Inheritance and Originality : Wittgenstein, Heidegger, Kierkegaard Stephen Mulhall, 2001-06-14 What might it mean to think of philosophy as being in the condition of modernism in which its relation to its own past and hence its sense of its own future has become an undismissible problem If philosophy s hitherto defining conventions can neither be taken for granted nor rejected they must be put in question which menans re evaluating the relation between the form and content of philosophical writing rethinking the demands that such writing must place on its readers and reconceiving the nature of philosophy itself Inheritance and Originality argues that the writings of Wittgenstein Heidegger and Kierkegaard are best understood as responsive each in their own way to such questions and as driven in consequence to strikingly similar reconceptions of language reason and understanding doubt and scepticism morality and the structure of selfhood Through detailed re readings of these authors most influential texts as attentive to their specificity as to their family resemblances Stephen Mulhall reorients our sense of the philosophical work each text aims to accomplish to engender a critical dialogue between them from which the elements of a new conception of philosophy might emerge and to uncover that conception s indebtedness to certain fundamental theological preoccupations The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1888 Essentials of Christian Theology William C. Placher,2003-10-31 This splendid introductory textbook for Christian theology presents two essays by leading scholars on each of the major theological questions William Placher provides an excellent discussion of the history and current state of each doctrine while the essays explore the key elements and contemporary issues relating to these important theological concepts Fraser's Magazine for Town and Country James Anthony Froude,John Tulloch,1861 Contains the first printing of Sartor resartus as well as other works by Thomas Carlyle Fraser's Magazine for Town and Country ,1861 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance ,1888
