Public Money Private Lives Aotearoa Television The Inside Story:

Maori Television Jo Smith, 2016-11-21 Established in 2004 Maori Television has had a major impact on the New Zealand broadcasting landscape But over the past year or so the politics of Maori Television have been brought to the foreground of public consciousness with other media outlets tracking Maori Television's search for a new CEO allegations of editorial intervention and arguments over news reporting approaches to Te Kohanga Reo National Trust Based on a Marsden Grant and three years of interviews with key stakeholders staff the Board other media politicians funders and viewers this is a deep account of Maori Television in its first ten years Jo Smith argues that today's arguments must be understood within a broader context shaped by non Maori interests Can a Maori broadcaster follow both tikanga and the Broadcasting Standards Authority Is it simply telling the news in Maori or broadcasting the news with a Maori perspective How can it support te reo Maori at the same time as appeal to all New Zealand How does it function as the voice of its Maori stakeholders Offering five frameworks to address the challenges of a Maori organisation working within a wider non Maori context this is a solidly researched examination of Maori Television's unique contribution to the media cultures of Aotearoa New Zealand

The State of Maori Rights Margaret Mutu, 2011-02-01 The State of Maori Rights brings together a set of articles written between 1994 and 2009 It places on record the Maori view of events and issues that took place over these years issues that have been more typically reported to the general public from a mainstream media perspective It is an important documentation of these fifteen years of New Zealand history recording the assertion of Maori rights as the indigenous people of Aotearoa New Zealand focusing on Maori issues and experiences and written from a Maori perspective The reviews demonstrate the ongoing settling of grievances against the Crown for breaches of the Treaty of Waitangi the solutions Maori have advocated and the benefits to the country when Maori advice on these matters is followed Key issues include the 1994 fiscal envelope the 50 000 strong protest march against foreshore and seabed Pakeha media attacks on Maori MPs and Maori initiatives Maori success stories are also acknowledged such as Michael Campbell Robert Hewitt Willie Apiata and films such as Whale Rider

Public Money, Private Lives Derek Burns, 1997-01-01 An investigation of the Aotearoa Television controversy The involvement of politicians the media and the Serious Fraud Office in the Maori television pilot led to the raising of many questions The author answers many of them he was involved with the running of the company

Popular Music Industries and the State Shane Homan, Martin Cloonan, Jennifer Cattermole, 2015-10-16 This volume studies the relationships between government and the popular music industries comparing three Anglophone nations Scotland New Zealand and Australia At a time when issues of globalization and locality are seldom out of the news musicians fans governments and industries are forced to reconsider older certainties about popular music activity and their roles in production and consumption circuits The decline of multinational recording companies and the accompanying rise of promotion firms such as Live Nation exemplifies global shifts in infrastructure profits and power Popular music provides a focus for many of these topics and popular music policy a lens through which to view them The book has four central themes the changing role of states and industries in popular music activity assessment of the central challenges facing smaller nations competing within larger global music media markets comparative analysis of music policies and debates between nations and also between organizations and popular music sectors analysis of where and why the state intervenes in popular music activity and how and whether music fits within the turn to culture in policy making over the last twenty years Where appropriate brief nation specific case studies are highlighted as a means of illuminating broader global debates The
