Our Children's Future Child Care Policy In Canada:

Our Children's Future Gordon Cleveland, Michael Krashinsky, 2001-01-01 Assembling key experts and activists in the area of Canadian child care policy this book makes an important contribution to understanding how Canada with its particular institutions politics and values should design a national child care strategy About Canada: Childcare Martha Friendly, Susan Prentice, 2016-07-01 T00:00:00Z In Canada early childhood education and care includes childcare programs kindergartens and nursery schools When these programs are well designed they support children's development and accommodate parents who work or study About Canada Childcare answers questions about early childhood education and childcare ECEC in Canada Why doesn't Canada have an ECEC system even though other countries do Why is ECEC so important What is missing in Canada's ECEC landscape and why Can ECEC programs be designed as wonderful environments for young children or are they merely necessary but not particularly desirable places to keep children safe while mothers are at work Is ECEC primarily a public good a private family responsibility or an opportunity for profit making Early childhood education and childcare is a political issue the authors argue and Canada needs an integrated system of services The absence of a universal publicly funded ECEC system is detrimental to families women and children and Canada's future This accessible and engaging book should be required reading for all early childhood education students Students will get the big picture of ECEC issues politics and policy in Canada and learn what should be done to build a well designed publicly funded universal system there isn't another book that does this Dr Rachel Langford Director of the School of Early Childhood Education Ryerson University Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma Lisa Pasolli, 2015-05-15 During the twentieth century child care policy in British Columbia matured in the shadow of a political uneasiness with working motherhood Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma examines how ideas about motherhood paid work and social welfare influenced universal child care discussions and consistently pushed access to child care to the margins of BC's social policy agenda Charting the growth of the child care movement in this province Lisa Pasolli examines the arrival of Vancouver's first crèche in 1912 the teetering steps forward during the debates of the interwar years the development of provincial child care policy the rebellious advancements of second wave feminists in the 1960s and 1970s and the maturation of provincial and national child care politics since the mid 70s In addition to revealing much about historical attitudes toward women's roles Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma celebrates the efforts of mothers and advocates who for decades have lobbied for child care as a central part of women's rights as workers parents and citizens Social Reproduction Kate Bezanson, Meg Luxton, 2006-10-02 Contributors include Sedef Arat Ko Ryerson Kate Bezanson Brock Susan Braedley PhD candidate York Barbara Cameron York Marcia Cohen Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives BC Marjorie Griffin Cohen Simon Fraser Bonnie Fox Toronto Meg Luxton York Leah F Vosko York and Alice de Wolff Toronto based researcher and activist Negotiating Citizenship A. Bakan, D. Stasiulis, 2003-12-19 Negotiating Citizenship explores the growing inequalities associated with nation based citizenship from the perspective of migrant women workers who have made their way from impoverished Third World countries to work in Canada in the caregiving industries of domestic service and nursing. The study demonstrates the impact of the global political economy public and private gatekeeping mechanisms and racialized and gendered stereotypes on the contested relationship between citizen employers and non citizen female migrant workers in Canada.

Mothering in the Age of Neoliberalism Giles Melinda Vandenberg, 2014-03-01 Neoliberal policies and austerity measures have unequivocally altered the landscape of women's lives globally. The most detrimental effect has been on mothers as they are faced with increasing responsibility and decreasing resources. Despite mothers being the primary producers, consumers and reproducers of the neoliberal world, their centrality has been largely silenced within economic discourse. Thus Mothering in the Age of Neoliberalism calls for a new economic framework to counter the individualized neoliberal model, one in which the needs of mothers and children are prioritized. This volume provides a crucial starting point. By identifying the sources of neoliberal failure toward mothers, we can begin to collectively formulate an alternative paradigm in which mothers' voices are no longer rendered invisible but rather predominate in the global landscape.

