A Hero's Many Faces T. Schult, 2009-04-08 Raoul Wallenberg is remembered for his humanitarian activity on behalf of the Hungarian Jews at the end of World War II and as the Swedish diplomat who disappeared into the Soviet Gulag in 1945. This book examines how thirty-one Wallenberg monuments in twelve countries on five continents commemorate the man.

Translucent Building Skins Scott Murray, 2013-05-07 Exploring the design of innovative building enclosure systems or skins in contemporary architecture and their precedents in earlier twentieth-century modern architecture, this book examines the tectonics, the history, and the influence of translucency as a defining characteristic in architecture. Highly illustrated throughout with drawings and full-colour photographs, the book shows that translucency has been and continues to be a fertile ground for architectural experimentation. Each chapter presents a comparative analysis of two primary buildings: a recent project paired with a historical precedent, highlighting how architects in different eras have realized the distinctive effects of translucency. The included buildings span a variety of program types, ranging from a single-family residence to a factory to a synagogue Whether it is Pierre Chareau's glass lens curtain wall at the Maison de Verre Frank Lloyd Wright's wall of stacked glass tubes at the Johnson Wax Research Tower or Peter Zumthor's use of acid etched glass in a double skin envelope at the Kunsthhaus Bregenz the included projects each offer an exemplary case study of innovations in materiality and fabrication techniques Today among many contemporary architects there is an engagement with new technologies new material assemblies and new priorities such as sustainability and energy efficiency A resurgent interest in translucency as a defining quality in buildings has been an important part of this recent dialogue and this book makes essential reading for any architect looking to incorporate aspects of translucency into their buildings John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture

Anuradha Chatterjee,2017-10-02 Through the theoretical lenses of dress studies gender science and visual studies this volume analyses the impact John Ruskin has had on architecture throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It explores Ruskin's different ideologies such as the adorned wall veil which were instrumental in bringing focus to structures that were previously unconsidered John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture examines the ways in which Ruskin perceives the evolution of architecture through the idea that architecture is surface The creative act in architecture analogous to the divine act of creation was viewed as a form of dressing By adding highly aesthetic features to designs taking inspiration from the veil of women's clothing Ruskin believed that buildings could be transformed into meaningful architecture This volume discusses the importance of Ruskin's surface theory and the myth of feminine architecture and additionally presents a competing theory of textile analogy in architecture based on morality and gender to counter Gottfried Semper's historicist perspective This book would be beneficial to students and academics of architectural history and theory gender studies and visual studies who wish to delve into Ruskin's theories and to further understand his capacity for thinking beyond the historical methods The book will also be of interest to architectural practitioners particularly Ruskin's theory of surface architecture Rafael Moneo, 1986-1992 José Rafael Moneo,1992 Total Latin American Architecture Ana de

Architecture R. Stephen Sennott, 2004 For more information including the introduction a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample pages and more visit the Encyclopedia of 20th Century Architecture website Focusing on architecture from all regions of the world this three volume set profiles the twentieth century's vast chronicle of architectural achievements both within and well beyond the theoretical confines of modernism Unlike existing works this encyclopedia examines the complexities of rapidly changing global conditions that have dispersed modern architectural types movements styles and building practices across traditional geographic and cultural boundaries Four Museums Stefan Buzas,2004 The book presents four of the most important contemporary museums of the world Each essay details the unique design concepts of each museum illustrated with interior and exterior details Totem and taboo in architectural imagination Alessandro Rocca,2022-05-18 Identify powerful features of the architecture of the present time seeking to illuminate hidden knowledge and processes through a few key concepts The image apparently it seems so essential to understand today's architecture but which on closer analysis turns out instead to be an absence an unsolved problem an enigma hidden behind a culture secretly afflicted by iconoclasm Post production and montage so relevant in the avant garde and now fixed as an indispensable but often hidden creative component The parody the hidden but almost always present humor that corrodes the immediate message of architecture and makes it more unstable and above all more interesting Ornament a component censored by Modernism that today is once again the protagonist in new guises The relationship with the classic a secret affair that remains as a founding root of Western architecture Unexpected Affinities Pablo Meninato,2018-05-23 While the concept of type has been present in architectural discourse since its formal introduction at the end of the eighteenth century its role in the development of architectural projects has not been comprehensively analyzed This book proposes a reassessment of architectural type throughout history and its impact on the development of architectural theory and practice Beginning with Laugier's 1753 Essay on Architecture Unexpected Affinities The History of Type in the Architectural Project from Laugier to Duchamp traces type through nineteenth and twentieth century architectural movements and theories culminating in a discussion of the affinities between architectural type and Duchamp's concept of the ready-made Includes over sixty black and white images Harvard Design Magazine,2004 New Stone Architecture David Dernie,2003 A discussion of stone construction and the nature of stone as a material Aimed at practising architects and students this study describes the new technologies that make the new stone forms possible This is followed by 33 case studies from around the world Architect Knows Best Simon Richards,2016-04-15 The idea that buildings could be used to reform human behaviour and improve society was fundamental to the modernist architecture and planning of people like Walter Gropius Le Corbusier and Jos Luis Sert in the first half of the 20th century Their proposals for functional zoning multi level transport high rise living and machine inspired aesthetics came under attack from the 1950s onwards and many alternative approaches to architecture and planning emerged It was thought that the environmental determinist strand of the discourse was killed off at this time as well This book argues that it was not but on the contrary that it has deepened and diversified Many of the most prominent architect planners continue to design with a view to improving the behaviour of individual people and of society at large By looking at and interviewing major figures and movements of recent years in Britain Europe and America including Leon Krier Peter Eisenman Andres Duany Jane Jacobs Robert Venturi and Denise Scott Brown it demonstrates the myriad ways that architect planners seek to shape human behaviour through buildings In doing so the book raises awareness of this strand within the discourse and examines its different purposes and manifestations It questions whether it is an ineradicable and beneficial part of architecture and planning or a regrettable throwback to a more authoritarian phase discusses why is it seldom acknowledged directly and whether it could be handled more responsibly and with greater understanding Richards does not provide any simple solutions but in conclusion is critical of architect planners who abuse the rhetoric of social reform simply to leverage their attempts to secure building commissions while being more sympathetic towards those who appear to have a sincere desire to improve society through their buildings
