Magic Of Experience 1915:

The Location of Experience Adela Pinch, 2024-10-15 We tend to feel that works of fiction give us special access to lived experience But how do novels cultivate that feeling Where exactly does experience reside The Location of Experience argues that paradoxically novels create experience for us not by bringing reality up close but by engineering environments in which we feel constrained from acting By excavating the history of the rise of experience as an important category of Victorian intellectual life this book reveals how experience was surprisingly tied to emotions of remorse and regret for some of the era s great women novelists the Bront s George Eliot Margaret Oliphant and Elizabeth Gaskell It shows how these writers passed ideas about experience and experiences themselves among each other Drawing on intellectual history psychology and moral philosophy The Location of Experience shows that through manipulating the psychological dimensions of fiction s formal features Victorian women novelists produced a philosophical account of experience that rivaled and complemented that of the male philosophers of the period the differences between magic as an organizational resource and magic as fakery pretence and manipulation Using this lens it highlights insights into the relationship between anthropology and business and organizational studies Medicine, Magic and Religion W.H.R. Rivers,2013-01-11 One of the most fascinating men of his generation W H R Rivers was a British doctor and psychiatrist as well as a leading ethnologist Immortalized as the hero of Pat Barker s award winning Regeneration trilogy Rivers was the clinician who in the First World War cared for the poet Siegfried Sassoon and other infantry officers injured on the western front His researches into the borders of psychiatry medicine and religion made him a prominent member of the British intelligentsia of the time a friend of H G Wells George Bernard Shaw and Bertrand Russell Part of his appeal lay in an extraordinary intellect mixed with a very real interest in his fellow man Medicine Magic and Religion is a prime example of this A social institution it is one of Rivers finest works In it Rivers introduced the then revolutionary idea that indigenous practices are indeed rational when viewed in terms of religious beliefs Making Marriage Modern Christina Simmons,2009-04-10 The nineteenth century middle class ideal of the married woman was of a chaste and diligent wife focused on being a loving mother with few needs or rights of her own The modern woman by contrast was partner to a new model of marriage one in which she and her husband formed a relationship based on greater sexual and psychological equality In Making Marriage Modern Christina Simmons narrates the development of this new companionate marriage ideal which took hold in the early twentieth century and prevailed in American society by the 1940s The first challenges to public reticence to discuss sexual relations between husbands and wives came from social hygiene reformers who advocated for a scientific but conservative sex education to combat prostitution and venereal disease A more radical group of feminists anarchists and bohemians opposed the Victorian model of marriage and even the institution of marriage Birth control advocates such as Emma Goldman and Margaret Sanger openly championed women s rights to acquire and use effective contraception The companionate marriage emerged from these efforts This marital ideal was characterized by greater emotional and sexuality intimacy for both men and women use of birth control to create smaller families and destigmatization of divorce in cases of failed unions Simmons examines what she calls the flapper marriage in which free spirited young wives enjoyed the early years of marriage postponing children and domesticity She looks at the feminist marriage in which women imagined greater equality between the sexes in domestic and paid work and sex And she explores the African American partnership marriage which often included wives employment and drew more heavily on the involvement of the community and extended family Finally she traces how these modern ideals of marriage were promoted in sexual advice literature and marriage manuals of the period Though male dominance persisted in companionate marriages Christina Simmons shows how they called for greater independence and satisfaction for women and a new female heterosexuality By raising women s expectations of marriage the companionate ideal also contained within it the seeds of second wave feminists demands for transforming the institution into one of true equality between the sexes Book

History of Anthropology George W. Stocking,1992 George Stocking has been widely recognized as the premier historian of anthropology ever since the publication of his first volume of essays Race Culture and Evolution in 1968 As editor of several publications including the highly acclaimed History of Anthropology series he has led the movement to establish the history of anthropology as a recognized research specialization In addition to the study Victorian Anthropology his work includes numerous essays covering a wide range of anthropological topics The eight essays collected in The Ethnographer's Magic consider the emergence of anthropology since the late nineteenth century as an academic discipline grounded in systematic fieldwork Drawing extensively on unpublished manuscript materials the essays focus primarily on Franz Boas and Bronislaw Malinowski the leading figures in the American and the British academic fieldwork traditions According to George Marcus of Rice University the essays represent the most informative and insightful writings on Malinowski and Boas and their legacies that are yet available Beyond their biographical material the essays here touch upon major themes in the history of anthropology its powerfully mythic aspect and persistent strain of romantic primitivism the contradictions of its relationship to the larger sociopolitical sphere its problematic integration of a variety of natural scientific and humanistic inquiries and the tension between its scientific aspirations and its subjectively acquired data To provide an overview against which to read the other essays Stocking has also included a sketch of the history of anthropology from the ancient Greeks to the present For this collection Stocking has written prefatory commentaries for each of the essays as well as two more extended contextualizing pieces An introductory essay Retrospective Prescriptive Reflections places the volume in autobiographical and historiographical context the Afterword Postscriptive Prospective Reflections reconsiders major themes of the essays in relation to the recent past and present situation of academic anthropology

The Rise of Magic in Early Medieval

Europe Valerie Irene Jane Flint,2020-03-31 There are forces better recognized as belonging to human society than repressed or left to waste away or growl about upon its fringes So writes Valerie Flint in this powerful work on magic in early medieval Europe Flint shows how many of the more discerning leaders of the early medieval Church decided to promote non Christian practices originally condemned as magical rather than repressing them or leaving them to waste away or growl These wise leaders actively and enthusiastically incorporated specific kinds of magic into the dominant culture not only to appease the contemporary non Christian opposition but also to enhance Christianity itself
