

JOURNAL OF EDUCATIONAL STUDIES (JES)

Announcement of the second Biennial Conference of the JES and Call for Abstracts

The Journal of Educational Studies (JES) at the University of Venda will be hosting its second biennial conference in 22-25 July 2025. The venue for this second conference is Bela- Bela, Warmbaths-A Forever Resort.

The theme for the second conference 2025 will be Sustainable Development in Education.

Sustainable development is a major UN ambition and for us in education, is clearly encapsulated in the SDG 4 which aims to make quality education accessible to all by year 2030. Actors in Education, at national, provincial and institutional levels have a key role to play to bring this UN SDG (4) to reality.

The conference invites academics, policy makers, private providers of education, post graduate research students and other stakeholders to submit proposals for presentations at the conference.

The sub-themes

Your proposal should address at least one of the following five sub themes:

1. Equity and Quality in Education (both large- and small-scale research have a place to contribute to a rich tapestry of ideas and interventions being tried out in difference educational spaces).
2. Resilient schools and education programmes (a big lesson coming our of the COVID 19 experience has been the need to build more resilient institutions, policies and educational programmes and practices. The conference provides an opportunity for researchers to share experiences around this idea).
3. Mitigating educational wastage especially in disadvantaged contexts (wastage in education continues to occur in the form of dropouts, repeating, and sustained absenteeism. These tend to intersect with socio-economic, cultural and gender issues. The conference provides an opportunity for researchers to share their findings and solutions in this regard).
4. Access and success in Education (not all groups of young people experience equal opportunities to access and to be successful in education. The conference provides a platform to researcher to share findings and insights in this area).
5. Girls and STEM education (participation, progression, success and transition of female students to labour markets especially in the STEM areas are abysmally poor across the world).
