Moral Education and the Liberal Arts Michael Mitias, 1992-01-22 This collection of essays explores the importance of moral education to the liberal arts and discusses how moral education fosters character development The contributors examine the meaning of moral education the rationale for promoting ethical values in an academic environment and the conditions under which morality can best be taught

Art History and the Liberal Arts Peter G. Beal, 1998 Art - Ethics - Education, 2020-08-03 This book can be viewed as a series of investigations into the ongoing imbrications of the practices of art ethics and education as conducted within each author's specific context of practice as artist educator researcher It constitutes an international anthology of explorations that are by no means exclusive but conscious of the ongoing iterations mutations and individuations of relations between art ethics and education which in turn seek to expand how we might conceive these terms as practices This ongoing evolution reminds us that as practices art ethics and education are always incomplete processes affected by and affecting their specific milieus and environments Chapters within the book cover a wide range of ethical questions and educational contexts broaching subjects as varied as higher education artificial intelligence animal ethics transcultural encounters collaborative art the education of senior citizens and experiences of conflict Art ethics and education are not conceived in terms of established orders representations ideals criteria or bodies of knowledge and practice but rather in terms of dynamic relational processes and their potentialities that arise within specific locations cartographies and ecologies of practice The notions of art ethics and education are viewed in terms of assemblages that have the capacity to generate new modes of practice that may question established values and advance new overlappings of aesthetic ethical and political relations Contributors are Dennis Atkinson Hashim Al Azzam John Baldacchino Bazon Brock Carl Peter Busch hle Sahin Celikten Ana Dimke Brian Grassom Leena Hannula Brian Hughes jan jagodzinski Timo Jokela Mira Kallio Tavin Joachim Kettel Guillermo Marini Catarina Martins Joe Sacco Francisco Schwember Juuso Tervo Raphael Vella and Branka Vujanovic Proceedings of the 2025 3rd International Conference on Language, Innovative Education and Cultural Communication (CLEC 2025) Andrea L. Debating Moral Education Elizabeth Kiss, J. Peter Euben, 2010-01-25 Collection of essays that consider the role of ethics in the university

The Schooled Heart Michael D. Beaty, Douglas V. Henry, 2007 The Schooled

Heart addresses a basic question about the nature of the university should moral education figure among the university's purposes. This volume offers an affirmative response to that question. A central purpose of the university is the moral formation of students what Beaty and Henry call the schooling of the heart. The Dismantling of Moral Education Perry L. Glanzer, 2022-02-20 American educators have consistently splintered our humanity into pieces throughout higher education's history. Although key leaders of America's colonial colleges shared a common functional understanding of humans as made in God's image with a robust but vulnerable moral conscience, latter moral philosophers did not build upon that foundation. Instead, they turned to shards of our identity to help students find their moral bearings. They sought to create ladies and gentlemen, honorable students, and finally good professionals. As a result, fragmentation ensued as university leaders pitted these identity fragments against each other, inciting a war of attrition. As the war of identities raged, its effects spilled out beyond the bounds of the curriculum into the co-curricular dimension that struggled with moving beyond being en loco parentis. The major identity they cultivated was that of being a political citizen. Thus, the major identity and story of students' lives became the American political story of democracy, what I call Meta Democracy. In higher education guided by Meta Democracy, students lose their autonomy to administrators who reduce the student identities they try to develop along with the range of virtues that comprise the good life.

The Dismantling of Moral Education: How Higher Education Reduced the Human Identity explains why and how we arrived at diminishing ourselves. Christianity and Moral Identity in Higher Education P. Glanzer, T. Ream, 2009-11-23 This book offers examples from both Christian and secular democratic institutions of higher education and then responds to possible criticisms about how moral education in a comprehensive humanist moral tradition may short change diversity, autonomy, and critical thinking. Epistemologies and Ethics in Adult Education and Lifelong Learning Richard G. Bagnall, Steven Hodge, 2022-02-17 This book presents and advocates for a framework of competing epistemologies and conceptions of ethics as a way of understanding modernist lifelong learning. These epistemologies are grounded in a recognition of the normative nature of knowledge that informs lifelong learning, each being framed by a different account of the sort of knowledge that is most valued and therefore foregrounded in lifelong learning policy provision and engagement informed by the epistemology. Each epistemology is also characterised by its constituent conception of ethics. Four such epistemologies and conceptions of ethics are here recognised as having been important in the lifelong learning movement to date: disciplinary, developmental, emancipatory, and design. The authors argue that assumptions about knowledge and moral positions constitute a powerful but not well understood feature of such arguments; awareness of these assumptions and positions could serve to powerfully advance the overall understanding of what is at stake in lifelong learning and adult education at all levels. Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty-First Century - Volume I Ismail Sirageldin, 2008-12-31 Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty-First Century is a component of Encyclopedia of Human Resources Policy Development and Management in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems (EOLSS) which is an integrated compendium of twenty Encyclopedias The volume of Human Development examines the state and nature of human development and identifies factors that determine its promotion for the twenty first century A general goal since the ultimate goal for human development is to enhance the quality of human life However the concept quality of human life is not well defined It is determined by a set of interrelated factors that cut across many disciplines with varied perspectives and paradigms These include the prevailing culture health status economic performance technological development political and social conditions the building of human capacity and capabilities and institutional development on the local and global levels For example in an environment characterized by a better quality of human life it is expected that people will be able to lead long and productive lives They are also expected to enjoy good health have access to knowledge and educational opportunities and be treated by all with respect in a socially equitable and dignified manner In the sphere of political economy they are expected to have the opportunity to participate in governance decisions that affect their lives and the community in which they live and to have the potential to earn sufficient income to supply themselves with adequate nutrition shelter and other material and aesthetic needs Furthermore people are expected to maintain a sustainable environment and equitable social contracts across space and generations especially in the context of the evolving global governance The volume of Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty First Century is divided into five topics which are then expanded into multiple subtopics each as a chapter presented in two volumes The first is Major issues in Human Development and provides an over view of the Topic with emphasis on the sociological foundation of human development The second Topic Diversity and Historical Processes reviews the historical and technological processes which have led to the present state of human diversity and differentiation The third Topic Causes of Global Change focuses on whether it is possible in the present global environment to enlarge people s capabilities so that economic progress may be translated into a multidimensional human happiness The fourth Topic Consequences of Global Change examines global change not in the narrow sense of short term economic change but rather as historical waves of long term development The fifth Topic on Planning Strategies reviews current practice and projects challenges in the next century These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers and NGOs

