Creator of Philip Marlowe and author of some of the best dialogue ever written, Raymond Chandler was a vivid and inveterate letter-writer. This book, consisting mainly of letters from Chandler to his friends, contains some of his pithiest writing. It also includes the first chapters of his unfinished novel and other unpublished writings. Here, too, are his uninhibited views on:

writes smells like a billy goat He could also be painfully revealing as when he wrote of his despair over the death of his wife It was my great and now useless regret Chandler confessed that I never wrote anything really worthy her attention no book that I could dedicate to her Lively entertaining and sometimes touching these letters fully present for the first time the complex sensibilities of a man who was one of America s greatest writers of detective novels and one of its most astute observers
