specialists in eight centuries of law scholars and advocates committed to the rule of law and to the place of religion in public life all come together in this testimony to Magna Carta's iconic power. We follow the Charter's story in the religious life of the UK, America and now Continental Europe and reflections on religious legal traditions far from the Common Law enrich the story. Magna Carta Religion and the Rule of Law invites all religions to ask what contribution they themselves should make to the rule of law in today's secular democratic polities.

Gothic Romanticism T. Duggett, 2010-05-24 Gothic Romanticism winner of the 2010 MLA Prize for Independent Scholars is a study of the relationship between British Romanticism and the Gothic Revival. Reading a wide range of canonical and rare texts and spanning the Romantic discourses of architecture, politics and literary form, the book recovers the collaborative project of Wordsworth, Coleridge and Southey for a purified Gothic poetry and a second Gothic culture.

Affect and Belonging in Political Uses of the Past David Farrell-Banks, 2022-09-29 Affect and Belonging in Political Uses of the Past examines key political events of the past decade to analyse the relationship between the representation of certain pasts in official heritage settings and the use of the same pasts in political discourse. Drawing on data gathered from museums, heritage sites, news articles, political speeches, manifestos and through digital media such as Twitter, Farrell Banks demonstrates how a connection with a shared past can move people emotionally and give them the confidence to engage in political action. The book considers how heritage and the past moves in time and space, examining how it shapes political beliefs and action in the present. The work is a timely intervention calling attention to the political responsibilities that come with heritage work when these same languages of heritage are adopted to promote a politics of division. Introducing the concept of the moving moment, a framework by which to research and understand uses of the past, the book demonstrates how the past becomes a potent political tool. Combining critical heritage studies, critical discourse, memory studies and political theory, the book demonstrates new approaches to interdisciplinary studies within heritage. Affect and Belonging in Political Uses of the Past will thus be essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of heritage, memory, politics, history and media.

life of the nation and are more visited today than ever as places which represent England's religious creed heritage and the skills of their builders Eight hundred years later came the Victorians who pioneered the Industrial Revolution and created railways Like their Norman predecessors they built to last and the railway system bequeathed to later generations has endured in much the same form as when originally constructed There is little sign that railways will be displaced by other modes of transport anyway in the foreseeable future Combining a study of thirty three English cathedrals and the railway systems which allow them to be reached the author seeks to celebrate these two magnificent institutions In the process he hopes to encourage others to travel the same journeys as he himself has undertaken As seen in The Church Times and Worcester News
