Ramsey, 1997 In this pioneering book Ramsey assesses the progress of three second grade deaf students by first pointing out that they were placed in two different environments with the general population of hearing students and separately with other deaf and hard of hearing children Her study reveals that although both settings were ostensibly educational inclusion in the general population was done to comply with the law not to establish specific goals for the deaf children In contrast self contained classes for deaf and hard of hearing children were designed especially to concentrate upon their particular learning needs This cohesive book offers educators scholars and parents a remarkable stage for assessing and enhancing the educational context for the deaf children within their purview Language Minority Students in the Mainstream Classroom Angela Carrasquillo, Vivian Rodríguez, 2002 This is the second edition of an easily readable text that provides first hand information

Disabilities David L. Lovett, Kathryn A. Haring, 2012-12-06 The field of education is under pressure both external and internal to improve the services provided to all students In American society and elsewhere there is a concern that current educational practices fail to adequately prepare many students to be productive citizens There has been a call for educational services that are more responsive to the needs of students that use effective educational practices that involve parents and the local community and that adequately prepare teachers to assume more professional roles Over the last several decades special educators have addressed these and other critical issues as they relate to students with disabilities The knowledge gained from these endeavors can be useful in the reshaping of schools for all students those with disabilities and those without Indeed this information may be useful for services beyond school whether for young children or adults This volume has been written to address how people with disabilities can be effectively served in settings with their nondisabled peers Because many of the students who are not well served by current educational practices have similar needs as students with disabilities it is anticipated that some of this information may be useful in the discussion regarding the reshaping of educational systems It is also anticipated that the material presented will help in the design of more effective coordinated systems that serve people with disabilities throughout their lives
