Merchant Communities in Asia, 1600-1980 Madeleine Zelin, 2015-10-06 This book is the first to use local primary sources to explore the interaction between foreign and native merchants in Asian countries Contributors discuss the different economic political and cultural conditions that gave rise to a variety of merchant communities in Korea China Japan Taiwan the Philippines Singapore and India

History and Collective Memory in South Asia, 1200-2000 Sumit Guha, 2019-11-04 In this far ranging and erudite exploration of the South Asian past Sumit Guha discusses the shaping of social and historical memory in world historical context He presents memory as the result of both remembering and forgetting and of the preservation recovery and decay of records By describing how these processes work through sociopolitical organizations Guha delineates the historiographic legacy acquired by the British in colonial India the creation of the centralized educational system and mass production of textbooks that led to unification of historical discourses under colonial auspices and the divergence of these discourses in the twentieth century under the impact of nationalism and decolonization Guha brings together sources from a range of languages and regions to provide the first intellectual history of the ways in which socially recognized historical memory has been made across the subcontinent This thoughtful study contributes to debates beyond the field of history that complicate the understanding of objectivity and documentation in a seemingly post truth world

From India to Israel Joseph Hodes, 2014-04-01 Between May 1948 and December 1951 Israel received approximately 684 000 immigrants from across the globe The arrival of so many ethnic linguistic and cultural groups to such a small place in such a short time was unprecedented and the new country was ill prepared to absorb its new citizens The first years of the state were marked by war agricultural failure a housing crisis health epidemics a terrible culture clash and a struggle between the religious authorities and the secular government over who was going to control the state In From India to Israel Joseph Hodes examines Israel s first decades through the perspective of an Indian Jewish community the Bene Israel who would go on to play an important role in the creation of the state He describes how a community of relatively high status and free from persecution under the British Raj left the recently independent India for fear of losing status only to encounter bias and prejudice in their new country In 1960 a decision made by the religious authorities to ban the Bene Israel from marrying other Jews on the grounds that they were not pure Jews set in motion a civil rights struggle between the Indian community and the religious authority with far reaching implications After a drawn out struggle and under pressure from both the government and the people the Bene Israel were declared acceptable for marriage A detailed look at how one immigrant community fought to maintain their place within a religion and a society From India to Israel raises important questions about the state of Israel and its earliest struggles to absorb the diversity in its midst

Images of Women in Maharashtrian Society Anne Feldhaus, 1998-01-29 This volume a companion to Images of Women in Maharashtrian Literature and Religion SUNY Press 1996 approaches more closely the realities of women s lives Using historical documents from the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and photographs interviews and conversations from the twentieth the book constructs images of the conditions of women's lives in the modern state and traditional region of Maharashtra over the past three hundred years. The authors search for the ideas, understandings and judgments that have shaped those conditions for the conscious and unconscious images that have made women's lives what they have been. The contributors examine ways femininity and the power status and potential of women have been viewed, actual women emphasizing ideas about women. Understanding ideas of this kind is a necessary first step toward understanding and perhaps eventually affecting the actualities of women's lives. This book is divided into three parts. Part I is based on documentary sources from the eighteenth century. Part II explores the subjects and terms of the conservatism versus reform debate in Maharashtra and thus complements recent studies on images of women in Bengal and other parts of North India during the colonial period. Part III, which presents contemporary images of women in Maharashtra, includes an examination of village women's work, a photo essay, an oral life history, and a bibliographical essay.

Medieval Indian Mindscapes Eugenia Vanina, 2012. Medieval Indian Mindscapes: Space, Time, Society. Man centres on how Indians in pre-colonial times perceived their world. It compares the specific features of their mental programmes with that of their counterparts in other pre-modern societies. While analysing the importance of space in the medieval world view, the book discusses how medieval Indians comprehended their territories and the landscape as their own vis-à-vis the alien space, the development of territorial, cultural and territorial political identities and knowledge about other lands and peoples. In a discussion of medieval temporality, the book also studies the ways of perceiving and reckoning time, attitudes to the historical past and the manifold ways of recording it. A special chapter on Society deals with socio-ethical values and behavioural stereotypes of major estate and caste groups like the feudal landlords, priests and officials, merchants and craftsmen, peasants and the lower castes in villages. The book also has a chapter on the medieval Indian perception of Man, his appearance and peculiarities as they pertained to the behaviour, social status and the steady development of individuality. Medieval Indian Mindscapes will be of interest to medievalists as well as general readers keen to know more about the dynamics of pre-modern history and culture.

The State and Society in Medieval India J. S. Grewal, 2005. This is also a truly pan-Indian volume on medieval Indian history as it looks at state forms and social organizations among the Cholas, the Delhi Sultans, the Sultans of Bengal, Himachal, Kumaon and Garhwal, medieval Rajasthan, the Vijayanagar State, Kerala, the Mughal Empire, Maharashtra and the Punjab. The contributors include eminent medievalists.

Islamic Society and Culture Milton Israel, Narendra K. Wagle, 1983. Collection of articles honoring Aziz Ahmad, 1913-1978, historian of Muslim life and culture.
