Fulcher, Thomas Ertman, 2007-05-03 This edited volume brings together academic specialists writing on the multi media operatic form from a range of disciplines comparative literature history sociology and philosophy The presence in the volume's title of Pierre Bourdieu the leading cultural sociologist of the late twentieth century signals the editors intention to synthesise advances in social science with advances in musicological and other scholarship on opera Through a focus on opera in Italy and France the contributors to the volume draw on their respective disciplines both to expand our knowledge of opera's history and to demonstrate the kinds of contributions that stand to be made by different disciplines to the study of opera. The volume is divided into three sections each of which is preceded by a concise and informative introduction explaining how the chapters in that section contribute to our understanding of opera.

Desire and Excess Jonah Siegel, 2021-05-11 In this fascinating look at the creative power of institutions Jonah Siegel explores the rise of the modern idea of the artist in the nineteenth century a period that also witnessed the emergence of the museum and the professional critic. Treating these developments as interrelated he analyzes both visual material and literary texts to portray a culture in which art came to be thought of in powerful new ways. Ultimately Siegel shows that artistic controversies commonly associated with the self-consciously radical movements of modernism and postmodernism have their roots in a dynamic era unfairly characterized as staid self-satisfied and stable. The nineteenth century has been called the Age of the Museum and yet critics, art theorists and poets during this period grappled with the question of whether the proliferation of museums might lead to the death of Art itself. Did the assembly and display of works of art help the viewer to understand them or did it numb the senses? How was the contemporary artist to respond to the vast storehouses of art from disparate nations and periods that came to proliferate in this era? Siegel presents a lively discussion of the shock experienced by neoclassical artists troubled by remains of antiquity that were trivial or even obscene as well as the anxious aesthetic reveries of nineteenth-century art lovers overwhelmed by the quantity of objects quickly crowding museums and exhibition halls. In so doing he illuminates the fruitful crises provoked when the longing for admired art is suddenly satisfied. Drawing upon neoclassical art and theory biographies of early nineteenth-century writers including Keats and Scott and the writings of art critics such as Hazlitt, Ruskin and Wilde this book reproduces a cultural matrix that brings to life the artistic passions and anxieties of an entire era.

A Cultural History of the Violin in Nineteenth-Century London Tom Wilder, 2025-03-18 Examines the violin's evolution as not just instrument but valued objet d'art through the eyes of musicians, collectors, makers, dealers, connoisseurs, journalists, auctioneers and traders. The nineteenth century saw developments in the composition, performance and reception of classical music that led to an unprecedented shift in how the violin was appreciated from humble craft object to one of art. A utilitarian tool defined in 1800 by its tonal properties became by century's end an expensive objet d'art classified almost exclusively in terms of physical, visible properties. In London's vibrant musical life Cremonese violins acquired special significance and in turn helped shape the beliefs, knowledge and behaviour of the disparate actors connected to the instrument: musicians, collectors, makers, dealers, connoisseurs, journalists, auctioneers and traders. By 1880 London had supplanted Paris as the centre of the international violin trade. One firm in particular W. E. Hill Sons emerged as a major presence in both the local musical community and the global violin market. The Hills were makers, restorers, dealers and connoisseurs. They were also writers, collectors and melomaniacs deeply implicated in London's instrument auction and exhibition scene The mutually reinforcing nature of these activities which they consciously turned to account for commercial reasons bear witness to events and developments earlier in the century Their story illuminates this first study of the violin s nineteenth century journey from simple musical instrument to mystified work of art British Romanticism and the Reception of Italian Old Master Art, 1793-1840 Maureen McCue, 2016-05-23 As a result of Napoleon s campaigns in Italy Old Master art flooded into Britain and its acquisition became an index of national prestige Maureen McCue argues that their responses to these works informed the writing of Romantic period authors enabling them to forge often surprising connections between Italian art the imagination and the period s political social and commercial realities Dr McCue examines poetry plays novels travel writing exhibition catalogues early guidebooks and private experiences recorded in letters and diaries by canonical and noncanonical authors including Felicia Hemans William Buchanan Henry Sass Pierce Egan William Hazlitt Percy Shelley Lord Byron Anna Jameson Maria Graham Callcott and Samuel Rogers Her exploration of the idea of connoisseurship shows the ways in which a knowledge of Italian art became a key marker of cultural standing that was no longer limited to artists and aristocrats while her chapter on the literary production of post Waterloo Britain traces the development of a critical vocabulary equally applicable to the visual arts and