Ottoman Art In The Service Of Empire:

Ottoman Art in the Service of Empire Zdzislaw Zygmunt, 1992 This book provides a rare and authoritative glimpse at the splendid decorative military art of the Ottomans and art that is both insufficiently known and insufficiently appreciated Professor Zygmunt describes in detail masterpieces from collections around the world including the Topkapi Saray Museum in Istanbul the National Museum In Cracow the Freer Gallery of Art in Washington D C the Nationalbibliothek in Vienna and elsewhere Ottoman Art in the Service of the Empire Zdzisław Żygulski, 2017 The Historiography of Islamic Egypt Hugh N. Kennedy, 2001-01-01 This collection of essays discusses the rich and varied tradition of history writing in mediaeval and early modern Egypt providing new insights into the works and the lives and outlooks of their authors "Turquerie and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876" Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05 In this first full length study devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected images designs and constructions and links Western interest in the Ottoman Empire to notions of self representation and national politics In investigating why and to what effect Europeans turned to the Turk for inspiration Avcioglu provides a far reaching cultural reinterpretation of art and architecture in this period Presented as a series of case studies focusing on three specific building types kiosks mosques and baths chosen on the basis that each represents the first full fledged manifestations of their respective genres to be constructed in Western Europe the study delves into the cultural politics of architectural forms and styles The author argues that the appropriation of those building types was neither accidental nor did it merely reflect European domination of another culture The process was essentially dialectical and contributed to transculturation in both the West and the East The Caliph and the Imam Toby Matthiesen, 2023 The authoritative account of the sectarian division that for centuries has shaped events in the Middle East and the Islamic world In 632 soon after the prophet Muhammad died a struggle broke out among his followers as to who would succeed him The majority argued that the new leader of Islam should be elected by the community s elite Others believed only members of Muhammad s family could lead This dispute over who should guide Muslims the appointed Caliph or the bloodline Imam marks the origin of the Sunni Shii split in Islam Toby Matthiesen explores this hugely significant division from its origins to the present day Moving chronologically his book sheds light on the many ways that it has shaped the Islamic world outlining how over the centuries Sunnism and Shiism became Islams two main branches particularly after the Muslim Empires embraced sectarian identity It reveals how colonial rule institutionalised divisions between Sunnism and Shiism both on the Indian subcontinent and in the greater Middle East giving rise to pan Islamic resistance and Sunni and Shii revivalism It then focuses on the fall out from the 1979 revolution in Iran and the US led military intervention in Iraq As

Matthiesen shows however though Sunnism and Shiism have had a long and antagonistic history most Muslims have led lives characterised by confessional ambiguity and peaceful co existence Tensions arise when sectarian identity becomes linked to politics Based on a synthesis of decades of scholarship in numerous languages The Caliph and the Imam will become the standard text for readers looking for a deeper understanding of contemporary sectarian conflict and its historical roots

Islamic Arms and Armor in The Metropolitan Museum of Art David G. Alexander, 2015-12-31 Armor and weaponry were central to Islamic culture not only as a means of conquest and the spread of the faith but also as symbols of status wealth and power The finest arms were made by master craftsmen working with the leading designers goldsmiths and jewelers whose work transformed utilitarian military equipment into courtly works of art This book reveals the diversity and artistic quality of one of the most important and encyclopedic collections of its kind in the West The Metropolitan Museum's holdings span ten centuries and include representative pieces from almost every Islamic culture from Spain to the Caucasus The collection includes rare early works among them the oldest documented Islamic sword and is rich in helmets and body armor decorated with calligraphy and arabesques that were worn in Iran and Anatolia in the late fifteenth century Other masterpieces include a jeweled short sword yatagan with a blade of watered steel that comes from the court of Sleyman the Magnificent a seventeenth century gold inlaid armor associated with Shah Jahan and two gold inlaid flintlock firearms belonging to the guard of Tipu Sultan of Mysore Presenting 126 objects each handsomely photographed and richly documented with a detailed description and discussion of its technical historical and artistic importance this overview of the Met's holdings is supplemented by an introductory essay on the formation of the collection and appendixes on iconography and on Turkman style armor

Mapping the Ottomans Palmira Brummett, 2015-05-19 Simple paradigms of Muslim Christian confrontation and the rise of Europe in the seventeenth century do not suffice to explain the ways in which European mapping envisioned the Turks in image and narrative Rather maps travel accounts compendia of knowledge and other texts created a picture of the Ottoman Empire through a complex layering of history ethnography and eyewitness testimony which juxtaposed current events to classical and biblical history counted space in terms of peoples routes and fortresses and used the land and seascapes of the map to assert ownership declare victory and embody imperial power's reach Enriched throughout by examples of Ottoman self mapping this book examines how Ottomans and their empire were mapped in the narrative and visual imagination of early modern Europe's Christian kingdoms The maps serve as centerpieces for discussions of early modern space time borders stages of travel information flows invocations of authority and cross cultural relations

'Turquerie' and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876 Nebahat Avcioglu, 2011 Devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in this study Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected constructions and links them to notions of self representation and politics

