Public Service Broadcasting In A Multichannel Environment The History And Survival Of An Ideal:

Public Broadcasting and the Public Interest Michael P. McCauley, B. Lee Artz, DeeDee Halleck, Paul E Peterson, 2016-09-16 As federal funding for public broadcasting wanes and support from corporations and an elite group of viewers and listeners rises public broadcasting's role as vox populi has come under threat With contributions from key scholars from a wide variety of disciplines this volume examines the crisis facing public broadcasting today by analyzing the institution's development its presentday operations and its prospects for the future Covering everything from globalization and the rise of the Internet to key issues such as race and class to specific subjects such as advertising public access and grassroots radio Public Broadcasting and the Public Interest provides a fresh and original look at a vital component of our mass media

Public Service Broadcasting in a Multichannel Environment Robert K. Avery, 1993 Encyclopedia of Radio 3-Volume Set Christopher H. Sterling, 2004-03 Produced in association with the Museum of Broadcast Communications in Chicago the Encyclopedia of Radio includes more than 600 entries covering major countries and regions of the world as well as specific programs and people networks and organizations regulation and policies audience research and radio's technology This encyclopedic work will be the first broadly conceived reference source on a medium that is now nearly eighty years old with essays that provide essential information on the subject as well as comment on the significance of the particular person organization or topic being examined

Public Service Media and Policy in Europe K. Donders, 2011-11-15 An in depth account of EU policies in the area of public service broadcasting focusing mainly on the application of the European State aid rules The book discusses when how and with what impact the European Commission deals with public service broadcasting

Recovering a Public Vision for Public Television Glenda R. Balas, 2003 In 1995 US public television faced possible elimination of federal funding potentially commercialising this type of broadcasting This study suggests that these strains have undermined public broadcasting historically the result is that programming no longer prioritises social reform

Producing Public Television, Producing Public Culture Barry Dornfeld, 2021-02-09 From 1989 to 1991 Barry Dornfeld had an unusual double role on the crew of the major PBS documentary series Childhood As a researcher for the series he investigated the relationship between children and media As an anthropologist however his subject was the television production process itself examining for example how producers developed the series negotiated with their academic advisors and shaped footage shot around the world into seven programs He presents the results of his fieldwork in this groundbreaking study one of the first to take an ethnographic approach to the production of a television show as opposed to its reception Dornfeld begins with a broad discussion of public television's role in American culture and goes on to examine documentaries as a form of popular anthropology Drawing on his observations of Childhood he considers the documentary form as a kind of imagining in which both producers and viewers construct understandings of themselves and others revealing their conceptions of culture and history and their ideologies of cultural difference and universality He argues that producers of culture should also be understood as consumers who conduct their work through an active envisioning of the audience Dornfeld explores as well how intellectual media professionals struggle with the institutional and cultural forces surrounding television that promote entertainment at the expense of education The book provides a rare glimpse behind the scenes of a major documentary and demonstrates the value of an ethnographic approach to the study of media production

Applied Communication in the 21st Century Kenneth N. Cissna, 2013-11-05 The future of the field of communication lies in the ability to produce a socially relevant scholarship without which the field is unlikely to attract the best students command significant societal resources or make its greatest contributions to the world's store of knowledge This volume presents a report of the first discipline wide nationally sponsored communication research conference in 20 years the Tampa Conference on Applied Communication As the next millennium approaches the communication field will be challenged to take its place among the disciplines whose research makes a substantial contribution to the well being of society How the communication field should respond to that challenge was the focus of the conference and this volume Crossing all disciplinary boundaries Applied Communication in the 21st Century addresses issues of concern to all scholars in the communication field regardless of their various subareas and includes the recommendation of the conferees concerning issues and responsibilities of the field research priorities and graduate education

The Power of Global Community Media Linda K. Fuller, 2016-04-30 Drawing on both theoretical and practical case studies this collection moves from developing attempts at local media to case studies and on to cyber examples The contributors all distinguished international communications scholars present a range of perspectives on the ever burgeoning area of grassroots local media

Conflicting Communication Interests in America Tom McCourt, 1999-10-30 Public broadcasting has changed dramatically since its founding in 1967 The growing equation of marketplace efficiency with the public interest has in Tom McCourt's analysis undermined the value of public goods and services In addition political and cultural discourse is increasingly beset by fragmentation Public radio provides an exemplary site to examine the prospects and problems of contemporary public life Beginning with a description of the events that led to the creation of National Public Radio McCourt discusses the relationship between NPR and its affiliate stations and the ways in which struggles over funding and programming have affected public radio's agenda He also examines how public radio incorporates the roles of public representatives into its operations and how its methods to determine the needs and interests of the public have changed across the system's history The social political and economic pressures that have impacted the mission and practices of National Public Radio McCourt asserts are manifest in all areas of American life Through extensive historical research he examines whether American public broadcasters as represented by NPR have succeeded or failed to engender an enlightened participatory democracy

The Daily Planet Patricia Aufderheide, 2000-01-01 The Daily Planet is a long awaited selection of Patricia Aufderheide's most important critical essays updated and organized thematically to demonstrate the breadth of her thinking on media and film public telecommunications policy and contemporary society The result is a pithy and provocative exploration of the culture of daily life under capitalism Here Aufderheide demonstrates criticism that is both activist and analytical She probes the processes that shape our culture by examining diverse subjects including the struggle to create quality children s television programming the meaning of Paul Harvey the evolution of the war film over the past thirty years and the ways journalism is changed by the Internet and other new technologies Throughout Aufderheide foregrounds democratic values displaying the penetrating insights that have made her a leading public intellectual and commentator on contemporary culture
