Wylder's Hand Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, It was late in the autumn and I was skimming along through a rich English county in a postchaise among tall hedgerows gilded like all the landscape with the slanting beams of sunset The road makes a long and easy descent into the little town of Gylingden and down this we were going at an exhilarating pace and the jingle of the vehicle sounded like sledge bells in my ears and its swaying and jerking were pleasant and life like I fancy I was in one of those moods which under similar circumstances I sometimes experience still a semi narcotic excitement silent but delightful An undulating landscape with a homely farmstead here and there and plenty of old English timber scattered grandly over it extended mistily to my right on the left the road is overtopped by masses of noble forest The old park of Brandon lies there more than four miles from end to end These masses of solemn and discoloured verdure the faint but splendid lights and long filmy shadows the slopes and hollows my eyes wandered over them all with that strange sense of unreality and that mingling of sweet and bitter fancy with which we revisit a scene familiar in very remote and early childhood and which has haunted a long interval of maturity and absence like a romantic reverie Wylder's
