The Lover's Progress David Solway, Marion Wagschal, 2001 Between 1733 and 1735 William Hogarth produced a series of paintings and engravings under the title of A Rake s Progress which became perhaps his best known and most admired work In this sequence he told a story of a young parvenu who having inherited a fortune resolves to emulate the stereotypical profligate and arranges his life according to the standard formula When the dust settles we are left with a cautionary tale curiously neutralized to some extent by an extraordinary profusion of choreographic detail and an astonishing technical virtuosity compelling delight and approval or possibly resistance in the aesthetic rather than the moral dimension Motivated by Hogarth s example David Solway tells the story of a representative figure a lover of our own anarchic era which is in some ways very similar to the dissolute and ostentatious period the painter anatomized Solway has equipped the lover with a sketchy CV he is an inveterate traveller or perhaps cruiser is a better word and diarist with an introspective bent but he is also a confirmed voluptuary prone to distraction and not without a streak of coarseness in his nature Illustrations detailing critical moments in the lover s career have been contributed by renowned Montr al artist Marion Wagschal

CinemaTexas Notes Louis Black, Collins Swords, 2018-02-26 Austin s thriving film culture renowned for international events such as SXSW and the Austin Film Festival extends back to the early 1970s when students in the Department of Radio Television Film at the University of Texas at Austin ran a film programming unit that screened movies for students and the public Dubbed CinemaTexas the program offered viewers a wide variety of films old and new mainstream classic and cult at a time when finding and watching films after their first run was very difficult and prohibitively expensive For each film RTF graduate students wrote program notes that included production details a sampling of critical reactions and an original essay that placed the film and its director within context and explained the movie's historical significance. Over time, CinemaTexas Program Notes became more ambitious and were distributed around the world, including to luminaries such as film critic Pauline Kael. This anthology gathers a sampling of CinemaTexas Program Notes organized into four sections: USA Film History, Hollywood Auteurs, Cinema Fists, Renegade Talents, and America's Shadow Cinema. Many of the note writers have become prominent film studies scholars as well as leading figures in the film, TV, music, and video game industries. As a collection, CinemaTexas Notes strongly contradicts the notion of an effortlessly formed American film canon, showing instead how local film cultures, whether in Austin, New York, or Europe, have forwarded the development of film studies as a discipline.

The Reader's Digest De Witt Wallace, Lila Acheson Wallace, 1928 The Routledge Companion to Religion and Film John C. Lyden, 2009-05-07

The Routledge Companion to Religion and Film brings together a lively and experienced team of contributors to introduce students to the key topics in religion and film and to investigate the ways in which the exciting subject of religion and film is developing for more experienced scholars. Divided into four parts, the Companion analyzes the history of the interaction of religion and film through periods of censorship as well as appreciation of the medium, studies religion in film, examining how the world's major religions as well as Postcolonial Japanese and New Religions are depicted by and within films, uses diverse methodologies to explore religion and film such as psychoanalytical, theological, and feminist approaches, and audience reception. It analyzes religious themes in film, including Redemption, the Demonic Jesus or Christ Figures, Heroes and Superheroes, considers films as diverse as The Passion of the Christ, The Matrix, Star Wars, and Groundhog Day. This definitive book provides an accessible resource to this emerging field and is an indispensable guide to religion and film for students of Religion, Film Studies, and beyond.

A Lover's Discourse Roland Barthes, 1978

Barthes's most popular and unusual performance as a writer is A Lover's Discourse, a writing out of the discourse of love. This language primarily the complaints and reflections of the lover when alone, not exchanges of a lover with his or her partner, is unfashionable. Though it is spoken by millions of people, diffused in our popular romances and television programs as well as in serious literature, there is no institution that explores, maintains, modifies, judges, repeats, and otherwise assumes responsibility for this discourse. Writing out the figures of a neglected discourse, Barthes surprises us in A Lover's Discourse by making love in its most absurd and sentimental forms an object of interest.

Jonathan Culler Film Remakes NA, 2016-10-03

This is the first book to provide a comprehensive and systematic account of the phenomenon of cinematic remaking. Drawing upon recent theories of genre and intertextuality, Film Remakes describes remaking as both an elastic concept and a complex situation, one enabled and limited by the interrelated roles and practices of industry, critics, and audiences. This approach to remaking is developed across three broad sections: the first deals with issues of production, including commerce and authors; the second considers genre, plots, and structures; and the third investigates issues of reception, including audiences and institutions.

Interdisciplinary Reflections on the Interplay between Religion, Film and Youth Anita Cloete, 2019-07-05 The relationship between the media and religion in a contemporary world is not only obvious but also complex In a culture that increasingly focuses on visual media film plays a salient role in forging notions of identity and creates a sense of community in younger generations In this book an interdisciplinary team of scholars delve deep into the relationship amongst younger individuals from different countries universities and disciplines as well the influence of film on their developing worldview The publication ultimately portrays the media as an agent of cultural and religious change underscoring the necessity of critical contextual and interdisciplinary reflection on the interplay between the media and religion

In the Eye of the Beholder Gary Richard Edgerton, Michael T. Marsden, John G. Nachbar, 1997 Scholars from communication studies as well as film and television studies address a variety of texts from Ken Burns's The Civil War to the midnight cult film The Rocky Horror Picture Show Part one focuses on perennial subject areas related to authorship and reception Part two addresses an assortment of postmodern and multicultural screen representations paying closest attention to matters of gender race ethnicity and the disabled Paper edition unseen 24 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

From the Tourist's Gaze Pietro Agnoletto, 2025-06-27 From the Tourist's Gaze bridges environmental humanities and amateur cinema studies exploring tourism induced environmental issues through the visual representations created by tourists themselves The protagonists of the book are families from North West Italy and their holiday films captured during their holidays in the Ligurian Riviera The timeframe spans between the 1950s and 1970s the so called Italian economic miracle a period in which Italy experienced an extraordinary and rapid economic growth and consequentially a rise in living standards including tourism and film cameras accessibility Radical environmental transformations such as the industrialization and cementing of spaces or the conversion of entire coastlines into territories equipped to receive masses of tourists were just one of the consequences studied from a myriad of sources but never through amateur films The most illustrative case is the Ligurian Riviera which has been regarded as an example of land consumption since those contemporary years Despite being centered on a specific case study readers will be equipped with practical tools to enhance their study of historical amateur films These tools are introduced through innovative methodological approaches to archival research and visual analysis The results will highlight the visual imagery of mid 20th century tourists and their perspectives on the destinations they visited offering fresh visually oriented insights that contribute to the field of tourism studies As a visual journey through mid 20th century Italian tourism and its environmental narratives it may interest cultural geographers tourism and media scholars and the broader group of environmental humanists the latter will have the opportunity to explore amateur cinema as an untapped resource for understanding cultural narratives while amateur cinema scholars will have an example of a fresh and different approach to their subject It can also give new insights to archivists specialized in home movies and be appealing to scholars and intellectuals interested in these topics
