

TABLE 1

KEY CONCEPTS OF RESEARCH, EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE, AND QUALITY IMPROVEMENT, INCLUDING APPLICATION EXAMPLES

Methods of inquiry concepts	Application examples
Research Provides a scientific basis for the practice of the profession Intended to generate new knowledge Systematic process to answer clinical questions with identified knowledge gaps in the literature Institutional review board oversight needed	Literature supports the use of peer-to-peer feedback in providing opportunities for personal and professional growth and promoting a safety culture. However, gaps were identified in the practice and process of performing peer-to-peer evaluations among clinical nurses within a given organization. Thus, a descriptive exploratory study was conducted to understand the in-patient nurses' perceptions of peer-to-peer feedback and the facilitators and barriers to performing peer-to-peer evaluations.
Evidence-based practice Problem-solving approach to clinical decision-making in health care Integrates the best and latest scientific evidence Uses critical thinking in the judicious application of evidence in current practice Incorporates the patient's preferences in its application May be used as a foundation/platform for establishing a practice standard of care	An intensive care unit nurse returned from a critical care conference that showcased the use of the proning position for awake patients with COVID-19. She reviewed the literature, gathered evidence to support the practice, collaborated with key interprofessional stakeholders, and implemented the practice of awake proning for patients with COVID-19.
Quality improvement Systematic and continuous actions Goal is measurable improvements in existing health care services Targeted population health May be used when a drift is observed in an established standard of practice	Because of the influx of patients with COVID-19 needing central line insertion, one of the nurses deemed competent in placing peripherally inserted central catheters developed a workflow modification that cut the time of peripherally inserted central catheter insertion from 2 hours to 45 minutes. Using the Plan-Do-Study-Act model as a framework, the team established targets, implemented the change, and on an ongoing basis, collected and evaluated the data based on the new workflow.
