Technological Perspectives on Behavioral Change Michael Brian Schiffer, 2022-08-30 Human societies have always been characterized by a dependence on artifacts from prehistoric stone tools to modern electronic devices Technology responds to and affects virtually all human behavior yet the interdependence of behavior and artifacts has never been studied intensively Archaeologist Schiffer now draws on his discipline's familiarity with artifacts and the processes of change they reveal to offer new insight into the study of behavioral change Drawing on case studies that deal with changes in architecture ceramics and electronic technology he emphasizes the central idea that the explanations of change must focus on the nexus of behavior and artifacts in the context of activities
