Magic in Merlin's Realm Francis Young, 2022-03-03 Belief in magic was until relatively recent times widespread in Britain yet the impact of such belief on determinative political events has frequently been overlooked In his wide ranging new book Francis Young explores the role of occult traditions in the history of the island of Great Britain Merlin's realm He argues that while the great magus and artificer invented by Geoffrey of Monmouth was a powerful model for a succession of actual royal magical advisers including Roger Bacon and John Dee monarchs nevertheless often lived in fear of hostile sorcery while at other times they even attempted magic themselves Successive governments were simultaneously fascinated by astrology and alchemy yet also deeply wary of the possibility of treasonous spellcraft Whether deployed in warfare rebellion or propaganda occult traditions were of central importance to British history and as the author reveals these dark arts of magic and politics remain entangled to this day

Kabbalah and Sex Magic Marla Segol, 2021-09-08 In this provocative book Marla Segol explores the development of the kabbalistic cosmology underlying Western sex magic Drawing extensively on Jewish myth and ritual Segol tells the powerful story of the relationship between the divine and the human body in late antique Jewish esotericism in medieval kabbalah and in New Age ritual practice Kabbalah and Sex Magic traces the evolution of a Hebrew microcosm that models the powerful interaction of human and divine bodies at the heart of both kabbalah and some forms of Western sex magic Focusing on Jewish esoteric and medical sources from the fifth to the twelfth century from Byzantium Persia Iberia and southern France Segol argues that in its fully developed medieval form kabbalah operated by ritualizing a mythos of divine creation by means of sexual reproduction She situates in cultural and historical context the emergence of Jewish cosmological models for conceptualizing both human and divine bodies and the interactions between them arguing that all these sources position the body and its senses as the locus of culture and the means of reproducing it Segol explores the rituals acting on these models attending especially to their inherent erotic power and ties these to contemporary Western sex magic showing that such rituals have a continuing life Asking questions about its cosmology myths and rituals Segol poses even larger questions about the history of kabbalah the changing conceptions of the human relation to the divine and even the nature of religious innovation itself This groundbreaking book will appeal to students and scholars of Jewish studies religion sexuality and magic

Magic as a Political Crime in Medieval and Early Modern England Francis Young, 2017-10-30 Treason and magic were first linked together during the reign of Edward II Theories of occult conspiracy then regularly led to major political scandals such as the trial of Eleanor Cobham Duchess of Gloucester in 1441 While accusations of magical treason against high ranking figures were indeed a staple of late medieval English power politics they acquired new significance at the Reformation when the superstition embodied by magic came to be associated with proscribed Catholic belief Francis Young here offers the first concerted historical analysis of allegations of the use of magic either to harm or kill the monarch or else manipulate the course of political events in England between the fourteenth century and the dawn of the Enlightenment His book addresses a subject usually either passed over or elided with witchcraft a quite different historical phenomenon He argues that while charges of treasonable magic certainly were used to destroy reputations or to ensure the convictions of undesirables magic was also perceived as a genuine threat by English governments into the Civil War era and beyond

