Crystal Land Julia Bader, 2023-04-28 Crystal Land Artifice in Nabokov's English Novels is an in depth exploration of Vladimir Nabokov's use of artistry and the theme of art across his English language novels. The book investigates how Nabokov crafts intricate worlds where fiction mirrors the creative process itself. From playful word games and literary allusions to themes of obsession, identity, and mortality, Nabokov's works challenge readers to embrace the artificiality of art as a profound avenue for understanding consciousness and the human condition. This study emphasizes how his narratives blur the boundaries between reality and illusion, underscoring the transformative power of imagination. Through detailed analyses of works like Lolita, Pale Fire, and Invitation of a Small Evening, the book uncovers the recurring motifs and complex structures that define Nabokov's literary style. Each novel is presented as a unique network of symbols reflective of the artist's craft and consciousness. By examining the intersections of humor, self-reflection, and narrative manipulation, Crystal Land offers readers a deeper appreciation of Nabokov's artful storytelling and its capacity to reshape perceptions of reality and creativity. Lucretius Carus, Of the Nature of Things Titus Lucretius Carus, 1715      T. Lucretius Carus, Titus Lucretius Carus, Thomas Creech, 1714      Laura Barbara L. Estrin, 1994-12-15 How do men imagine women? In the poetry of Petrarch and his English successors Wyatt, Donne, and Marvell, the male poet persistently imagines pursuing a woman, Laura, whom he pursues even as she continues to deny his affections. Critics have long held that in objectifying Laura, these male-authored texts deny the imaginative, intellectual, and physical life of the woman they idealize. In Laura, Barbara L. Estrin counters this traditional view by focusing not on the generative powers of the male poet but on the subjectivity of the imagined woman and the imaginative space of the poems she occupies. Through close readings of the Rime sparse and the works of Wyatt, Donne, and Marvell, Estrin uncovers three Lauras: Laura Daphne, who denies sexuality; Laura Eve, who returns the poet's love; and Laura Mercury, who reinvents her own life. Estrin claims that in these three guises, Laura subverts both genre and gender, thereby introducing multiple desires into the many layers of the poems. Drawing upon genre and gender theories advanced by Jean-François Lyotard and Judith Butler to situate female desire in the poem's framework, Estrin shows how genre and gender in the Petrarchan tradition work together to undermine the stability of these very concepts. Estrin's Laura constitutes a fundamental reconceptualization of the Petrarchan tradition and contributes greatly to the postmodern reassessment of the Renaissance period. In its descriptions of how early modern poets formulate questions about sexuality society and poetry Laura will appeal to scholars of the English and Italian Renaissance of gender studies and of literary criticism and theory generally T.
