Our Box Was Full An Ethnography For The Delgamuukw Plaintiffs:

Our Box Was Full Richard Daly, 2007-10-01 For the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en peoples of northwest British Columbia the land is invested with meaning that goes beyond simple notions of property or sustenance. Considered both a food box and a storage box of history and wealth, the land plays a central role in their culture, survival, history, and identity. In Our Box Was Full, Richard Daly explores the centrality of this notion in the determination of Aboriginal rights with particular reference to the landmark Delgamuukw case that occupied the British Columbia courts from 1987 to 1997. Called as an expert witness for the Aboriginal plaintiffs, Daly, an anthropologist, was charged with helping the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en to prove they existed and to make the case for Aboriginal self-governance. In order to do this, Daly spent several years documenting their institutions, system of production and exchange, dispute settlement, and proprietorship before Pax Britannica and colonization. His conclusions, which were originally rejected by Justice MacEachern, were that the plaintiffs continue to live out their rich and complex heritage today, albeit under very different conditions from those of either the pre-contact or fur trade eras. Our Box Was Full provides fascinating insight into the Delgamuukw case and sheds much needed light on the role of anthropology in Aboriginal rights litigation. A rich, compassionate, and original ethnographic study, the book situates the plaintiff peoples within the field of forager studies and emphasizes the kinship and gift exchange features that pervade these societies even today. It will find an eager audience among scholars and students of anthropology, Native studies, law, and history.

Remembering 1759 Phillip Alfred Buckner, John G. Reid, 2012-01-01 This companion volume to Revisiting

1759 examines how the Conquest of Canada has been remembered commemorated interpreted and reinterpreted by groups in Canada France Great Britain the United States and most of all in Quebec It focuses particularly on how the public memory of the Conquest has been used for a variety of cultural political and intellectual purposes The essays contained in this volume investigate topics such as the legacy of 1759 in twentieth century Quebec the memorialization of General James Wolfe in a variety of national contexts and the re imagination of the Plains of Abraham as a tourist destination Combined with Revisiting 1759 this collection provides readers with the most comprehensive wide ranging assessment to date of the lasting effects of the Conquest of Canada

Let Right Be Done Hamar Foster, Heather Raven, Jeremy Webber, 2011-11-01 In the early 1970s many questioned whether Aboriginal title existed in Canada and rejected the notion that Aboriginal peoples should have rights different from those of other citizens But in 1973 the Supreme Court of Canada issued a landmark decision in the Calder case confirming that Aboriginal title constituted a right within Canadian law Let Right Be Done examines the doctrine of Aboriginal title thirty years later and puts the Calder case in its legal historical and political context both nationally and internationally With its innovative blend of scholarly analysis and input from many of those intimately involved in the case this book should be essential reading for anyone interested in Aboriginal law treaty negotiations and the history of the BC Indian land question

Indigenous Legalities, Pipeline Viscosities Tyler McCreary, 2024-04-02 Indigenous Legalities Pipeline Viscosities examines the relationship between the Wet suwet en and hydrocarbon pipeline development showing how colonial governments and corporations seek to control Indigenous claims and how the Wet suwet en resist Tyler McCreary explores pipeline regulatory review processes reviews attempts to reconcile Indigeneity with development and asks fundamental questions about territory and jurisdiction In the process he offers historical context for the continuing influences of colonialism on Indigenous peoples Throughout McCreary demonstrates how the cyclical movements between resistance and reconciliation are affected by the unequal relations between Indigenous peoples colonial governments and development operations This sophisticated analysis invites readers to consider the complex realities of Indigenous and Wet suwet en law as well as the politics of pipeline development

Unsettling the Settler Within Paulette Regan, 2010-12-22 In 2008 the Canadian government apologized to the victims of the notorious Indian residential school system and established a Truth and Reconciliation Commission whose goal was to mend the deep rifts between Aboriginal peoples and the settler society that engineered the system Unsettling the Settler Within argues that in order to truly participate in the transformative possibilities of reconciliation non Aboriginal Canadians must undergo their own process of decolonization They must relinquish the persistent myth of themselves as peacemakers and acknowledge the destructive legacy of a society that has stubbornly ignored and devalued Indigenous experience Today s truth and reconciliation processes must make space for an Indigenous historical counter narrative in order to avoid perpetuating a colonial relationship between Aboriginal and settler peoples A compassionate call to action this powerful book offers all Canadians both Indigenous and not a new way of approaching the critical task of healing the wounds left by the residential school system Human Adaptive Strategies

Daniel Bates, Judith Tucker, Ludomir Lozny, 2023-05-31 This book introduces students to cultural anthropology with an emphasis on environmental and evolutionary approaches focusing on how humans adapt to their environment and how the environment shapes culture It shows how cultures evolve within the context of people s strategies for surviving and thriving in their environments This approach is widely used among scholars as a cross disciplinary tool that rewards students with valuable insights into contemporary developments Drawing on anthropological case studies the authors address immediate human concerns such as the costs and consequences of human energy requirements environmental change and degradation population pressure social and economic equity and planned and unplanned change Impacts of increasingly rapid climatic change on equitable access to resources and issues of human rights are discussed throughout Towards the end of the book the student is drawn into a challenging thought experiment addressing the possible impacts of climatic warming on Middle America in the year 2040 All chapters conclude with Summary Key Terms and Suggested Readings This book is an ideal text for students of introductory anthropology and archaeology environmental studies world history and human and cultural ecology courses

