Muslim Schools, Communities and Critical Race Theory Damian Breen, 2017-10-18 This book explores the position of Muslim schools in contemporary Britain A Critical Race Theory approach is used to consider some of the specific issues faced by Muslim schools in particular those looking to become state funded The book provides a critically considered and meaningful application of a theory of race to Muslims as a religious community without restricting the analysis to minority ethnic Muslim groups it also provides a counter narrative which contests assumptions about Muslim schools presented in the media and in public debates more generally These insights are positioned against current political climates within which Muslims have been consistently subjected to surveillance and suspicion The book draws on first hand research carried out inside Muslim schools to offer insights into the ways that these schools cater to diverse and locally specific needs It concludes by arguing that independent Islamic schools represent ideal models of community need Therefore bringing such schools into the state sector in a way that allows them to retain autonomy represents an ideal strategy for the educational and political enfranchisement of British Muslims Muslim schooling represents an opportunity for increased state investment in Muslim interests as a strategy for offsetting the ways in which Muslim communities have been marginalised more generally in contemporary political climates The book will make compelling reading for students and researchers in the fields of Education Sociology and Religious Studies particularly those with an interest in faith schools Islam and Critical Race Theory Islamic Teachings and Social Structure Muḥammad Sultan Shah,Ayesha Farooq,2022-02-06 This book corrects the long standing misconceptions of the masses about the religious beliefs of Islam and challenges the core social perceptions and deviations from its religious guidelines It offers the reader an opportunity to learn about the various social dimensions and Islamic views in the light of the Quran and Sunnah The book will appeal to a diverse readership and rarely uses terminology which is specific to a certain subject Where such terms are used and inevitable these are properly defined and explained in the given context Islamic Schools in France Carine Bourget,2019-01-29 This book the first on the growing phenomenon of private full time K 12 Muslim schools in France investigates whether these schools participate in the communautarisme or ethnic cultural separatism that Muslims are often accused of or if their founding is a sign of integration given that most of private education in France is subsidized by the government Is Islam compatible with the West This study proposes an answer to this question through the lens of Muslim education in France adding to our understanding of the so called resurgence of religion following the demise of the secularization theory and shedding new light on religion s place in the West and of Islam in diasporic contexts
