Lost Children The Boys Who Were Neglected:

The Lost Children Paul Goble,1998-06-01 Paul Goble's The Lost Children is based on Blackfoot Native American myth; this tale movingly reminds us that all children are sacred. Six orphaned brothers neglected by their people and taunted by their peers abandon the earth for the Above World where they become the constellation known as the Pleiades.

Native North Americans in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto,Rajinder Garcha,2013-09-12 Native North Americans have rich and diverse cultures and traditions. However many misconceptions, prejudices and stereotypes exist due to the lack of understanding and ignorance of these cultures. It is important that children and adolescents learn about and appreciate the invaluable contributions that North American Native groups have made to American society. Equally important is the availability of resources that accurately and objectively portray the historical events that occurred when European settlers displaced thousands of Native North Americans from their ancestral homelands. In Native North Americans in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto and Rajinder Garcha identify hundreds of appropriate and quality resources including books, Internet sites and media titles for K-12 students and educators. Entries are subdivided into chapters covering geographic regions, history, religions, social life, customs and traditions, nations, oral tradition, biographies and fiction. Additionally, there are chapters for general reference resources, curricular resources for educators, media and Internet sites. Annotations provide complete bibliographical descriptions of the entries and each entry is identified with the grade level for which it is best suited. Reviews, awards, series and URLs for supplemental online resources are also included. Anyone, especially students, teachers, librarians and parents interested in locating useful and accurate resources regarding Native North Americans will find this reference book a helpful and essential tool.

Boys who Have Abused John Woods,Anne Alvarez,2003 The author presents a theoretical approach and practical suggestions for mental health practitioners working with young people who have abused. The book demonstrates how exploring an individual's whole life course within a psychoanalytic framework enables connections to be drawn between possible childhood abuse and subsequent abusive behaviour.

Annual Report of the Superintendent of Neglected Children Alberta. Department of the Attorney General, 1915     Railway Signal, 1895     The Elementary School Library Collection, Phases 1-2-3, 2000     The Obesity Epidemic: Causes, Context, Prevention Peter Congdon, Dickson A. Amugsi, 2022-11-08     Canada's Residential Schools: Missing Children and Unmarked Burials Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01

Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150,000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country. Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities. For children, life in these schools was lonely and alien. Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented. Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed. Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self-sustaining. Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers. Legal action by the schools' former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008. The product of over six years of research, the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation. Canada's Residential Schools: Missing Children and Unmarked Burials is the first systematic effort to record and analyze deaths at the schools and the presence and condition of student cemeteries within the regulatory context in which the schools were intended to operate. As part of its work, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada established a National Residential School Student Death Register. Due to gaps in the available data, the register is far from complete. Although the actual number of deaths is believed to be far higher, 3,200 residential school victims have been identified. The analysis also demonstrates that residential school death rates were significantly higher than those for the general Canadian school-aged population. The failure to establish and enforce adequate standards of care, coupled with the failure to adequately fund the schools, resulted in unnecessarily high death rates at residential schools. Senior government and church officials were well aware of the schools' ongoing failure to provide adequate levels of custodial care. Children who died at the schools were rarely sent back to their home community. They were usually buried in school or nearby mission cemeteries. As the schools and missions closed, these cemeteries were abandoned. While in a number of instances Aboriginal communities, churches, and former staff have taken steps to rehabilitate cemeteries and commemorate the individuals buried there, most of these cemeteries are now disused and vulnerable to accidental disturbance In the face of this abandonment the TRC is proposing the development of a national strategy for the documentation maintenance commemoration and protection of residential school cemeteries