Resurgence and Reconciliation Michael Asch, John Borrows, James Tully, 2018-11-05 The two major schools of thought in Indigenous Settler relations on the ground in the courts in public policy and in research are resurgence and reconciliation Resurgence refers to practices of Indigenous self determination and cultural renewal whereas reconciliation refers to practices of reconciliation between Indigenous and Settler nations such as nation with nation treaty negotiations Reconciliation also refers to the sustainable reconciliation of both Indigenous and Settler peoples with the living earth as the grounds for both resurgence and Indigenous Settler reconciliation Critically and constructively analyzing these two schools from a wide variety of perspectives and lived experiences this volume connects both discourses to the ecosystem dynamics that animate the living earth Resurgence and Reconciliation is multi disciplinary blending law political science political economy women s studies ecology history anthropology sustainability and climate change Its dialogic approach strives to put these fields in conversation and draw out the connections and tensions between them By using earth teachings to inform social practices the editors and contributors offer a rich innovative and holistic way forward in response to the world s most profound natural and social challenges This timely volume shows how the complexities and interconnections of resurgence and reconciliation and the living earth are often overlooked in contemporary discourse and debate Unsettling Spirit Denise M. Nadeau, 2020-04-02 What does it mean to be a white settler on land taken from peoples who have lived there since time immemorial In the context of reconciliation and Indigenous resurgence Unsettling Spirit provides a personal perspective on decolonization informed by Indigenous traditions and lifeways and the need to examine one s complicity with colonial structures Applying autoethnography grounded in Indigenous and feminist methodologies Denise Nadeau weaves together stories and reflections on how to live with integrity on stolen and occupied land The author chronicles her early and brief experience of Native mission in the late 1980s and early 1990s in northern Canada and Chiapas Mexico and the gradual recognition that she had internalized colonialist concepts of the good Christian and the Great White Helper Drawing on somatic psychotherapy Nadeau addresses contemporary manifestations of helping and the politics of trauma She uncovers her ancestors settler background and the responsibilities that come with facing this history Caught between two traditions born and raised Catholic but challenged by Indigenous ways of life the author traces her engagement with Indigenous values and how relationships inform her ongoing journey A foreword by Cree M tis author Deanna Reder places the work in a broader context of Indigenous scholarship Incorporating insights from Indigenous ethical and legal frameworks Unsettling Spirit offers an accessible reflection on possibilities for settler decolonization as well as for decolonizing Christian and interfaith practice

How Climate Change Comes to Matter Candis Callison, 2014-02-15 A rich ethnographic account describing the processes by which climate change comes to matter collectively and individually and how vernacular explanations of climate change reflect diverse ways of knowing and caring about the world

Religion and the Exercise of Public Authority Benjamin L Berger, Richard Moon, 2016-06-16 In the burgeoning literature on law and religion scholarly attention has tended to focus on broad questions concerning the scope of religious freedom the nature of toleration and the meaning of secularism An under examined issue is how religion figures in the decisions actions and experiences of those charged with performing public duties This point of contact between religion and public authority has generated a range of legal and political controversies around issues such as the wearing of religious symbols by public officials prayer at municipal government meetings religious education and conscientious objection by public servants Authored by scholars from a variety of disciplines the chapters in this volume provide insight into these and other issues Yet the volume also provides an entry point into a deeper examination of the concepts that are often used to organise and manage religious diversity notably state neutrality By examining the exercise of public authority by individuals who are religiously committed or who in the discharge of their public responsibilities must account for those who are this volume exposes the assumptions about legal and political life that underlie the concept of state neutrality and reveals its limits as a governing ideal

Indigenous Intellectual Property Val Napoleon, Rebecca Johnson, Richard Overstall, Debra McKenzie, 2024-11-30 Historically Indigenous artistic cultural and societal expression has been identified and examined within Canadian or international legal regimes This book identifies Indigenous intellectual property concerns as an Indigenous legal issue to be taken seriously within specific Indigenous legal orders Indigenous Intellectual Property opens up complex discussions about existing Indigenous intellectual property law and avoids the tendency to pigeonhole Indigenous intellectual property into a Western legal model Drawing on diverse case studies this book considers the existing laws in the Gitksan Secwepemc and Hupacasath Nuuchahnulth legal orders as well as from the Solomon Islands and Hawai'i The case studies are grounded in their respective legal and oral histories and contextualized within a broader discussion of Indigenous law addressing issues of colonial myths shrinking conceptions of Indigenous law common resistances to Indigenous property and law and important connections between Indigenous law and governance and citizenship The book carefully considers how the governance and civic value of intellectual property points to the unsuitability of the current state and international intellectual property legal regimes to many Indigenous intellectual property concerns Ultimately Indigenous Intellectual Property reveals the various ways in which to identify and understand law within Indigenous societies through narrative and story analysis observations of practices and ceremonies and political and legal ordering

