Use of Dietary Supplements by Military Personnel Institute of Medicine,Food and Nutrition Board,Committee on Dietary Supplement Use by Military Personnel,2008-10-31 Dietary supplements are widely available through a rapidly expanding market of products commonly advertised as beneficial for health performance enhancement and disease prevention Given the importance and frequent evaluation of physical performance and health as a criteria to join and remain in the military the use of these products by military personnel has raised concern regarding overall and long term efficacy and safety This evaluation is especially difficult as many of these supplements contain multiple ingredients have a changing composition over time or are used intermittently at doses difficult to measure This book analyzes the patterns of dietary supplement use among military personnel examines published reviews of the scientific evidence and identifies those dietary supplements that are beneficial and or warrant concern due to risks to health or performance The book also recommends a system to monitor adverse health effects and a framework to identify the need for active management of dietary supplements by military personnel Military policy makers personnel and recruits will find this book useful as will nutritionists athletes and others working in strenuous environments Bibliography of Agriculture with
