Other Lover:

The Other Lover Bruce Smith, 2000-04-03 The Other Lover is a collection of bittersweet American love poems Writing with jazz like verbal panache Bruce Smith reaches for the paradoxical pulls between sweetness and bitterness With carefully crafted rhyming stanzas and unpredictable free verse rhythms these poems bristle and pop like the riffs of a virtuoso horn player The book is a personal passionate disturbing collection that places the reader both inside and outside of the poet's life Deftly filtering personal experiences through improvisatory structures and a wide range of idioms Smith communicates the want the lack the desire for what is missing the sweetness of absence and pain The pleasure of The Other Lover is in the imagination's dance in the erotic spaces between the poet and the reader

The Woman Who Pretended to Be Who She Was Wendy Doniger, 2005 Many cultures have myths about self-imitation stories about people who pretend to be someone else pretending to be them in effect masquerading as themselves This great theme in literature and in life tells us that people put on masks to discover who they really are under the masks they usually wear so that the mask reveals rather than conceals the self beneath the self In this book noted scholar of Hinduism and mythology Wendy Doniger offers a cross cultural exploration of the theme of self-impersonation whose widespread occurrence argues for both its literary power and its human value The stories she considers range from ancient Indian literature through medieval European courtly literature and Shakespeare to Hollywood and Bollywood They illuminate a basic human way of negotiating reality illusion identity and authenticity not to mention memory amnesia and the process of aging Many of them involve marriage and adultery for tales of sexual betrayal cut to the heart of the crisis of identity These stories are extreme examples of what we common folk do unconsciously every day Few of us actually put on masks that replicate our faces but it is not uncommon for us to become travesties of ourselves particularly as we age and change We often slip carelessly across the permeable boundary between the unself-conscious self-indulgence of our most idiosyncratic mannerisms and the conscious attempt to give the people who know us personally or publicly the version of ourselves that they expect Myths of self imitation open up for us the possibility of multiple selves and the infinite regress of self discovery Drawing on a dizzying array of tales some fact some fiction The Woman Who Pretended to Be Who She Was is a fascinating and learned trip through centuries of culture guided by a scholar of incomparable wit and erudition Myth and Reality in Irish Literature Joseph Ronsley,1977-09 Myth and Reality in Irish Literature offers a rich collection of essays covering a wide spectrum of Irish literature from the early medieval saints and scholars to twentieth century writers such as Joyce and Beckett Lady Gregory Synge Yeats O Casey and Myles na Gopaleen are among the poets playwrights critics and authors treated in the book The essays are written from both a personal and a scholarly perspective Contributors to the volume include the Irish authors Denis Johnston Thomas Kilroy Kate O'Brien and Thomas Kinsella and scholars David Greene Denis Donoghue Ann Saddlemyer and Shotaro Oshima Of interest to students of English Literature as well as observers of the Irish scene this book is of particular value to students of Irish heritage and literature Liturgy and Life Study Bible Paul Turner,John W. Believer Perspective Oqla,2024-05-04 Believer Perspective is a philosophical dialogue that explores the nature of God existence creation and the human soul through a conversation between two characters Wafa a skeptic with deep existential doubts and Safa a believer offering a metaphysical interpretation of spiritual concepts The book begins with Wafa's rejection of both religion and atheism feeling intellectually unsatisfied by traditional answers Safa responds not with dogma but with a symbolic and abstract narrative that reframes creation as the activation of a neutral non-existent slave entity by God's eternal word The story unfolds a unique cosmology God is infinite simple and beyond attributes while creation begins not by crafting matter but by awakening potential through divine command The narrative introduces concepts like the spirit consciousness and emotion as emergent phenomena shaped by dual forces God's word and a contrasting natural inertia or memory These elements evolve into a system of internal revelation where the soul learns through emotional cycles and
