Lucky The Navajo Singer:

Lucky, the Navajo Singer Dorothea Cross Leighton, 1992 Lucky the Navajo Singer was he thought forty years old when he dictated his life story in 1940 to doctors Alexander and Dorothea Leighton Lucky was orphaned twice before he was six or eight years old first when his mother died and again on the deaths of his mother's parents Lucky then spent several formative years with a Navajo elder who was raised in the traditional Navajo way a man whose wisdom was a resource for the small group of Navajos living in relative isolation southeast of the main Navajo Reservation As he relates his life story through his great friend and interpreter Bill Sage the mature Lucky emerges as a complex human being whose story presents invaluable insight into daily events both mundane and sacred at a Navajo community in the 1940s Griffen has rescued this autobiography in a tribute not only to Lucky but to the Leightons who in 1940 were fledgling psychiatrists at the beginning of their cross cultural research At long last the story of Lucky the Navajo Singer joins the all too few Native American life histories Taboo, 2006 Reclaiming Diné History Jennifer Nez Denetdale, 2015-09-01 In this groundbreaking book the first Navajo to earn a doctorate in history seeks to rewrite Navajo history Reared on the Navajo Nation in New Mexico and Arizona Jennifer Nez Denetdale is the great great great granddaughter of a well known Navajo chief Manuelito 1816 1894 and his nearly unknown wife Juanita 1845 1910 Stimulated in part by seeing photographs of these ancestors she began to explore her family history as a way of examining broader issues in Navajo historiography Here she presents a thought provoking examination of the construction of the history of the Navajo people Din in the Navajo language that underlines the dichotomy between Navajo and non Navajo perspectives on the Din past Reclaiming Din History has two primary objectives First Denetdale interrogates histories that privilege Manuelito and marginalize Juanita in order to demonstrate some of the ways that writing about the Din has been biased by non Navajo views of assimilation and gender Second she reveals how Navajo narratives including oral histories and stories kept by matrilineal clans serve as vehicles to convey Navajo beliefs and values By scrutinizing stories about Juanita she both underscores the centrality of women's roles in Navajo society and illustrates how oral tradition has been used to organize social units connect Navajos to the land and interpret the past She argues that these same stories read with an awareness of Navajo creation narratives reveal previously unrecognized Navajo perspectives on the past And she contends that a similarly culture sensitive re viewing of the Din can lead to the production of a Navajo centered history Healing Ways Wade Davies, 2001 Chronicles the advent of so called western or scientific medicine in the modern era and how Navajos adapted but did not compromise their traditional healings ways Navajo Blessingway Singer Frank Mitchell, 2003 This life history of a Navajo leader recorded in the 1960s and first published in 1977 is a classic work in the study of Navajo history and religious traditions A skillful meticulous and altogether praiseworthy contribution to Navajo studies Although the focus of Mitchell's autobiography is upon his role as a Blessingway singer there is much material here on Navajo history and culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Mitchell attended the government school at Fort Defiance worked on the railroad in Arizona served as a handyman and interpreter at several trading posts and the Franciscan missions and later served as a tribal councilman in the 1930s and as a judge in the 1940s and 1950s His observations on these experiences are relevant to our understanding of contemporary Navajo life Lawrence C Kelly Western Historical Quarterly This book stands easily among the best of the native autobiographies Narrated by a thoughtful and articulate Navajo leader over a span of eighteen years this life history is brought into English with none of the selective romanticizing that has spoiled some books It is a superb job of bringing one culture ever closer to another Barre Tolken Western Folklore

Taboo, 2006 Blood and Voice Maureen Trudelle Schwarz, 2016-12-15 Adulthood in the Navajo world is marked by the onset of menstruation in females and by the deepening of the voice in males Accordingly young adults must accept responsibility over the powers manifest in blood and voice for women the forces that control reproduction and growth for men the powers of protection and restoration of order that come through maintaining Navajo

oral tradition The maintenance of the latter tradition has long been held to be the function of the Navajo singer a role usually viewed as male But despite this longstanding assumption women can and do fill this role Drawing on interviews with seventeen Navajo women practitioners and five apprentices Maureen Trudelle Schwarz explicates women's role as ceremonial practitioners and shows that it is more complex than has previously been thought She examines gender differences dictated by the Navajo origin story details how women came to be practitioners and reveals their experiences and the strategies they use to negotiate being both woman and singer Women who choose careers as singers face complex challenges since some rules prohibit menstruating women from conducting ceremonies and others regarding sexual continence can strain marital relationships Additionally oral history places men in charge of all ceremonial matters Schwarz focuses on how the reproductive life courses of Navajo women influence their apprenticeships and practices to demonstrate how they navigate these issues to preserve time honored traditions Through the words of actual practitioners she shows how each woman brings her own unique life experience to the role While differing among individuals these experiences represent a commitment to shared cultural symbols and result in a consensus that sustains social cohesion By showing the differences and similarities between the apprenticeship initiation and practice of men and women singers Blood and Voice offers a better understanding of the role of Navajo women in a profession usually viewed as a male activity and of the symbolic construction of the self in Navajo culture It also addresses classic questions concerning the sexual division of labor menstrual taboos gender stereotypes and the tension between tradition and change that will enlighten students of other cultures

Chronicling Cultures Robert V. Translating

Indigenous Knowledges Ma Carmen África Vidal Claramonte, 2024-12-30 In this book Vidal presents a new way of translating indigenous epistemologies For centuries the Western world has ordained what knowledge is and what it should be and has also been responsible for transmitting that knowledge This universal knowledge has traveled to the four corners of the globe In recent decades there has been a steadily growing interest in dialogical epistemologies Disciplines ranging from historiography and philosophy to anthropology are calling for this universalist idea of knowledge to be modified Thanks to this change of perspective other forms of knowledge which until now have been ignored are gradually coming to light Indigenous knowledges are not constructed with the scientific binary static Cartesian or univocal logic characteristic of Western societies Non Western types of knowledge incorporate senses emotions body objects and matter It is impossible to reduce indigenous knowledges to Western conceptualizations The types of translation covered in this book assume that knowledge is not transmitted only in the Western way and that there are world views that take into account the emotions and body as well as the intellect This includes all types of beings human non human and extrahuman In the face of this plurality of epistemologies this book affirms that the static Western conceptual traditions characterized by a binary logic are not useful and that there is a need to translate outside the scope of these traditions The examples given in this book show that translation is not only a process involving Western and non Western languages Translation is not a mere substitution of one word for another because knowledge is not only transmitted through words It also involves non verbal elements Knowledge is transmitted through objects songs sensations and emotions as well as through words Moreover many non Western traditions do not translate with language systems but rather with other semiotic systems such as knots threads colors and bodies in movement This is a timely topical and transdisciplinary reading of interest to advanced students and researchers in translation studies anthropology and beyond Their Own Frontier Shirley A. Leckie, Nancy J. Parezo, 2008-07-01
