Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961-1974 Evelyn Goh, 2004-11-22 With Nixon's historic reconciliation with China in 1972 Sino American relations were restored and China moved from being regarded as America's most implacable enemy to a friend and tacit ally Existing accounts of the rapprochement focus on the shifting balance of power between the USA China and the Soviet Union but in this book Goh argues that they cannot adequately explain the timing and policy choices related to Washington's decisions for reconciliation with Beijing Instead she applies a more historically sensitive approach that privileges contending official American constructions of China's identity and character This book demonstrates that ideas of reconciliation with China were already being propagated and debated within official circles in the USA during the 1960s It traces the related policy discourse and imagery and examines their continuities and evolution into the early 1970s that facilitated Nixon's new policy

Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin , 1989 Re-examining the Cold War: U.S.-China Diplomacy, 1954-1973

Robert S. Ross, Changbin Jiang, 2020-03-23 The twelve essays in this volume underscore the similarities between Chinese and American approaches to bilateral diplomacy and between their perceptions of each other s policy making motivations Much of the literature on U S China relations posits that each side was motivated either by ideologically informed interests or by ideological assumptions about its counterpart But as these contributors emphasize newly accessible archives suggest rather that both Beijing and Washington developed a responsive and tactically adaptable foreign policy Each then adjusted this policy in response to changing international circumstances and changing assessments of its counterpart s policies Motivated less by ideology than by pragmatic national security concerns each assumed that the other faced similar considerations