Against the Grain Gillian Ranson, 2010-02-01 Drawing on findings from interviews done with 32 families living in cities across Canada, Ranson challenges dominant understandings of mothering and fathering by looking closely at how couples who have opted for less traditional divisions of labour negotiate their parental and household responsibilities. Included are interviews with breadwinner mothers and caregiver fathers and with dual earner couples, both heterosexual and same sex, who struggle to share equally in the nurture and support of their families. A central claim of the book is that to the extent that both parents are equally involved in hands-on caregiving, they tend to become over time functionally interchangeable and move away from mothering and fathering and toward parenting. Against the Grain offers us an excellent opportunity to examine how social change happens at the forefront of family life.

Nasty, Brutish, and Short Mark Totten, Daniel Totten, 2012-03-27 Mark Totten has spent fifteen years learning about youth gangs. He has interviewed over 500 gang members in cities across the country, tracing their lives from infancy to adulthood and exploring the roots of their involvement in crime and their reliance on violence. This book offers a picture of the reality of youth gangs in Canada. Much of what Totten has to say is at odds with popular ideas. His research leads him to believe that breaking through the circumstances that produce young criminals is far more difficult than most people think. For individuals caught in gang life, exiting that world is next to impossible; in fact, the most common way out is an early death from violence or suicide.

Territory, Democracy and Justice S. Greer, 2005-12-16 Territory, Democracy and Justice brings together experts from six countries to ask what territorial decentralization does and what it means for democracy, policymaking and the welfare state. Integrated and international in a fragmented field, the chapters identify the importance and consequences of territorial decentralization. The authors analyze the successes, the generalizable ideas and the international lessons in the study of comparative territorial politics as well as new directions for research The Legal Tender of Gender Shelley A. M. Gavigan, Dorothy E Chunn, 2010-02-15 Extensive welfare law and policy reforms characterised the making and unmaking of Keynesian states in the twentieth century This collection highlights the gendered nature of these regulatory shifts and specifically the roles played by women as reformers welfare workers and welfare recipients in the development of welfare states historically The contributors are leading feminist socio legal scholars from a range of disciplines in Canada the United States and Israel Collectively their analyses of women law and poverty speak to long standing and ongoing feminist concerns the importance of historically informed research the relevance of women s agency and resistance to the experience of inequality and injustice the specificity of the experience of poor women and poor mothers the implications of changes to social policy and the possibilities for social change Such analyses are particularly timely as the devastation of neo liberalism becomes increasingly obvious The current world crisis of capitalism is a defining moment for liberal states a global catastrophe that concomitantly creates a window of opportunity for critical scholars and activists to reframe debates about social welfare work and equality and to reinsert the discourse of social justice into the public consciousness and political agenda of liberal democracies Roadblocks to Equality Jeffery Klaehn, 2009 Explores women s experiences within contemporary society in a domestic and global context International Developments in Early Childhood Services Lorna Kim Sang Chan, Elizabeth Jean Mellor, 2002 This book focuses on education and care services for children up to eight years of age BOOK JACKET Co-production Victor Pestoff, Taco Brandsen, 2013-09-13 Public management research has in recent years paid increasing attention to the third sector especially to its role in the provision of public services Evidence of this is the rising number of publications on the topic as well as a growing number of sessions and papers on the topic in academic conferences of the EGPA and IRSPM However much of the discussion on its role is motivated at least as much by ideology as by fact We still lack a proper empirical understanding of what happens when the third sector is drawn into public service provision In this thematic presentation of Co Production The Third Sector and the Delivery of Public Services we will try to enhance this understanding by presenting several new studies on the subject We also introduce the concepts of co production co management and co governance as a conceptual framework that enables us to better understand such developments Restructuring Family Policies Maureen Baker, 2006-01-01 Recent years have seen significant changes in the social policies of many liberal welfare states this is especially true of social programs for families with children Increasingly governments are making family policy trade offs reducing support for some families but improving it for others Why are such trade offs occurring and how do governments differ in their approach to family social policy This study addresses these questions by examining the political demographic and socio economic factors influencing the restructuring of family related programs in OECD countries Adopting a feminist political economy approach Maureen Baker shows that while some governments encourage their citizens to see children as future resources and promote strong support for reproductive health programs child welfare services women's refugees subsidized childcare and pay equity others make these claims while simultaneously reducing family incomes through the deregulation of labour markets and restrictions on income support Ultimately Baker demonstrates that nation states with the best outcomes for families offer a variety of social supports which are increasingly important as global markets reduce economic security for some families while improving the financial situation of others This study also explores strategies employed by states to incorporate or resist international pressures and the reasons why some states tenaciously defend their family policy traditions while others restructure according to international guidelines Drawing from nation based research cross national studies and international data bases Restructuring Family Policies successfully integrates mainstream academic debates about restructuring welfare states with feminist research findings and current policy concerns

