Wine Advisory Board,1967 Wine Decoded Adrian Garrett,2020-01-19 Choosing the right wine for you for a gift at a restaurant can be quite intimidating Could it be made easier Does the wine list at the restaurant seem like rocket science to you Do you find yourself panicking at the store and picking the wine with the prettiest label Have you been disappointed by the wine you bought that way Well we probably all have made the mistake of getting the wrong kind of wine It s not too bad if you bought the bottle for yourself and decided you hated it But what if you bought a sweet red wine as a gift only to find out the recipient s tastes are different That s a decent portion of embarrassment right there A well picked wine can make or break a meal too Forgetting the rules like only whites for fish a wine that s too robust will drown the steak you wanted to enjoy That way you will have wasted money twice on food you can t taste and on wine you don t enjoy Can there be a way to avoid all that confusion Thankfully yes and you don t have to go through years of rigorous expensive training to become a wine taster There s very little science to it and all the equipment you need you already have your eyes nose and tongue From the moment you uncork the bottle to the last sip of your wine there s a whole journey ahead of you that you have been missing all this time Just like finding an Easter egg in a movie you love knowing how to find out the subtleties in wine can be truly satisfying You ve spent your hard earned money on that wine so why not enjoy it to its fullest potential There could be a whole new world right at the rim of your glass In Wine Decoded you will discover How using just one sense can tell you a lot about your wine What unexpected color to look for in your red hint it s not red What are those tiny crystals in the bottle and are they dangerous The array of hues and colors your wine can have How to hone your wine tasting skills with simple exercises The incredible depth of notes hidden within your glass Whether smelling rocks leather or tobacco in your wine is good or bad How to recognize if the wine has faults that made it go bad before you drink it And much more Go beyond what you know without leaving your home well except for grocery shopping to get wine you don t need to be professionally trained to become a good wine taster Besides good wine doesn t also need to be expensive Sometimes you pay more for the bottle than the wine itself Amaze your friends with your abilities and never buy the wrong type of wine again You will notice how your taste in wine grows in less than a month Gone will be the days of cluelessly blindly picking a wine that sounds fancy or looks pretty Life is too short to drink bad wine Pop the cork on the most incredible experiences you will unveil the mysteries of every bottle with ease Just click Add to cart and ready your glass Magazine of Magic ,1917