The Humanities in Contemporary Chinese Contexts Evelyn T. Y. Chan, Michael O'Sullivan, 2016-10-22 This book brings together the perspectives of eminent and emerging scholars on contemporary issues relevant to the practice pedagogy and institutionalization of the humanities in the three Chinese contexts of Hong Kong Taiwan and mainland China It addresses the need to investigate how humanities discussions often exclusively drawn from and grounded in western contexts are today being played out in these three places The humanities in contemporary Chinese contexts may have different social and pedagogical roles and a consideration of them will enable people to moderate and perhaps even refute claims made in the recent re readings of the humanities As Asian universities rise in the global rankings and as east west university collaborations and partnerships become more common it is important that the nature practice and institutionalization of the humanities in Hong Kong Taiwan and mainland China are explored and described for English readers Exploring new perspectives arising from an examination of the humanities in these places this volume aims neither to establish a position of polarity which would pit western sites against Chinese ones nor to argue for universal sameness Rather the goal is to find nuanced correspondences and differences between these various backgrounds so that there is a greater understanding of the specificities of Chinese contexts This will help shed light not only on the contexts in question but also potentially on how to rearticulate the importance of the humanities in general creating an intercultural dialogue focused on the humanities As the global university strives to move the different traditions of learning closer together through international rankings rubrics and shared research agendas it is important that we explore these locations of potential cultural exchange

Toward Assessing Business Ethics Education Diane L. Swanson, Dann G. Fisher, 2010-11-01 Toward Assessing

Business Ethics Education edited by Diane L Swanson and Dann G Fisher of Kansas State University is a sequel to their book Advancing Business Ethics Education in the Ethics in Practice IAP book series The focus on assessment in this second book is a timely response to the urgent search among business schools for ways to teach and assess ethics at a time when the public's faith in corporations and business schools has been undermined greatly by the failure of both to respond to widespread corruption and scandals in the business sector Although no one expects business education alone to resolve these problems the distinguished scholars represented in this book advocate that business schools should at least do their part by exposing their students to decision models that incorporate ethical dimensions on behalf of corporate stakeholders and society at large As the book's title conveys it is then important to assess key learning objectives to insure that business students graduate knowing ethics fundamentals and armed with the ability to recognize ethical dilemmas and possible solutions during the course of their careers This book will speak to all who are interested in accountability for business ethics education especially business school deans university administrators faculty members students and prospective employers This audience will find that the enterprise of assessing business ethics education is advanced in three ways First the book functions as a venue for distinguished scholars to share the innovative ways that they are assessing ethics coverage in courses and degree programs Second these authors identify what needs to be assessed and the means for doing so Third the book serves not only as a guide to assessment but also as a platform for expanding and improving ethics coverage in business schools Moreover an important take away for readers is the provision of a simple formula first advocated by Diane L Swanson and William C Frederick University of Pittsburgh in 2005 for delivering ethics education that minimizes assessment errors By following this formula business schools can provide assurances that ethics will not be assessed as being sufficient when it is woefully inadequate or even missing in the curriculum and that it cannot be distorted diluted or trivialized by uninformed coverage and still pass inspection Avoiding these assessment errors is critical in an educational environment in which weak accrediting standards for ethics go hand in hand with spotty uniformed coverage that would not be tolerated for other business disciplines

Cautionary Tales in the Ethics of Lifelong Learning Policy and Management Richard G.

Bagnall, 2004-05-31 This work is concerned with appraising the contemporary ethical impact of lifelong learning ideology and advocacy on education through focusing on trends in educational policy and management that flow from the ideology It has its origins in the author's concern that many of those trends are being defined and promoted or opposed without an adequate understanding of their ethical dimensions The 21 trends examined in this work are seen as defining important dimensions of the quite radical changes in educational policy and management that are flowing from the practical realisation of lifelong learning ideology and advocacy In here evaluating those trends from an ethical perspective the thesis is developed that they lead inevitably to distinctive ethical dilemmas or tensions in the lived experience of educational participants The dilemmas though are not seen as realities that can intelligently be either avoided or resolved They are rather inescapable features of the trends although they and the experience of them may be managed intelligently to a greater or lesser extent This analysis is premised on the belief that an understanding of the dilemmas may be of practical value in assisting educators and policy makers and managers to live and work more intelligently with them and to better manage the educational changes that are defined by the trends It may thereby contribute to moderating the excesses sillinesses and inanities so often evident in the directing and managing of reforms associated with the trends and to reduce the anguish and pain associated with them
