Primitive Classification Émile Durkheim, Marcel Mauss, 1978 Primitive Classification Émile David Durkheim, Marcel Mauss, 1963

Primitive Classification (Routledge Revivals) Émile Durkheim, Marcel Mauss, 2009-10-14 Claims that the individual mind is capable of classification and they seek the origin of the classificatory function in society This title argues that the mode of classification is determined by the form of society and that the notions of space time hierarchy number class and other such cognitive categories are products of society Categories and Classifications N. J. Allen, 2000 From reflections on such works in translation as the 1938 essay The Person by seminal French sociocultural anthropologist Marcel Mauss 1872 1950 and Primitive Classification 1903 which Mauss coauthored with his uncle mentor sociologist Emile Durkheim Allen offers his Maussian influenced ideas on the origins of human society magic religion and Indo European ideology Only the last chapter is original to this text The titles and dates of Mauss lectures are appended The author acknowledges the Institute of Social and Cultural Anthropology at Oxford c Book News Inc Culture David Cheal, 2003 An international collection of influential texts on the concept of family and related issues with introductory chapters for each volume

Debating Durkheim Herminio Martins, William Pickering, 2012-11-12 Leading International scholars are brought together in Debating Durkheim to discuss controversial issues in the work of this increasingly important founding father of sociology The subjects covered relate to Durkheim s Jewish background and its influence on his life and thought to a positive reinterpretation of Durkheim s study of primitive thought in terms of social classification an attempt to shed new light on his book on methodology The Rules which has been much criticised a philosophical and sympathetic analysis of the notion of the social a discussion of Durkheim s sociology of morals based on a study of social facts a careful consideration of the problems of Durkheim s references to state nation and patriotism and finally an application of The Rules to data relating to first names and raising the issue of social imitation As these essays will show Durkheim raises basic issues which must be examined if contemporary society is to be understood William Pickering has devoted much of his academic life to the study of Durkheim

European primitivism indigenous cultures children and the mentally ill To Take Place Jonathan Z. Smith, 1987 In this broad ranging inquiry into ritual and its relation to place Jonathan Z Smith prepares the way for a new approach to the comparative study of religion Smith stresses the importance of place in particular constructed ritual environments to a proper understanding of the ways in which empty actions become rituals He structures his argument around the territories of the Tjilpa aborigines in Australia and two sites in Jerusalem the temple envisioned by Ezekiel and the Church of the Holy Sepulchre The first of these locales the focus of one of the more important contemporary theories of religious ritual allows Smith to raise questions concerning the enterprise of comparison His close examination of Eliade's influential interpretation of the Tjilpa tradition leads to a powerful critique of the approach to religion myth and ritual that begins with cosmology and the category of The Sacred In substance and in method To Take Place represents a significant advance toward a theory of ritual It is of great value not only to historians of religion and students of ritual but to all whether social scientists or humanists who are concerned with the nature of place This book is extraordinarily stimulating in prompting one to think about the ways in which space or place is perceived marked and utilized religiously A provocative example of the application of humanistic geography to our understanding of what takes place in religion Dale Goldsmith Interpretation Classical Approaches to the Study of Religion Jacques Waardenburg, 1999 Originally publ Mouton 1973 Religion and Reason 3
