Scotland Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Scottish Affairs Committee,2012-03-19 This report examines the Crown Estate Commissioner s management of the Crown property rights and interests which make up the Crown Estate in Scotland The Commissioner s operations in Scotland can be split into two categories ancient possessions responsibilities and modern activities relating to the buying selling and management of property and land The evidence identified major issues particularly in relation to the seabed and the foreshore including lack of accountability lack of communication and consultation with local communities the inappropriateness of the Commissioner s remit for its responsibilities in the marine environment the cash leakage from local economies and other adverse impacts There were no such problems in relation to the management of urban and rural estate The Commissioner s responsibilities for the seabed the foreshore and other ancient rights in Scotland should be devolved then decentralized as far as possible Devolution to Holyrood should be conditional upon agreement between the Secretary of State for Scotland and the Scottish Government on how such a scheme of subsidiarity to local authority and local community levels should be implemented This report also sets out how different arrangements could be made for each of the Scottish Crown property rights and responsibilities Further consultation should proceed on the basis of proposals set out by the Highlands and Islands local authorities which provides a clear framework on which to base discussion on a new method of distributing funding to reflect those needs The baseline has never been reviewed to take account of changing population patterns this means that the grant provides funds without reference to the needs of each of the countries and regions of the UK There should be a link between the grant of funds made to each of the administrations and their actual per capita funding needs The Committee s research suggests that England and Scotland have markedly lower overall needs per head of population than Wales and Northern Ireland The Committee suggest that the UK Funding Commission undertake an assessment of relative need now and in the future and that they undertake periodic reviews as well as publish annual data about the allocation of funding between the devolved administrations