Bible of the Gun Jonathan Cottam, 2010-09-15 Bible of the Gun is a collection of stories from the novel of the title to the novella of Bathory and the State to the long shorts of The Destructive Urge and The Rose of John Hamlet The stories have several things in common The first of these is brevity none of the stories have anything that is inessential not a single line that the author did not enjoy writing that was not a curiosity or a puzzle to be solved The second is surrealism All the stories are surrealist in one sense or another all steal something from dreams and all try to unlock something of the animal from the Id The author aligns himself with Bizarro because the work clearly is however it is also seriously surrealist Thirdly violence in all the authors work is never treated morally but let loose you don't have to read the stories from the point of view of a good person being shown bad things which fascinate and yet you are never allowed to be a part of but just as if you were in a dream or were a child you have no moral compass and are lead into violence without condemnation are told to identify with it even when its source is apparently evil To go back to surrealism before we discuss the actual stories I the author am a surrealist anarchist and a surrealist creator for three reasons One is a fascination with dreams their strangeness and wonder where they come from their unrestrained adventures Two is a political interest from the point of view that the super ego the restraints of the opinions of society therefore the opinions of the state through all aspects of media and coercion is a cowardly internalised source that restricts our freedom and makes everyone slaves Thirdly is an attempt to unpeel this onion even further let out the Id the creativity the desires without the restraints of ego and super ego to see the core of who we are even if this is bad I want to find good but I do not want to find it at the bottom of being afraid because I do not want to consent to the pressures of every one and thing I despise even if I am instead lead to evil that I despise more and yet I find as a child or in a dream I am rarely lead to evil through lack of social inhibitions in my work I often am but then I have had a very violent life Most of these stories however are rather more restrained than the earlier works of Unrequited Zombie and Urban Book of the Dead except for The Destructive Urge also the most surreal here and the most recent Bathory and the State is from an earlier period and a little primitive which only means it is eighteen months old Bible of the Gun is a story about a man who after strange events of a dream like and schizophrenic nature goes to see a female psychiatrist I was lying on the leather couch so much like a dental chair the smell of leather had a clinical effect on the memories she extracted as the sense of smell alerted me to smells from the past Light fell on the couches black leather in shiny checks from the window light as the warm rays that read my mind with their heat signatures fell on us they made the plant on the coffee table with its lush green leaves burble to me happily in a language I could not understand Like pulling teeth she grasped each memory examined it through her glasses leaning forward she tapped each one with her pen looking for rottenness tore it painfully from its protective flesh Her mobile phone sat on the coffee table Dismantled at my request slim orange and black a Sonny Ericsson 880i it had its spying guts removed That is its battery lay at its side so that the secret services or who ever they were could not pick up through its microphone my conversation with my psychiatrist My psychiatrist sat in a swiveling chair I looked down at her red shoes the sharp heels pointing from one side and then the other as she turned the chair from side to side with her long legs occasionally

Disenchanted Albert the Great David J. Collins, S. J., 2024-07-15 Albert the Great 1200-1280 was a prominent Dominican friar a leading philosopher and the teacher of Thomas Aquinas He also endorsed the use of magic Controversial though that stance would have been Albert was never punished or repudiated for what he wrote Albert's reception followed instead a markedly different course leading ultimately to his canonization by the Catholic Church in 1931 But his thoughts about magic have been debated for centuries Disenchanted Albert the Great takes Albert's contested reputation as a case study for the long and complex history surrounding the concept of magic and magic's relationship to science and religion. Over the centuries, Albert was celebrated for his magic or it was explained away, but he was never condemned. In the fifteenth century, members of learned circles first attempted to distance Albert from magic with the goal of exonerating him of superstition, irrationality, and immorality. Disenchanting Albert the Great discusses the philosopher's own understanding of magic, an early adulatory phase of his reputation as a magician, and the three primary strategies used to exonerate Albert over the centuries. In the end, Disenchanting Albert the Great tells the story of a thirteenth-century scholar who worked to disenchant the natural world with his ideas about magic but who himself would not be disenchanted until the modern era. This accessible and insightful history will appeal to those interested in Albert the Great, Catholic Church history, the history of magic, and Western understandings of the natural and the rational over time.

Sorcery or Science? Ariela Marcus-Sells, 2022-03-08. Sorcery or Science examines how two Sufi Muslim theologians who rose to prominence in the western Sahara Desert in the late eighteenth century, Sidi al-Mukhtar al-Kuntî (1811) and his son and successor Sidi Muhammad al-Kuntî (1826), decisively influenced the development of Sufi Muslim thought in West Africa. Known as the Kunta scholars, Mukhtar al-Kuntî and Muhammad al-Kuntî were influential teachers who developed a pedagogical network of students across the Sahara. In exploring their understanding of the realm of the unseen, a vast invisible world that is both surrounded and interpenetrated by the visible world, Ariela Marcus-Sells reveals how these theologians developed a set of practices that depended on knowledge of this unseen world and that allowed practitioners to manipulate the visible and invisible realms. They called these practices the sciences of the unseen. While they acknowledged that some Muslims, particularly self-identified white Muslim elites, might consider these practices to be sorcery, the Kunta scholars argued that these were legitimate Islamic practices. Marcus-Sells situates their ideas and beliefs within the historical and cultural context of the Sahara Desert, surveying the cosmology and metaphysics of the realm of the unseen and the history of magical discourses within the Hellenistic and Arabo-Islamic worlds. Erudite and innovative, this volume connects the Islamic sciences of the unseen with the reception of Hellenistic discourses of magic and proposes a new methodology for reading written devotional aids in historical context. It will be welcomed by scholars of magic and specialists in African religious studies, Islamic occultism, and Islamic manuscript culture.
