Employing Community-Based Experiential Learning in Teacher Education Gary Harfitt, Jessie Mei Ling Chow, 2020-07-18 This book positions itself at the intersection of the interrelationship between three key areas of initial teacher education constructivist learning theories teaching practicum and the promotion of reflective practices It presents an innovative approach to teacher preparation at undergraduate and postgraduate levels by critically examining the implementation of a mandatory experiential learning block across subject disciplines on undergraduate and postgraduate teacher preparation courses This book presents multiple examples and case studies of these varied experiential learning projects that will inform academics teachers and policymakers Through these rich examples the authors set out to address the theory practice dilemma in teacher education where teachers to be are often positioned as consumers of educational research in classrooms read reference books and academic papers on teaching and observe university and school experts before applying the same acquired theories and practices in their own classes In the book the authors argue for a shift away from this conventional teacher learning curriculum that is characterised by the separation of theory and practice choosing instead to promote pedagogy and methods courses where practice underpins all learning These pedagogical perspectives include the promotion of a diverse range of learning contexts including on and off campus learning sites for student teachers to experience during their time on teacher education courses

The Practice of Constructivism in Science Education Kenneth G. Tobin, 2012-11-12 This volume provides a needed elaboration of theories and potential applications of constructivism in science education Although the term constructivism is used widely there has been a dearth of materials to guide science educators concerning the potential of constructivism to influence what is done in the field In fact there has been a tendency for constructivism to be viewed as a method that can be used in a classroom This view tends to diminish the power of constructivism as a way of thinking about education and in particular about science education The chapters in this book address the need to document the theoretical roots of constructivism and to describe how practitioners have applied constructivist oriented beliefs in the practice of K 12 teaching of science and mathematics as well as teacher education Not only does this book contain different theoretical perspectives on constructivism but it also features a chapter that critiques constructivism as an epistemology Specific topics covered include cooperative learning the negotiation of meaning problem centered learning social construction of knowledge science in culturally diverse settings curriculum planning and implementation and instructional technology Issues associated with the preparation and enhancement of science teachers and the reform of science education are also explored Language Teacher Education Jon Roberts,2016-04-29 Language Teacher Education is an introduction to language teacher training and development for teachers and providers in pre service and in service programmes The text outlines the main theories of human learning and applies them to teacher education Based on a broadly social constructivist perspective it suggests a framework for planning pre service and in service programmes and is illustrated both with case studies from a range of training situations around the world and appendices containing teacher education materials Language Teacher Education is intended to inform readers practical decisions and to help them build their own theories of teacher learning Whispers of Hope Malli Schreiber Holoshitz,2005 The focus of the dissertation is the vocabulary that describes the issues surrounding the areas of Jerusalem and Eretz Israel that are at the heart of the Arab Israeli conflict as found in history textbooks used by teachers and students in Israel and historical biographies that are recommended readings for those young adults who seek to read more about the historical period and the historical protagonist Resources in Education ,2001-10 Factors in Preschool Teachers' Appropriation of an Innovative Mathematics Curriculum Irene Chang,2005 The Palgrave Handbook of Teacher Education Research Ian Menter,2023-03-24 This handbook presents a timeless comprehensive and up to date resource covering major issues in the field of teacher education research In a global landscape where migration inequality climate change political upheavals and strife continue to be broadly manifest governments and scholars alike are increasingly considering what role education systems can play in achieving stability and managed sustainable economic development With growing awareness that the quality of education is very closely related to the quality of teachers and teaching teacher education has moved into a key position in international debate and discussion This volume brings together transnational perspectives to provide insight and evidence of current policy and practice in the field covering issues such as teacher supply preservice education continuing professional learning leadership development professionalism and identity comparative and policy studies as well as gender equity and social justice White Teachers' Thinking about Racism Heather Ann MacLeod,2008 Effective Literacy Education for the Inner City African American Males Pauline Pearson Hathorn,2005 Teacher Education Programs and Online Learning Tools: Innovations in Teacher Preparation Hartshorne,

Richard,Heafner, Tina L.,Petty, Teresa,2012-07-31 While online learning has become pervasive in many fields in higher education it has been adopted somewhat slower in teacher education In addition more research is needed to empirically evaluate the effectiveness of online education in teacher preparation Teacher Education Programs and Online Learning Tools Innovations in Teacher Preparation presents information about current online practices and research in teacher education programs and explores the opportunities methods and issues surrounding technologically innovative opportunities in teacher preparation It presents empirical evidence of teacher candidate learning and assessment in the context of various online aspects of teacher licensure Handbook of Research on Facilitating Collaborative Learning Through Digital

Content and Learning Technologies Keengwe, Jared,2022-12-28 Digital content and learning technologies are now the norm at all levels of education However there is evidence to suggest that this digital shift is on a spectrum and the spectrum impacts learners in different ways This means that some instructors who seek to integrate digital content may do so using traditional teaching methods while others use innovative practices to engage learners Those who integrate innovative digital practices align their instructional practice with theories to facilitate student centered pedagogies that support and improve the depth and scope of student learning A primary characteristic of student centered learning is facilitating collaborative learning using digital content and learning technologies to engage students as well as to enhance meaningful learning The Handbook of Research on Facilitating Collaborative Learning Through Digital Content and Learning Technologies provides K 20 educators with alternative pedagogical and andragogical models that are innovative and incorporate digital content and learning technologies that promote constructive learning Further this book explores the relationship between constructivist learning digital content and learning technologies A primary argument in this book is that constructivist teaching strategies such as collaborative learning coupled with digital content and purposeful learning technologies could benefit student learning in ways that are different from those practiced in traditional non digital learning environments Covering topics such as instructional design self efficacy and library engagement this major reference work is an essential resource for pre service teachers teacher educators faculty and administrators of K 20 education librarians researchers and academicians
