San Francisco's Lost Landmarks James R. Smith, 2005 With long forgotten stories and evocative photographs San Francisco's Lost Landmarks showcases the once familiar sites that have faded into dim memories and hazy legends Not just a list of places facts and dates this pictorial history shows why San Francisco has been a legendary travel destination and one of the world's premier places to live and work for more than one hundred and fifty years It not only tells of the lost landmarks but also dishes up the flavour of what it was like to experience these past treasures

Memorials Now Cher Krause Knight, Harriet F. Senie, 2025-01-13 A comprehensive guide to addressing the present day challenges of commemorating the past As debates over historical monuments and their meanings unfold Memorials Now offers a critical exploration of how communities can navigate the complex terrain of commemorative practices From controversial statues to emerging forms of public memory the topics covered in this timely volume provide insights into historical challenges while also encouraging a more inclusive and just memorial landscape for the future Authors Cher Krause Knight and Harriet F Senie explore evolving narratives of heroes and victims ethical challenges of memorial design strategies for promoting inclusivity and possibilities for alternative forms of commemoration Memorials Now analyzes case studies from around the world in which communities are rethinking their memorials and creating innovative memorialization projects that reflect shifting cultural values Memorials Now is ideal for students and educators in art history architecture urban planning and cultural studies as well as professionals in fields such as public art city planning museum curation and civic engagement

Cultural Memory, Memorials, and Reparative Writing Erica L. Johnson, 2018-11-02 Cultural Memory Memorials and Reparative Writing examines the ways in which memory furnishes important source material in the three distinct areas of critical theory memoir and memorial art The book first shows how affect theorists have increasingly complemented more traditional archival research through the use of academic memoir This theoretical piece is then applied to memoir works by Caribbean writers Dionne Brand and Patrick Chamoiseau and the final case study in the book interprets as memorial art Kara Walker's ephemeral 80 000 pound sugar sculpture of 2014 Memory as method memory as archive memorial as affect this book looks at the interplay between archival sources on the one hand and the affective memories both personal and collective that flow from around and into the constantly shifting record of the past

German Monuments in the Americas Hans A. Pohlsander, 2010 This book looks at the many transatlantic bonds which have linked and still link Germany and the United States German immigrants to the Americas brought with them a good deal of cultural baggage They cultivated their German heritage in their schools churches and clubs They expressed pride in this heritage by erecting monuments to Goethe or Schiller Beethoven or Wagner Alexander von Humboldt or Turnvater Jahn They claimed Friedrich Wilhelm von Steuben Carl Schurz Gustave Koerner and John A. Roebling as their own But German born or German trained sculptors did not limit themselves to German subjects They also paid tribute to America by creating sculptures of Benjamin Franklin George Washington Thomas Jefferson Abraham Lincoln and others who occupy a place of honor in American history While a few German monuments can be found in Canada and in Latin America the number of German monuments in the United States is surprisingly large These monuments illustrate the contribution often overlooked or ignored of the German American community to American society and American cultural life

Pioneer Mother Monuments Cynthia Culver Prescott, 2019-04-04 For more than a century American communities erected monuments to western pioneers Although many of these statues receive little attention today the images they depict sturdy white men saintly mothers and wholesome pioneer families enshrine prevailing notions of American exceptionalism race relations and gender identity Pioneer Mother Monuments is the first book to delve into the long and complex history of remembering forgetting and rediscovering pioneer monuments In this book historian Cynthia Culver Prescott combines visual analysis with a close reading of primary source documents Examining some two hundred monuments erected in the United States from the late nineteenth century to the present Prescott begins her survey by focusing on the earliest pioneer statues which celebrated the strong white men who settled and conquered the West By the 1930s she explains when gender roles began shifting new monuments came forth to honor the Pioneer Mother The angelic woman in a sunbonnet armed with a rifle or a Bible as she carried civilization forward an iconic figure resonated particularly with Mormon audiences While interest in these traditional monuments began to wane in the postwar period according to Prescott a new wave of pioneer monuments emerged in smaller communities during the late twentieth century Inspired by rural nostalgia these statues helped promote heritage tourism In recent years Americans have engaged in heated debates about Confederate Civil War monuments and their implicit racism Should these statues be removed or reinterpreted Far less attention however has been paid to pioneer monuments which Prescott argues also enshrine white cultural superiority as well as gender stereotypes Only a few western communities have reexamined these values and erected statues with more inclusive imagery Blending western history visual culture and memory studies Prescott's pathbreaking analysis is enhanced by a rich selection of color and black and white photographs depicting the statues along with detailed maps that executed witches victims of terrorism and dead astronauts along with those that pay tribute to civil rights organ donors and the end of Communism have dotted the American landscape Equally ubiquitous though until now less the subject of serious inquiry are temporary memorials spontaneous offerings of flowers and candles that materialize at sites of tragic and traumatic death In Memorial Mania Erika Doss argues that these memorials underscore our obsession with issues of memory and history and the urgent desire to express and claim those issues in visibly public contexts Doss shows how this desire to memorialize the past disposes itself to individual anniversaries and personal grievances to stories of tragedy and trauma and to the social and political agendas of diverse numbers of Americans By offering a framework for understanding these sites Doss engages the larger issues behind our culture of commemoration Driven by heated struggles over identity and the Man Robert Slifkin,2019-11-05 How leading American artists reflected on the fate of humanity in the nuclear era through monumental sculpture In the wake of the atomic bombings of Japan in 1945 artists in the United States began to question what it meant to create a work of art in a world where humanity could be rendered extinct by its own hand The New Monuments and the End of Man examines how some of the most important artists of postwar America revived the neglected tradition of the sculptural monument as a way to grapple with the cultural and existential anxieties surrounding the threat of nuclear annihilation Robert Slifkin looks at such iconic works as the industrially evocative welded steel sculptures of David Smith the austere structures of Donald Judd and the desolate yet picturesque earthworks of Robert Smithson Transforming how we understand this crucial moment in American art he traces the intersections of postwar sculptural practice with cybernetic theory science fiction cinema and literature and the political debates surrounding nuclear warfare Slifkin identifies previously unrecognized affinities of the sculpture of the 1940s and 1950s with the minimalism and land art of the 1960s and 1970s and acknowledges the important contributions of postwar artists who have been marginalized until now
