Yishai Tobin,1994-12-15 This volume provides a new kind of contrastive analysis of two unrelated languages English and Hebrew based on the semiotic concepts of invariance markedness and distinctive feature theory It concentrates on linguistic forms and constructions which are remarkably different in each language despite the fact that they share the same familiar classifications and labels Tobin demonstrates how and why traditional and modern syntactic categories such as grammatical number verb tense aspect mood and voice conditionals and interrogatives etc are not equivalent across languages It is argued that these so called universal concepts function differently in each language system because they belong to distinct language specific semantic domains which are marked by different sets of semantic features The data used in this volume have been taken from a wide range of both spoken and written discourse and texts reflecting people s actual use of language presented in their relevant linguistic and situational contexts      Israelis in Conflict Adriana Kemp,Uri Ram,David

just one symptom of a profound process of religionization or de secularization that Israeli society has been going through since the turn of the twenty first century This book analyzes and explains for the first time the reasons for the religionization of Israeli society a process known in Hebrew as hadata Jewish religion inseparable from Jewish nationality was embedded in Zionism from its inception in the nineteenth century but was subdued to a certain extent in favor of the national aspect in the interest of building a modern nation state Hadata has its origins in the 1967 war has been accelerating since 2000 and is manifested in a number of key social fields the military the educational system the media of mass communications the teshuvah movement the movement for Jewish renewal and religious feminism A major chapter of the book is devoted to the religionization of the visual fine arts field a topic that has been largely neglected by previous researchers Through careful examination of religionization this book sheds light on a major development in Israeli society which will additionally inform our understanding of the Israeli Palestinian conflict As such it is a key resource for students and scholars of Israel Studies and those interested in the relations between religion culture politics and nationalism secularization and new social movements

Jewish Serials of the World Robert Singerman, 2000-11-30 Jewish journalism history is a growing field of active research as evidenced by the growing number of new serials devoted to it Given the geographic extent of the Jewish diaspora the Jewish press offers valuable primary source materials for any historical study of the Jewish people The social and intellectual history of the Jews in modern times can similarly be advanced by an examination of the Jewish press of the world This volume the first supplement to Jewish Serials of the World A Research Bibliography continues and extends the bibliographic coverage to

Philosophy and Geography III Andrew Light,Jonathan M. Smith,1998 Places are today subject to contrary tendencies They lose some functions which may scale up to fewer more centralized places or down to numerous more dispersed places and they gain other functions which are scaling up and down from other places This prompts premature prophecies of the abolition of space and the obsolescence of place At the same time a growing literature testifies to the persistence of place as an incorrigible aspect of human experience identity and morality Place is a common ground for thought and action a community of experienced particulars that avoids solipsism and universalism It draws us into the philosophy of the ordinary into familiarity as a form of knowledge into the wisdom of proximity Each of these essays offers a philosophy of place and reminds us that such philosophies ultimately decide how we make use and understand places whether as accidents instruments or fields of care

Ideology and Jewish Identity in Israeli and American Literature Emily Miller Budick,2012-02-01 By creating a dialogue between Israeli and American Jewish authors scholars and intellectuals this book examines how these two literatures which traditionally do not address one another directly nevertheless share some commonalities and affinities The disinclination of Israeli and American Jewish fictional narratives to gravitate toward one another tells us much about the processes of Jewish self definition as expressed in literary texts over the last fifty years Through essays by prominent Israeli Americanists American Hebraists Israeli critics of Hebrew writing and American specialists in the field of Jewish writing the book shows how modern Jewish culture rewrites the Jewish tradition across quite different ideological imperatives such as Zionist metanarrative the urge of Jewish immigrants to find Israel in America and socialism The contributors also explore how that narrative turn away from religious tradition to secular identity has both enriched and impoverished Jewish modernity
