The Lady with the Dog and Other Love Stories Anton Chekhov, 2021-12-20 Anton Chekhov's virtuosity with the written word is on full display in these 11 short stories exploring the euphoria and despair of love Includes A Misfortune Verotchka The Lady with the Dog and more

Love Fortunes and Other Disasters Kimberly Karalius, 2015-05-12 Love is real in the town of Grimbaud and Fallon Dupree has dreamed of attending high school there for years After all generations of Dupree's have successfully followed the 100% accurate love fortunes from Zita's famous Love Charms Shop to happily marry their high school sweethearts It's a tradition So she is both stunned and devastated when her fortune states that she will NEVER find love Fortunately Fallon isn't the only student with a terrible love fortune and a rebellion is brewing Fallon is determined to take control of her own fate even if it means working with a notorious heartbreaker like Sebastian Will Fallon and Sebastian be able to overthrow Zita's tyranny and fall in love

Learning from the Other Sharon Todd, 2003-10-23 How does ethics influence the myriad ways we engage difference within educational settings

The Great Forest and Other Love Stories Warren Rochelle, 2024-11-16 We all want to be loved and to love But finding true and lasting love is not always easy and sometimes comes at a cost Sometimes love hurts Sometimes the obstacles separating us from true love may seem insurmountable In this collection by best selling gay fantasy author Warren Rochelle love is found next door as well as twelve lightyears away In the title story Edvard is the accident the unplanned child His mother is the Ambassador of the Human Community to the Great Forest on the planet Wertynger a forest of sentient trees His father is the Embassy's chief legal counsel His golden brothers are on other worlds in the Human Community bound for success Not Edvard to the despair of his parents When he meets Luc who loves Ed for who he is everything changes His parents separate them sending Edvard to school lightyears away on Earth Ed promises to come back and marry Luc When Luc is taken by the minions of the Holy Trees their love is sorely tested Happily ever after is no longer certain It may even be impossible Throughout other stories love is tested in many ways Can a man trust a mysterious voice on the radio calling for him What if your lover asks you to make a curse Or if your husband is hearing voices in his dreams voices somehow connected to a comet Can promises made in one universe be kept in another Will these lovers have a happily ever after or at least for now

Works of Love Robert L. Perkins, 1999 To claim that Works of Love is an important philosophical essay is to assume hazardous burden of proof The book's title is an allusion to the Bible's injunction that we should love our neighbor as we love ourselves a far cry far instance from Diotima's ladder of erotic desire up which we climb from the love of bodies until we catch a vision of that single sea of beauty beauty itself Plato Symposium This contrast given that some of some of our neighbors may not be particularly likable or one may even be a determined enemy suggests immediately to some that a book with such an obviously religious title must be excessively moralistic and at best full of sermon helps for the harried clergy or at worst laden with rules for the unlearned laity A casual perusal of a few paragraphs however shows these put down views of the book to be unfounded

The Idea of

Human Rights Michael J. Perry, 1998-01-08 Inspired by a 1988 trip to El Salvador Michael J. Perry's new book is a personal and scholarly exploration of the idea of human rights. Perry is one of our nation's leading authorities on the relation of morality including religious morality to politics and law. He seeks in this book to disentangle the complex idea of human rights by way of four probing and interrelated essays. The initial essay, which is animated by Perry's skepticism about the capacity of any secular morality to offer a coherent account of the idea of human rights, suggests that the first part of the idea of human rights, the premise that every human being is sacred or inviolable, is inescapably religious. Responding to recent criticism of rights talk, Perry explicates in his second essay the meaning and value of talk about human rights. In his third essay, Perry asks a fundamental question about human rights: Are they universal? In addressing this question, he disaggregates and criticizes several different varieties of moral relativism and then considers the implications of these different relativist positions for claims about human rights. Perry turns to another fundamental question about human rights in his final essay: Are they absolute? He concludes that even if no human rights understood as moral rights are absolute or unconditional, some human rights understood as international legal rights are and indeed should be absolute. In the introduction, Perry writes: Of all the influential, indeed formative moral ideas to take center stage in the twentieth century like democracy and socialism, the idea of human rights, which again in one form or another is an old idea, is for many the most difficult. It is the most difficult in the sense that it is for many the hardest of the great moral ideas to integrate, the hardest to square with the reigning intellectual assumptions of the age, especially what Bernard Williams has called Nietzsche's thought: There is not only no God but no metaphysical order of any kind. For those who accept Nietzsche's thought, can the idea of human rights possibly be more than a kind of aesthetic preference? In a culture in which it was widely believed that there is no God or metaphysical order of any kind, on what basis, if any, could the idea of human rights long survive? The Idea of Human Rights: Four Inquiries will appeal to students of many disciplines including, but not limited to, law, philosophy, religion, and politics. Kierkegaard and Political Theology Roberto Sirvent, Silas Morgan, 2018-03-06 The nature of Kierkegaard's political legacy is complicated by the religious character of his writings. Exploring Kierkegaard's relevancy for this political theological moment, this volume offers transdisciplinary and multi-religious perspectives on Kierkegaard studies and political theology. Privileging contemporary philosophical and political theological work that is based on Kierkegaard, this volume is an indispensable resource for Kierkegaard scholars, theologians, philosophers of religion, ethicists, and critical researchers in religion looking to make sense of current debates in the field. While this volume shows that Kierkegaard's theological legacy is a thoroughly political one, we are left with a series of open questions as to what a Kierkegaardian interjection into contemporary political theology might look like. And so like Kierkegaard's writings, this collection of essays is an argument with itself and as such will leave readers both edified and scratching their heads for all the right reasons. The Bible and Spirituality Andrew T. Lincoln, J. Gordon McConville, Lloyd K. Pieterse, 2013-07-05 The essays in this volume aim to contribute to the newly developing academic subject of biblical spirituality It is prompted by the belief that although the Christian tradition has always nurtured an emphasis on spirituality rooted in the Bible and its interpretation few biblical scholars until recently have pursued their work by making connections with either this religious tradition or present day interest in the broader phenomenon of spirituality Spiritual interpretation has overlaps with theological interpretation but is distinctive because of its focus on the wisdom of lived experience and practice The essays therefore attempt from within the context of the academy responsible readings of Scripture that have as a major focus the study of how particular texts might contribute to a spirituality in which individual and communal flourishing is a major feature The essays began as papers produced for an international symposium on the Bible and Spirituality in May 2012 hosted by the Centre for the Study of the Bible and Spirituality in the School of Humanities at the University of Gloucestershire
