as hysteria and temporary insanity vigorously defending the established order of religious class and gender norms

Murdering Holiness Jim Phillips, Rosemary Gartner, 2011-11-01 Murdering Holiness explores the story of the Holy Roller sect led by Franz Creffield in the early years of the twentieth century In the opening chapters the authors introduce us to the community of Corvallis Oregon where Creffield a charismatic self styled messiah taught his followers to forsake their families and worldly possessions and to seek salvation through him As his teachings became more extreme the local community reacted Creffield was tarred and feathered and his followers were incarcerated in the state asylum Creffield himself was later imprisoned for adultery but shortly after his release he revived the sect This proved too much for some of the adherents families and in May 1906 George Mitchell the brother of two women in the sect pursued Creffield to Seattle and shot him dead The authors take us into the courtroom for the trial that made headlines across North America as Mitchell was acquitted of murder Though the formal plea was insanity the defence built its case on the unwritten law that justified killing to protect or avenge family honour Based on court records and archival sources this case study includes a detailed examination of the trial the media s response to it and the dramatic aftermath and sheds light on the rise of ardent religion in the Pacific Northwest the justice system in Seattle and the role of the press in influencing public opinion

The Infamous Harry Hayward Shawn Francis Peters, 2018-04-03 A fascinating tale of seduction murder fraud coercion and the trial of the Minneapolis Monster On a winter night in 1894 a young woman's body was found in the middle of a road near Lake Calhoun on the outskirts of Minneapolis. She had been shot through the head. The murder of Kittie Ging, a twenty-nine-year-old dressmaker, was the final act in a melodrama of seduction and betrayal, petty crimes and monstrous deeds that would obsess reporters and their readers across the nation when the man who likely arranged her killing came to trial the following spring. Shawn Francis Peters unravels that sordid spellbinding story in his account of the trial of Harry Hayward, a serial seducer and schemer whom some deemed a Svengali, others a Machiavelli, and others a lunatic and man without a soul. Dubbed one of the greatest criminals the world has ever seen by the famed detective William Pinkerton, Harry Hayward was an inveterate and cunning plotter of crimes large and small, dabbling in arson, insurance fraud, counterfeiting, and illegal gambling. His life story, told in full for the first time here, takes us into shadowy corners of the nineteenth century, including mesmerism, psychopathy, spiritualism, yellow journalism, and capital punishment. From the horrible fate of an independent young businesswoman who challenged Victorian mores to the shocking confession of Hayward on the eve of his execution, which if true would have made him a serial killer, The Infamous Harry Hayward unfolds a transfixing tale of one of the most notorious criminals in America during the Gilded Age.

Crying the News Vincent DiGirolamo, 2019 Crying the News: A History of America's Newsboys is the first book to place newsboys at the center of American history, analyzing their inseparable role as economic actors and cultural symbols in the creation of print capitalism, popular democracy, and national character. DiGirolamo's sweeping narrative traces the shifting fortunes of these little merchants over a century of war and peace, prosperity and depression, exploitation and reform, chronicling their exploits in every region of the country as well as on the railroads that linked them.

The Journalist's Predicament Matthew Powers, Sandra Vera-Zambrano, 2023-08-22 Low pay, uncertain work prospects, diminished prestige. Why would anyone still want to be a journalist? Drawing on in-depth interviews in France and the United States, Matthew Powers and Sandra Vera Zambrano explore the ways individuals come to believe that journalism is a worthy pursuit and how that conviction is managed and sometimes dissolves amid the profession's ongoing upheavals. For many people, journalism represents a job that is interesting and substantial, with opportunities for expression, a sense of self-fulfillment, and a connection to broader social values. By distilling complex ideas, holding the powerful to account, and revealing hidden realities, journalists play a crucial role in helping audiences make sense of the world. Experiences in the profession, though, are often far more disappointing. Many find themselves doing tasks that bear little relation to what attracted them initially or are frustrated by institutions privileging what sells over what informs. The imbalance between the profession's economic woes and its social importance threatens to erode individuals' beliefs that journalism remains a worthwhile pursuit. Powers and Vera Zambrano emphasize that, as with many seemingly individual choices, social factors—class, gender, education, and race—shape how journalists make sense of their profession and whether or not they remain in it. An in-depth story of one profession under pressure, The Journalist's Predicament uncovers tensions that also confront other socially important jobs, like teaching.
