C. Lynn Carr,2016-01-19 In the Afro Cuban Lukumi religious tradition more commonly known in the United States as Santería entrants into the priesthood undergo an extraordinary fifty three week initiation period During this time these novices called iyawo endure a host of prohibitions including most notably wearing exclusively white clothing In A Year in White sociologist C Lynn Carr who underwent this initiation herself opens a window on this remarkable year long religious transformation In her intimate investigation of the year in white Carr draws on fifty two in depth interviews with other participants an online survey of nearly two hundred others and almost a decade of her own ethnographic fieldwork gathering stories that allow us to see how cultural newcomers and natives thought felt and acted with regard to their initiation She documents how during the iyawo year the ritual slowly transforms the initiate's identity For the first three months for instance the iyawo may not use a mirror even to shave and must eat all meals while seated on a mat on the floor using only a spoon and their own set of dishes During the entire year the iyawo loses their name and is simply addressed as iyawo by family and friends Carr also shows that this year long religious ritual which is carried out even as the iyawo goes about daily life offers new insight into religion in general suggesting that the sacred is not separable from the profane and indeed that religion shares an ongoing dynamic relationship with the realities of everyday life Religious expression happens at home on the streets at work and school Offering insight not only into Santería but also into religion more generally A Year in White makes an important contribution to our understanding of complex dynamic religious landscapes in multicultural pluralist societies and how they inhabit our daily lives      *A Catalogue of an Extensive and Valuable Collection of Books; Containing Many Recent Purchases of Rare and Valuable Articles: ... Vodou Love Magic does not provide a magic genie who will fulfill every wish but it does offer access to a team of spirits who can help transform dreams into realities      Mesa Blanca: Whispering Altar Florencio Guevara, 2022-02-08 Today's Hispanic generation does not always handle the Spanish language as its vernacular. Many a time major confusion occurs within Hispanic families because of the lack of bilingual skills. In the spiritist community this language barrier has all too often caused potential mediums to either continue being handicapped in their development or choose another path that may lead to spiritual pitfalls. Additionally, the English speaking community is fertile ground for new mediums from this cultural group. Many of the alleged translations of prayer books, particularly those of Allan Kardec, are a sham. You cannot translate them literally word for word. It must be translated in context of the cultural idea being presented. In this, whoever attempted the translations has slapped the public in the face with a horrid nonsensical excuse for print. At some time there will have to be a concerted effort to translate these works officially on paper. Up to now it is done word of mouth which leaves a lot to be desired when attending a misa since words evolve in definition over the centuries as well as from one path in life to another. The word cave is a case in point. For mediums the word originates as boveda. BO vay dah. The boveda consists of a grouping of glass goblets representing the spiritual quadrant of each medium. Boveda can also mean hidden treasure box. Indeed, this spiritual cave is a sanctuary from which our entities whisper their messages to us      The Soap Opera Piero Heliczer, 1967
