James FERGUSON (F.R.S.)

Numbers A Further Autobiography:

Life of J. F., ... in a brief autobiographical account, and further extended memoir. With numerous notes and illustrative engravings. [Edited] by E. Henderson James FERGUSON (F.R.S.), 1867      Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1974      Numbers Jakov Lind, 1972      Autobiographical Tales of 51 Greatest Philosophers Muska Ayir, 2025-04-23 Autobiographical Tales of Greatest Philosophers invites readers into the intimate worlds of history's most influential thinkers through personal first person narratives This unique approach allows philosophers like Nietzsche Confucius and Socrates to speak directly sharing their thoughts struggles and triumphs as if in a personal conversation Rather than presenting abstract theories the book explores how each philosopher's life experiences shaped their ideas making complex philosophies more relatable and accessible Readers are drawn into the human side of these great minds witnessing Nietzsche's existential pain Confucius's challenges in turbulent times and the inner journeys that forged their wisdom Grounded in rigorous research yet written with warmth the book paints each figure not just as a towering intellect but as a real person navigating life By blending emotional storytelling with philosophical insight this collection makes philosophy a deeply human endeavor and encourages readers to reflect on their own experiences through the lens of timeless wisdom      Annual Department of Defense Bibliography of Logistics Studies and Related Documents United States.

Twentieth-Century Russian Literature Jane Gary Harris, 2014-07-14 The fifteen essays in this volume explore the extraordinary range and diversity of the autobiographical mode in twentieth century Russian literature from various critical perspectives They will whet the appetite of readers interested in penetrating beyond the canonical texts of Russian literature The introduction focuses on the central issues and key problems of current autobiographical theory and practice in both the West and in the Soviet Union while each essay treats an aspect of autobiographical praxis in the context of an individual author's work and often in dialogue with another of the included writers Examined here are first the experimental writings of the early years of the twentieth century Rozanov Remizov and Bely second the unique autobiographical statements of the mid 1920s through the early 1940s Mandelstam Pasternak Olesha and Zoshchenko and finally the diverse and vital contemporary writings of the 1960s through the 1980s as exemplified not only by creative writers but also by scholars by Soviet citizens as well as by emigrants Trifonov Nadezhda Mandelstam Lydia Ginzburg Nabokov Jakobson Sinyavsky and Limonov Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

If there is one topic on which we all are experts it is ourselves Psychologists depend upon this expertise as asking people questions about themselves is an important means by which they gather the data that provide much of the evidence for psychological theory Personal recollections play an important role in clinical theorizing people s thoughts feelings and beliefs provide the principal data for attitudinal research and judgments of one s traits and descriptions of one s goals and motivations are essential for the study of personality Yet despite their long dependence on self report data psychologists know very little about this basic resource and the processes that govern it In spite of the importance of the self as a concept in psychology virtually no empirically tested representational models of self knowledge can be found Recently however several theoretical accounts of the representation of self knowledge have been proposed These models have been concerned primarily with the factors underlying a particular type of self knowledge our trait conceptions of ourselves The models all share the starting assumption that the source of our knowledge of the traits that describe us is memory for our past behavior The lead article in this volume reviews the available models of the processes underlying trait self descriptiveness judgments Although these models appear quite different in their basic representational assumptions exemplar and abstraction models sometimes are difficult to distinguish experimentally Presenting a series of studies using several new techniques which the authors believe are effective for assessing whether people recruit specific exemplars or abstract trait summaries when making trait judgments about themselves they conclude that specific behavioral exemplars play a far smaller role in the representation of trait knowledge than previously has been assumed Finally the limitations of social cognition paradigms as methods for studying the representation of long term social knowledge are discussed and the implications of the research for both existing and future social psychological research are explored