Chronotopes of Law Mariana Valverde, 2015-01-09 This book develops a new framework for analyzing the spatio temporal workings of law and other forms of governance Chronotopes of Law argues that studies of law and governance can be reinvigorated by drawing on a bundle of quite heterogenous analytical tools that do not have a single provenance or a single political or normative aim but that work well in combination Analyses of legal temporality carried out by anthropologists and studies of law and space undertaken by geographers and legal scholars have proliferated in recent years but these research traditions have remained largely separate By adapting notions such as intertextuality dialogism and the chronotope from Mikhail Bakhtin notions designed specifically to synthesize considerations of space and time in a framework that is open ended interactive and dynamic Mariana Valverde develops an anti metaphysical theory and method for legal studies This approach will be useful both to theorists and to researchers seeking to illuminate the actual workings of law and other forms of governance Indeed a key aim of the book is to break down the institutional and disciplinary barriers that prevent theorists from learning from empirical studies and viceversa Written by one of the foremost sociolegal scholars writing today this theoretically innovative work constitutes a major contribution to contemporary studies in law and society

Researching Public Law in Common Law

Systems Paul Daly, Joe Tomlinson, 2023-09-06 This original book fills a significant gap in legal literature by providing an exploration of research methodologies in public law a field of research in which research methods are becoming increasingly prominent and sophisticated Featuring thoughtful chapters written by leading scholars in the field this book provides a thorough explanation of the key features characteristics and challenges of distinct methodological approaches to public law research World Literature in Theory David Damrosch, 2014-01-28 World Literature in Theory provides a definitive exploration of the pressing questions facing those studying world literature today Coverage is split into four parts which examine the origins and seminal formulations of world literature world literature in the age of globalization contemporary debates on world literature and localized versions of world literature Contains more than 30 important theoretical essays by the most influential scholars including Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Hugo Meltzl Edward Said Franco Moretti Jorge Luis Borges and Gayatri Spivak Includes substantive introductions to each essay as well as an annotated bibliography for further reading Allows students to understand articulate and debate the most important issues in this rapidly changing field of study

The Oxford Handbook of Law and Anthropology Marie-Claire Foblets, Mark Goodale, Maria Sapignoli, Olaf Zenker, 2022 Represents a comprehensive and interdisciplinary treatment to the field of law and anthropology Decenters the standard Anglo Euro centric bias that prevails in both law and anthropology Gives unique perspectives on issues of contemporary relevance Provides the historical background but focuses on the future of the field Book jacket Ipperwash Edward J. Hedican, 2013-06-17 On September 6 1995 Dudley George was shot by Ontario Provincial Police officer Kenneth Deane He died shortly after midnight the next day George had been participating in a protest over land claims in Ipperwash Provincial Park which had been expropriated from the native Ojibwe after the Second World War A confrontation erupted between members of the Stoney Point and Kettle Point Bands and officers of the OPP s Emergency Response Team which had been instructed to use necessary force to disband the protest by Premier Mike Harris s government George s death and the grievous mishandling of the protest led to the 2007 Ipperwash Inquiry Edward J Hedican s Ipperwash provides an incisive examination of protest and dissent within the context of land claims disputes and Aboriginal rights Hedican investigates how racism and government practices have affected Aboriginal resistance to policies especially those that have resulted in the loss of Aboriginal lands and led to persistent socio economic problems in Native communities He offers a number of specific solutions and policy recommendations on how Aboriginal protests can be resolved using mediation and dispute management instead of the coercive force used in Ipperwash Park that ultimately gave this tragic story such infamy Democratic Multiplicity James Tully, Keith Cherry, Fonna Forman, Jeanne Morefield, Joshua Nichols, Pablo Ouziel, David Owen, Oliver Schmidtke, 2022-08-04 This edited volume argues that democracy is broader and more diverse than the dominant state centered modern representative democracies to which other modes of democracy are either presumed subordinate or ignored The contributors seek to overcome the standard opposition of democracy from below participatory and democracy from above representative Rather they argue that through differently situated participatory and representative practices citizens and governments can develop democratic ways of cooperating without hegemony and subordination and that these relationships can be transformative This work proposes a slow but sure nonviolent eco social and sustainable process of democratic generation and growth with the capacity to critique and transform unjust and ecologically destructive social systems This volume integrates human centric democracies into a more mutual interdependent and sustainable system on earth whereby everyone gains

An Ecology of World Literature Alexander Beecroft, 2015-03-03 What constitutes a nation's literature How do literatures of different countries interact with one another In this groundbreaking study Alexander Beecroft develops a new way of thinking about world literature Drawing on a series of examples and case studies the book ranges from ancient epic to the contemporary fiction of Roberto Bolaño and Amitav Ghosh Moving across literary ecologies of varying sizes from small societies to the planet as a whole the environments in which literary texts are produced and circulated An Ecology of World Literature places in dialogue scholarly perspectives on ancient and modern western and non western texts navigating literary study into new and uncharted territory