literature In offering cultural historical and literary readings of the responses to Italian art by early nineteenth century writers Dr McCue illuminates the important role they played in shaping the themes that are central to our understanding of Romanticism Civilizing Rituals Carol Duncan, 2005-06-20 Illustrated with over fifty photos Civilizing Rituals merges contemporary debates with lively discussion and explores central issues involved in the making and displaying of art as industry and how it is presented to the community Carol Duncan looks at how nations institutions and private individuals present art and how art museums are shaped by cultural social and political determinants Civilizing Rituals is ideal reading for students of art history and museum studies and professionals in the field will also find much of interest here Ruthless Hedonism John O'Brian, 1999-07 Acknowledgments Prologue Matisse and the Culture Generally 1 Journalists Recasting the Image of the Modern Artist 2 Dealers Paul Rosenberg and Matisse Fils 3 Private Collectors Museum Going Millionaires with a Taste for France 4 Museums I Public Relations and the Semiprivate Museum 5 Museums II Private Relations and the Semipublic Museum 6 Artists Contending with the European Modernist Canon 7 Critics Clement Greenberg s Defense of Material Pleasure Epilogue Merchandising Optimism Notes Bibliography Index Copyright Libri GmbH All rights reserved The Aesthetic Relation Gérard Genette, 1999 One of the best known continental theorists writing today Gérard Genette here explores our aesthetic relation to works of art Through an analysis of the views of thinkers ranging from David Hume and Immanuel Kant to Monroe C Beardsley Arthur Danto and Nelson Goodman Genette seeks to identify the place of the aesthetic in a theory of artistic appreciation His discussion is rich in detailed examples drawn from all of the arts The Aesthetic Relation is a companion volume to The Work of Art Immanence and Transcendence published by Cornell in 1997 Taken together the two books offer a comprehensive theory of art which addresses the work of art as at once object and action Genette maintains that our aesthetic relation to all types of objects presupposes that special attention is paid to their outward aspect rather than to their usefulness when appraising them Such appraisals while wholly subjective and temporary are expressed as objective and universal judgments about the items in question Further he asserts that our aesthetic relation to works of art in particular is based on an awareness of an aesthetic intention that defines an object as a work of art as well as on an awareness of a work's position in its historical and generic field Revolutionary Paris and the Market for Netherlandish Art Darius A. Spieth, 2017-11-06 Seventeenth century Dutch and Flemish paintings were aesthetic intellectual and economic touchstones in the Parisian art world of the Revolutionary era but their importance within this framework while frequently acknowledged never attracted much subsequent attention Darius A. Spieth's inquiry into Revolutionary Paris and the Market for Netherlandish Art reveals the dominance of Golden Age pictures in the artistic discourse and sales transactions before during and after the French Revolution A broadly based statistical investigation undertaken as part of this study shows that the upheaval reduced prices for Netherlandish paintings by about 55% compared to the Old Regime and that it took until after the July Revolution of 1830 for art prices to return where they stood before 1789 Poetic Exhibitions Eric Gidal, 2001 In the process of tracing poetic and critical responses to the museum and its collections Poetic Exhibitions simultaneously demonstrates the impact of nationalist ideologies and scientific discourse on formal and thematic developments in Romantic poetry and aesthetics Painting the Cannon's Roar Thomas Tolley, 2017-07-05 From c 1750 to c 1810 the paths of music history and the history of painting converged with lasting consequences The publication of Newton's Opticks at the start of the eighteenth century gave a scientific basis to the analogy between sight and sound allowing music and the visual arts to be defined more closely in relation to one another This was also a period which witnessed the emergence of a larger and increasingly receptive audience for both music and the visual arts an audience which potentially included all social strata The development of this growing public and the commercial potential that it signified meant that for the first time it became possible for a contemporary artist to enjoy an international reputation Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the career of Joseph Haydn Although this phenomenon defies conventional modes of study the book shows how musical pictorialism became a major creative force in popular culture Haydn the most popular living cultural personality of the period proved to be the key figure in advancing the new relationship The connections between the composer and his audiences and leading contemporary artists including Tiepolo Mengs Kauffman Goya David Messerschmidt Louthembourg Canova Copley Fuseli Reynolds Gillray and West are examined here for the first time By the early nineteenth century populism was beginning to be regarded with scepticism and disdain Mozart was the modern Raphael Beethoven the modern Michelangelo Haydn however had no clear parallel in the accepted canon of Renaissance art Yet his recognition that ordinary people had a desire to experience simultaneous aural and visual stimulation was not altogether lost finding future exponents in Wagner and later
