Hoffman, 2017-08-01 This text highlights seminal discoveries and also provides comprehensive and state of the art approach to mouse models of human patient tumors These areas include training basic techniques as well as general troubleshooting Subsequent chapters focus on the different mouse models of patient tumors including the various strains of immunodeficient mice currently available and the transplantation techniques that can be used as well as state of the art imaging techniques Practical applications of the models from drug discovery genome analysis to personalized treatment are also covered Written by experts in that field each of these sections address these critical issues A brief review of the existing literature addressing the particular topic follows in each section Presently there is no single source to provide information on technique and uses of mouse models of human patient tumors Patient Derived Mouse Models of Cancer will satisfy this need for cancer researchers oncologists pharmaceutical and biotechnology industry scientists as well as molecular biologists studying in vivo systems      ILAR News, 1983      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),      Tumor Models in Cancer Research Beverly A. Teicher, 2001-11-07 Beverly A Teicher and a panel of leading experts comprehensively describe for the first time in many years the state of the art in animal tumor model research The wide array of models detailed form the basis for the selection of compounds and treatments that go into clinical testing of patients and include syngeneic models human tumor xenograft models orthotopic models metastatic models transgenic models and gene knockout models Synthesizing many years experience with all the major in vivo models currently available for the study of malignant disease Tumor Models in Cancer Research provides preclinical and clinical cancer researchers alike with a comprehensive guide to the selection of these models their effective use and the optimal interpretation of their results      Progress in Allergy Vol. 26 K. lines derived from low grade organ confined cancers This gap can be filled with conditionally immortalized human cancer cell lines We do not know why the success rate for establishing cell lines is so low for some types of cancer and so high for others The histopathology of the tumor of origin and the extent to which the derived cell line retains the differentiated features of that tumor are critical The concept that a single cell line derived from a tumor at a particular site is representative of tumors at that site is na ve and misleading Five Year Report United States-Japan Cooperative Medical Science Program,1975
