The Voice in the Night William Hope Hodgson, 2014-07-22

The Voice in the Night is a short story by William Hope Hodgson

William Hope Hodgson 15 November 1877 April 1918 was an English author

He produced a large body of work consisting of essays short fiction and novels spanning several overlapping genres including horror fantastic fiction and science fiction

Hodgson used his experiences at sea to lend authentic detail to his short horror stories many of which are set on the ocean including his series of linked tales forming the Sargasso Sea Mythos

His novels such as The Night Land and The House on the Borderland feature more cosmic themes but several of his novels also focus on horrors associated with the sea

Early in his writing career he dedicated effort to poetry although few of his poems were published during his lifetime

He also attracted some notice as a photographer and achieved renown as a bodybuilder

He died in World War I at the age of 40

In 1899 at the age of 22 he opened W H Hodgson s School of Physical Culture in Blackburn England offering tailored exercise regimes for personal training

Among his customers were members of the Blackburn police force

In 1902 Hodgson himself appeared on stage with handcuffs and other restraining devices supplied by the Blackburn police department and applied the restraints to Harry Houdini who had previously escaped from the Blackburn jail

His behavior towards Houdini generated controversy the escape artist had some difficulty removing his restraints complaining that Hodgson had deliberately injured him and jammed the locks of his handcuffs

Hodgson was not shy of publicity and in another notable stunt rode a bicycle down a street so steep that it had stairs an event written up in the local paper

Despite his reputation he eventually found that he could not earn a living running his personal training business which was seasonal in nature and shut it down

He began instead writing articles such as Physical Culture versus Recreative Exercises published in 1903

One of these articles Health from Scientific Exercise featured photographs of Hodgson himself demonstrating his exercises

The market for such articles seemed to be limited however so inspired by authors such as Edgar Allan Poe H G Wells Jules Verne and Arthur Conan Doyle Hodgson turned his attention to fiction publishing his first short story The Goddess of Death in 1904 followed shortly by A Tropical Horror

He also contributed to an article in The Grand Magazine taking the No side in a debate on the topic Is the

Mercantile Navy Worth Joining In this piece Hodgson laid out in detail his negative experiences at sea including facts and figures about salaries This led to a second article in The Nautical Magazine an expose on the subject of apprenticeships at the time families often were forced to pay to have boys accepted as apprentices Hodgson began to give paid lectures illustrated with his photography in the form of colorized slides about his experiences at sea Although he wrote a number of poems only a handful were published during his lifetime several such as Madre Mia appeared as dedications to his novels Apparently cynical about the prospects of publishing his poetry in 1906 he published an article in The Author magazine suggesting that poets could earn money by writing inscriptions for tombstones Many of his poems were published by his widow in two posthumous collections but some 48 poems were not published until their appearance in the 2005 collection The Lost Poetry of William Hope Hodgson
