El Q'anil Víctor Montejo, 2001-02-02 The legend of El Q'anil the Man of Lightning stands alongside such classic Maya literary artifacts as Popol Vuh and Chilam Balam but has been preserved only through the oral tradition of the Jakalteek Maya In this tale the young man Xhuwan Q'anil brings lightning to his people in order to save them from destruction He undertakes a journey of adventure participates in a great war and is subsequently immortalized It is a story that all Jakalteek children learn one that reinforces their identity by showing that their people have a hero who lives in each Jakalteek Maya today Víctor Montejo who was raised in Maya culture and knows its lore intimately compiled several versions of the legend in Guatemala during the height of paramilitary operations in that country in the 1980s His contemporary reconstruction lovingly preserves this legend and reflects concern for the survival of Maya culture in the face of oppression Just as the Maya people of western Guatemala continue to pray for peace at the sanctuary of Q'anil the legend of the Man of Lightning affirms a culture's enduring traditions In this edition the text is presented in English Spanish and Jakalteek Maya to secure its deserved place in world literature Bética, 1915

Visiting the Calvario at Mitla, Oaxaca William R. Arfman, 2008 In the centre of the Mexican town of Mitla stands a run down chapel on an overgrown pre colonial pyramid The chapel housing three crosses is the town's Calvario the local representation of the hill on which Christ died Although buses full of tourists on their way to Chiapas or on daytrips from Oaxaca City swarm the town every day almost none of them ever visit the Calvario Instead they stick to the tourist zone to marvel at the famous mosaic friezes of the pre colonial temples and shop for traditional souvenirs in the tourist market If they would climb the steep steps to the chapel they would discover that despite appearances the building still sees extensive use as pilgrims from the wide Zapotec region visit it to bring offerings to and ask favours of the souls of their dearly departed And as these offerings consist of elaborate arrangements of flowers fruits black candles cacao beans and bundles of copal incense such tourists might well start to wonder where the origins of these practices lie It is this question that this thesis seeks to answer To achieve this current theories on cultural continuity syncretism the materiality of religion and ritual theory are combined with a study of archaeological historical iconographical and anthropological sources In addition ethnographic fieldwork has been conducted to come to a better understanding of the offerings made in the Calvario today In three parts the thesis first addresses the history of Mitla as The Place of the Dead then of the Calvario as a ritual location and finally of the offerings for the dead Combining these three lines of research an interesting image is formed of the continuity of ancestor veneration in this busy tourist town la Conquista española. Es interesante notar que el manuscrito cakchiquel lo mismo que el Popol Vuh y demás documentos quichés y los Libros de Chilam Balam se alaban a la legendaria Tula como el centro de difusión de las razas que poblaron las tierras de la Península de Yucatán y el interior de la actual República de Guatemala. Aunque entre los arqueólogos e historiadores ha habido discrepancia acerca de la localización de Tula, hoy parece un hecho establecido que la ciudad prehistórica era la misma cuyas espléndidas ruinas se contemplan al norte de la capital de México en el Estado de Hidalgo en el centro de la zona de Tula.