Caring for Children Rachel Langford, Susan Prentice, Patrizia Albanese, 2017-06-09 Social inequality Selective political attention Insufficient funding and access Caring for Children provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of the crisis in care for Canadian children and their caregivers Couched in the language of choice government policies on the care of Canadian children over the past decade have favoured professional nuclear families while doing little to assist children with the greatest needs including those from low income immigrant and Aboriginal families Analyzing the connections between services and programs the contributors reveal how childcare parental leave informal care live in caregiver programs and child tax benefits affect the well being of Canadian children and their families They draw on comparative examples from across Canada documenting policy shifts and associated social movement responses Caring for Children affirms the necessity of questioning political attitudes and arrangements and asks what social movements can do to promote positive change in approaches to the care of children

Debating Early Child Care Robert Crosnoe, Tama Leventhal, 2016-03-11 Throughout distressing cultural battles and disputes over child care each side claims to have the best interests of children at heart While developmental scientists have concrete evidence for this debate their message is often lost or muddled by the media To demonstrate why this problem matters this book examines the extensive media coverage of the NICHD Study of Early Child Care and Youth Development a long running government funded study that provides the most comprehensive look at the effects of early child care on American children Analyses of newspaper articles and interviews with scientists and journalists reveal what happens to science in the public sphere and how children's issues can be used to question parents' choices By shining light on these issues the authors bring clarity to the enduring child care wars while providing recommendations for how scientists and the media can talk to rather than past each other

A Life in Balance? Catherine Krull, 2011-02-28 Magazine articles talk shows and commercials advise us that our happiness and well being rest on striking a balance between work and family It goes unsaid however that the advice is based on an outmoded and unrealistic ideal This provocative volume challenges the notion often offered in support of neo liberal agendas that paid work employment and unpaid work caregiving and housework are separate and competing spheres rather than overlapping aspects of a single existence Alternative approaches to integrating work and family must be taken into account if we hope to build truly equitable family and childcare policies

A Question of Commitment Katherine Covell, R. Brian Howe, 2007-06-15 Contributors explore child poverty child care corporal punishment sexual exploitation youth justice and the participation rights of children They also examine the situation of special populations Aboriginal children children in care homeless children refugee children and children with disabilities

Three Plays of Maureen Hunter Hunter, Maureen, 2003 Book is clean and tight No writing in text Like New

Recent Perspectives on Early Childhood Education and Care in Canada Larry Prochner, 2012-01-01 Early childhood education is critical for preparing children for success in formal school settings and as such is a major concern throughout the world This volume brings together groundbreaking research in this area to help practitioners students policy makers curriculum designers and intervention program developers understand the latest ideas and advances in the field Recent Perspectives of Early Childhood Education and Care in Canada centres on three key themes The first provides a survey of historical social policy economic and provincial regulations and policies related to early childhood education and care The second focuses on issues related to children s learning curriculum and teachers The final theme addresses recent developments in government involvement in early childhood education and care that are unique to Canada The contributors to this volume demonstrate the pressing need that exists to further public discussion on early childhood education to help policymakers shape better decisions for Canadian families
