Love and Struggle David Gilbert, 2011-12-30 A nice Jewish boy from suburban Boston hell an Eagle Scout David Gilbert arrived at Columbia University just in time for the explosive Sixties From the early anti Vietnam War protests to the founding of SDS from the Columbia Strike to the tragedy of the Townhouse Gilbert was on the scene as organizer theoretician and above all activist He was among the first militants who went underground to build the clandestine resistance to war and racism known as Weatherman And he was among the last to emerge in captivity after the disaster of the 1981 Brink s robbery an attempted expropriation that resulted in four deaths and long prison terms In this extraordinary memoir written from the maximum security prison where he has lived for almost thirty years Gilbert tells the intensely personal story of his own Long March from liberal to radical to revolutionary Today a beloved and admired mentor to a new generation of activists he assesses with rare humor with an understanding stripped of illusions and with uncommon candor the errors and advances terrors and triumphs of the Sixties and beyond It s a battle that was far from won but is still not lost the struggle to build a new world and the love that drives that effort A cautionary tale and a how to as well Love and Struggle is a book as candid uncompromising and humane as its author The Missionary Review of the World ,1936 Debow's Review ,1866

The Review of Reviews William Thomas Stead,1927 Which People's War? Sonya O. Rose,2004-07-01 Which People s War examines how national belonging or British national identity was envisaged in the public culture of the World War II home front Using materials from newspapers magazines films novels diaries letters and all sorts of public documents it explores such questions as who was included as British and what did it mean to be British How did the British describe themselves as a singular people and what were the consequences of those depictions It also examines the several meanings of citizenship elaborated in various discussions concerning the British nation at war This investigation of the powerful constructions of national identity and understandings of citizenship circulating in Britain during the Second World War exposes their multiple and contradictory consequences at the time It reveals the fragility of any singular conception of Britishness even during a war that involved the total mobilization of the country s citizenry and cost 400 000 British civilian lives De Bow's Review James Dunwoody Brownson De Bow,R. Jennie's Tiger: A Woman's Pioneering Stand in an Untamed Corner of Washington State Eva Gayle Six,2011-11-15 The West s pioneering experience has been both documented and dramatized enough to give us all some impression for right or for wrong of what pioneers were and what they did Some of those impressions are dryly accurate and some are excitingly fictitious Jennie s Tiger is neither carefully researched and truthfully told it gives a reliable view of the homesteading experience as well as an engrossing and moving story of strong characters making for themselves the life they want The real Wes and Jennie Wooding homesteaded 160 acres on the Pend Oreille river in northeast Washington state from 1900 till 1923 Life before this chapter of their lives had been consistently hardscrabble and sometimes tragic Building their own home on their own land was the greatest success and the greatest contentment they had ever had They arrived at Tiger s Landing by steamboat with three small boys and cut down enough trees to build a 14 X 24 one story house to shelter them In that house named Hawthorn Lodge they soon added a fourth boy Like most settlers with no cash Wes had to work outside to earn the money for Proving Up the homestead He walked several hundred miles looking for the work he knew in the mines A devoted member of the Western Federation of Miners and a sincere Socialist Wes was ambivalent about the Wobbly movement and glad when after the required seven years he could stay at home and make his life at Tiger s Landing with Jennie and the boys While Wes was away Jennie was entirely capable of sheltering feeding clothing and raising the boys with her own skills With help from the children she chinked the cabin with river mud she kept the table laid with game and fish she provided and produce she grew she made furniture for the bare house she skillfully sewed clothes for the family She gradually turned the subsistence farm into a lucrative business Fearful of missing Wes s letters she started the first post office in her community As the boys reached school age she donated land and saw that the first school began to operate Bringing with her skills and medicines she became doctor nurse and midwife to the growing community Frustrated by goods that came from a riverboat that could run only half the year she started the first store Through all this Jennie was eternally buoyant she never felt misused or deprived only content proud and happy But when the outside world threatened Hawthorn Lodge in the form of a railroad right against the house Jennie found she had to swallow her anger and make the best of it When World War I took two of her boys away she did what she could to help the soldiers while hating the war Having successfully raised the four boys to strong men Jennie s years at Hawthorn Lodge Tiger Washington come to a tragic end and we last see her heading back to California and the outside world The American Review of Reviews Albert Shaw,1922 The American Review of Reviews ,1917 Social Service Review ,1919 Class War Megan Erickson,2015-09-07 In an age of austerity elite corporate education reformers have found new ways to transfer the costs of raising children from the state to individual families Public schools tasked with providing education childcare job training meals and social services to low income children struggle with cutbacks Meanwhile private schools promise to nurture the minds and personalities of future professionals to the tune of 40 000 a year As Class War reveals this situation didn't happen by chance In the media educational success is framed as a consequence of parental choices and natural abilities In truth the wealthy are ever more able to secure advantages for their children deepening the rifts between rich and poor The longer these divisions persist the worse the consequences Drawing on Erickson's own experience as a teacher in the New York City school system Class War reveals how modern education has become the real hunger games stealing opportunity and hope from disadvantaged children for the benefit of the well to do      Constructing Disability after the Great War Evan P. Sullivan, 2024-10-08 As Americans both civilians and veterans worked to determine the meanings of identity for blind veterans of World War I they bound cultural constructs of blindness to all the emotions and contingencies of mobilizing and fighting the war and healing from its traumas Sighted Americans wartime rehabilitation culture centered blind soldiers and veterans in a mix of inspirational stories Veterans worked to become productive members of society even as ableism confined their unique life experiences to a collection of cultural tropes that suggested they were either downcast wrecks of their former selves or were morally superior and relatively flawless as they overcame their disabilities and triumphantly journeyed toward successful citizenship Sullivan investigates the rich lives of blind soldiers and veterans and their families to reveal how they confronted barriers gained an education earned a living and managed their self image while continually exposed to the public's scrutiny of their success and failures      Affect and Literature Alex Houen, 2020-02-06 Explores a wide range of affects affect theory and literature to consolidate a fresh understanding of literary affect