Islamic Art in the Metropolitan Museum Linda Komaroff,1992      The Religions of the Book M. Dimmock,A. Hadfield,2008-04-03 This is the first study to explore the relationship between Christianity Judaism and Islam in the Early Modern period Contributors debate the complicated terms in which these Religions of the Book interacted The collection illuminates this area of European culture from the late Middle Ages to the end of the Seventeenth century      The Islamic Manuscript Tradition Christiane J. Gruber,2010 The rich and varied traditions of Islamic book art      Wrongful Enrichment Nahel Asfour,2017-09-21 This book analyses enrichment law and its development and underpinning in social culture within three geographical regions the United States western members of the European Union and the late Ottoman Empire These regions correspond though imperfectly with three different legal traditions the American continental and Islamic traditions The book argues that we should understand law as a mimetic artefact In so doing it explains how typical patterns and exemplary articulations of wrongful enrichment law capture and reiterate vocal cultural themes found in the respective regions The book identifies remarkable affinities between poetic tendencies structures and default dispositions of wrongful enrichment law and cultural world views It offers bold accounts of each region s law and culture providing fertile grounds for external and comparative elucidations of the legal doctrine      The Turks in World History Carter V. Findley,2005 Who are the Turks This study spans Central Asia the Middle East the Indian subcontinent Europe to explain the origins the history of the Turkish people up until the present day      Ceremonial Synagogue Textiles Bracha Yaniv,2019-03-14 A richly illustrated and documented survey of the evolution of synagogue textiles spanning fifteen centuries offering a detailed analysis of the design and production of mantles wrappers Torah scroll binders and the Torah ark curtain and valance including the text of inscriptions marking the circumstances of donation      The Cambridge History of Egypt M. W. Daly,Carl F. Petry,1998-12-10 The Cambridge History of Egypt offers the first comprehensive English language treatment of Egyptian history through thirteen centuries from the Arab conquest to the present day The two volume survey considers the political socio economic and cultural history of the world s oldest state summarizing the debates and providing insight into current controversies As today s Egypt reclaims a leading role in the Islamic Arab and Afro Asian worlds the project stands as testimony to its complex and vibrant past Volume 2 traces Egypt s modern history from the Ottoman conquest to the end of the twentieth century A wide range of scholars from the humanities and social sciences have been brought together to explore the history of the period Their conclusions reflect the work of traditional scholarship and also indicate present trends and future directions in historical writing in Egypt      The Enemy at the Gate Andrew Wheatcroft,2009-04-28 In 1683 an Ottoman army that stretched from horizon to horizon set out to seize the Golden Apple as Turks referred to Vienna The ensuing siege pitted battle hardened Janissaries wielding seventeenth century grenades against Habsburg armies widely feared for their savagery The walls of Vienna bristled with guns as the besieging Ottoman host launched bombs fired cannons and showered the populace with arrows during the battle for Christianity's bulwark. Each side was sustained by the hatred of its age-old enemy, certain that victory would be won by the grace of God. The Great Siege of Vienna is the centerpiece for historian Andrew Wheatcroft's richly drawn portrait of the centuries-long rivalry between the Ottoman and Habsburg empires for control of the European continent. A gripping work by a master historian, The Enemy at the Gate offers a timely examination of an epic clash of civilizations.

The Waning of the Mediterranean, 1550-1870 Faruk Tabak, 2008-02-06

Conventional scholarship on the Mediterranean portrays the Inner Sea as a timeless entity with unchanging ecological and agrarian features. But Faruk Tabak argues some of the traditional and olden characteristics that we attribute to it today are actually products of relatively recent developments. Locating the shifting fortunes of Mediterranean city states and empires in patterns of long-term economic and ecological change, this study shows how the quintessential properties of the basin—the trinity of cereals, tree crops, and small livestock—were reestablished as the Mediterranean's importance in global commerce, agriculture, and politics waned. Tabak narrates this history not from the vantage point of colossal empires but from that of the mercantile republics that played a pivotal role as empire-building city states. His unique juxtaposition of analyses of world economic developments that flowed from the decline of these city states and the ecological change associated with the Little Ice Age depicts large-scale long-term social change. Integrating the story of the western and eastern Mediterranean from Genoa and the Habsburg empire to Venice and the Ottoman and Byzantine empires, Tabak unveils the complex process of devolution and regeneration that brought about the eclipse of the Mediterranean.

Empire of the Sultans Nasser D. Khalili Collection of Islamic Art, J. M. Rogers, 2000

Enlightening Europe on Islam and the Ottomans Carter Vaughn Findley, 2019-02-04

Mouradgea d'Ohsson's Tableau général de l'Empire ottoman offered the Enlightenment Republic of Letters its most authoritative work on Islam and the Ottomans; also a practical reference work for kings and statesmen, profusely illustrated and opening deep insights into illustrated book production in this period, this is also the richest collection of visual documentation on the Ottomans in a hundred years. Shaped by the author's personal struggles, the work yet commands recognition in its own totality as a monument to intercultural understanding. In form, one of the great taxonomic works of Enlightenment thought, this is a work of advocacy in the cause of reform and amity among France, Sweden, and the Ottoman Empire.
