Justification Robert J. Fogelin,1994-09-22 This work written from a neo Pyrrhonian perspective is an examination of contemporary theories of knowledge and justification It takes ideas primarily found in Sextus Empiricus s Outlines of Pyrrhonism restates them in a modern idiom and then asks whether any contemporary theory of knowledge meets the challenges they raise The first part entitled Gettier and the Problem of Knowledge attempts to rescue our ordinary concept of knowledge from those philosophers who have assigned burdens to it that it cannot bear Properly understood Fogelin shows that the concept of knowledge is unproblematic The second part of this study called Agrippa and the Problem of Justification examines Agrippa s contribution to Pyrrhonism a systematic reduction of its procedures which came to be known as the Five Modes Leading to the Suspension of Belief These modes present a completely general procedure for refuting any claim a dogmatist might make Though largely unnoticed there is according to Fogelin an uncanny resemblance between problems posed by Agrippa s Five Modes and those that contemporary epistemologists address under the heading of a theory of justification Fogelin examines the strongest contemporary theories of justification in both foundationalist and anti foundationalist forms The conclusion is that recent philosophical writings on justification have made no significant progress in responding to the Pyrrhonian problems these writings have addressed Reflections on Leadership Richard A. Couto,2007-04-26 In Reflections on Leadership fifteen prominent leadership scholars pay tribute to James MacGregor Burns s book Leadership a classic in the field of leadership studies The contributors address the puzzles and anomalies in his work such as the place of values in leadership leadership as a casual factor in change levels of analysis interdisciplinary approaches to the study of leadership the distance of his theory from everyday experience the absence of gender and race and more

Challenging Tradition Perry Shaw,Havilah Dharamraj,2018-03-31 The surge of theological education in the rapidly growing church of the Majority World has highlighted the inadequacy of traditional Western methods of thinking and learning to fully accomplish the task at hand The limitations of current theological education are embodied in the formation and assessment of the master s or doctoral dissertation processes that follow a linear empiricist tradition developed in the West and exported to the Majority World Challenging Tradition Innovation in Advanced Theological Studies highlights the need for these traditions to be reconsidered in every context throughout the world Drs Shaw and Dharamraj with their team of contributors present innovations in research and documentation that demonstrate how we may better prepare theological leadership through means that are contextually relevant and locally meaningful

Reflections Donald J. Young, 2014-05-09 Donald Young's poems are tight and loose at the same time the reader can move within them and the reader will feel strongly the concern the emotion the flow that carries the words along There is color music and a wonderful reliance on imagery that makes the poems a joy to read and reread But what gives the poems their energy and depth is the feeling of necessity that underlies each poem there is an idea or passion or both which strongly compels its utterance The poems are journeys toward revelation or satori sudden illumination In many cases the poems push us beyond what we could ever anticipate Herein lies the pleasure We leave Donald Young's poems enlightened deepened and thankful for the keen eye and compassionate heart
